Castro Parrots Khrushchev Line

Expect Quick Seizure Of U.S. Holdings

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's new attacks on the United States seem to follow almost line by line the critical words of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The bearded Cuban Prime Minister went far back into history to open his blast Friday night, accusing the United States of having no justification of any sort for dropping atomic bombs on two Japanese cities in World War II.

"Humanity has never witnessed a worse massacre than those at Hiroshima and Nagasaki," said Castro in a TV broadcast, his eighth public address in the last 20 days.

Then he went on to echo Khrushchev's denunciation of the U2 spy plane, President Eisenhower's ill-fated plan for a visit to Japan, the fall of pro-American governments in South Korea and Turkey, and the assertion that the United States is governed today by a military oligarchy.

Persons who studied Castro's words carefully said his latest speech convinced them:

1. Castro will not wait for a reduction of Cuba's sugar quota to the United States to carry out his threat to seize U. S. property in Cuba. They expressed the belief he will make that move as soon as the U. S. Congress authorizes the President to reduce sugar quotas in "the national interest of the United States."

2. Personal pride, plus the problem of finding storage space for Soviet crude oil now flowing into Cuba, will force Castro to act—probably before the end of June—against the foreign oil companies who rejected his orders to process the Soviet oil.

3. That there is no apparent hope—short of American surrender to Castro and his Soviet-oriented program—of an improvement in relations between Cuba and the United States. Many sources here say a complete break in relations, only a slight possibility a month ago, is now a possibility.

In his threats to seize almost a billion dollars worth of American investments here, Castro ignored the fact that more than a third of those investments are already in the hands of his government.

Most of those seizures have been in farm lands and cattle ranches, including cattle and equipment, and in the take-over of the American - owned Cuban Telephone Co.

The Prime Minister confirmed that his brother Maj. Raul Castro, the armed forces minister, is leading a goodwill mission to Communist Czechoslovakia and the United Arab Republic.

CUBANS SEEK ENTRY TO U.S.

HAVANA (AP) — The backlog of Cuban applicants for tourist and residence visas to the United States has been increasing steadily during the past six months. Tourist applicants now must wait until at least January, 1961.

ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY

Harley J. Dugger, 23, Route 5, escaped serious injury early Saturday morning in a one-car accident, one mile east of Woodson on the Woodson-Franklin blacktop.

Dugger was headed east at the time of the accident and apparently lost control of this 1957 Chevrolet. The auto struck a large culvert, barely missed a utility pole and turned end-over-end.

He was taken to Our Saviour's hospital for treatment and later released.

Political Rivals Set Up Camps At Governors Meeting

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont. (AP) — Rival squads of governors began setting up camps in the towering Rockies Saturday as bases for pushing the presidential hopes of Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex).

And Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who would accept a Republican presidential draft that may never blow his way slated a news conference for Sunday that may throw new light on the political scene.

The chief executives of the states trekked to the mountains for their 52nd annual conference. Here, at a remote spot in a national park, sideline huddles and decisions could develop in such a fashion as to clinch both presidential nominations in advance of next month's national conventions.

The conference opens Sunday, in a setting as scenic as the Swiss on a shimmering mountain lake Alps it resembles—a rustic chalet strewn with snow and glaciers.

The official sessions will dig into such problems as schools, roads and care of oldsters. But the unofficial business will be politics.

In fact, in election years, governors' conferences are almost a third national convention.

Governors are political powers. Many of them control their state delegations to the national conventions. Thirteen of them have moved on to the White House. A score of the 50 have been mentioned this time as vice-presidential possibilities.

And the pressure will be on to pry some governors away from their favorite-son standards or to swing some of those who still are hemming and hawing behind one candidate or another.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio perched on a log, toyed with an ax, and told reporters in effect that he had agreed to a Kennedy request to work here on "the doubtful states — I suppose any state where there has been no commitment."

That would mean such states as California, Illinois, Michigan, Kansas, Iowa, New Jersey.

Several Southern states—Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina, Alabama, Arkansas, South Carolina—also are largely or wholly unbound to anyone other than a favorite son or two. But Johnson has no real worries about their political affections.

Report U.S. Gave Tip On Betancourt Assassination Plot

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Newspapers quoted a high government official Saturday as crediting the United States for an advance tip on the assassination plot against President Romulo Betancourt.

The press quoted Defense Minister Josue Lopez Henrique, who suffered burns in Friday's explosion along with Betancourt. The report, although not officially confirmed, was broadcast by the government radio.

Betancourt, a moderate leftist who has been the target of numerous plots during a year and a half as President, returned to Miraflores Palace with his face swollen and his hands bandaged to cover burns.

The country's borders were sealed, the armed forces were alerted against any attempt to overthrow the government, and about 40 persons were reported under arrest. Most were suspected sympathizers of the former dictator Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez, now in exile in Florida.

The government heard of the plot through the U. S. Embassy and Gen. Pedro Aramburu, who as provisional president of Argentina steered that country back to civilian rule after the Peron dictatorship had been overthrown. Aramburu visited Venezuela earlier this year and received a warm welcome.

The government was warned that three former Nazi "technicians" and an Argentine planned to slip into Venezuela to kill Betancourt.

"This is Trujillo's work," Lopez Henrique said, referring to Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo, dictator of the Dominican Republic. "This could not be the work of a Venezuelan because our people will never descend to that level. Information received through the U. S. Embassy and Gen. Pedro Aramburu in recent days ratify this belief. . . ."

"We were advised that three German specialists in dynamite attempts had left Spain, probably for Venezuela.

"Gen. Aramburu, for his part, informed us from Argentina of the disappearance of an individual connected with the Dominican dictatorship who presumably formed part of a group planning to assassinate President Betancourt. The information from Argentina indicated that this man was heading north, probably to Venezuela."

Other newspapers carried similar reports. El Nacional did not say whether any measures were taken to prevent the entry of the four men.

The press also reported the arrest of two Venezuelan brothers identified as owners of a 6-year-old automobile in which the dynamite exploded as Betancourt's car passed it on the way to Army Day ceremonies.

One brother was quoted as saying he had lent the car to his brother-in-law Tuesday for a trip out of town. Police said neither of the brothers appeared to be implicated but that they were held until the brother-in-law is located.

Attorney Seeks To Swap Powers For Red Spy Abel

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—An attorney near the hometown of American U2 spy plane pilot Francis Powers says he is actively exploring a proposition to exchange Powers for Col. Rudolf I. Abel, convicted Soviet agent imprisoned in this country.

Carl E. McAffee of Norton, Va., the attorney, said Friday he had conferred in this Western Virginia city Thursday with Powers' wife, Barbara Powers; the pilot's father, Oliver Powers of Pound, Va.; and Frank W. Rogers, a Roanoke attorney.

He said he has applied for a visa to accompany Oliver Powers on a trip to the Soviet Union to see Powers' son, imprisoned since his plane came down deep inside that country last month.

Windup Of Congress Hinges On 3 Hotly Disputed Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three vigorously disputed bills—medical care for the aged, federal aid to education, and an increase in the minimum wage—appeared Saturday to hold the key to when Congress will adjourn.

All of the measures are in varying degrees of trouble, and time is rapidly running out before the Democratic National Convention opens in Los Angeles two weeks from Monday.

Many Democrats have been counting on passage of legislation on all three subjects as prime talking points in the 1960 campaign. The Eisenhower administration has recommended action in all three fields, but there are wide differences over just what should be done.

Some legislators have been hoping fervently that the session could end on the July 4 holiday weekend. But that hope all but disappeared after little progress was made last week in solving some of the knotty remaining problems.

Some congressmen now have fixed their sights on Wednesday, July 6, or Thursday, July 7, as possibilities for the windup. But others are resigned to running right up to the final deadline, Saturday, July 9.

Most of the members are determined not to have to return in August's hot days after the two national conventions. All House seats and a third of the Senate are up in the November elections.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) told his colleagues last week that "I know of no reason why we should not come back after the conventions to get the job done" if it proves impossible to complete work on major legislation by July 9.

The House passed a limited medical care program for older persons Thursday, but it was far from satisfactory to many Democrats. It also falls short of administration proposals.

Democratic leaders hope to write in the Senate a broader program into the social security system. The Finance Committee will meet on this legislation Tuesday. To speed work, it has decided to hold no public hearings.

The Senate Labor Committee cleared Wednesday a bill to boost the $1 minimum to $1.25 in three steps and to bring five million more persons under the law. It is expected to be reported to the Senate Monday and may be called up for debate during the week.

The House committee approved a somewhat narrower bill earlier, but so far the Rules Committee has not granted it clearance for floor debate.

The House Rules Committee also is holding up school legislation. Both branches have passed education bills in different form. The Senate has voted for a conference to seek a compromise, but the Rules Committee refused Thursday to go along.

House Democratic leaders are making strenuous efforts to reverse the decision; a decisive

U.S. TOURISTS ARE BIGGEST SPENDERS

HONG KONG (AP) — American tourists are the biggest spenders in this British China Coast colony. The Tourist Assn. estimates they spent 63 million dollars in the past year, seven million of it by holidaying servicemen.

Humidity Slows Pace Of British Hiker Across U.S.

A vegeterian, she accepted a bunch of carrots from a Roneys Point citizen, drank a milkshake and then started on the last lap of her trip. She hoped to reach New York Monday, but that seems impossible. New York is 427 miles from Wheeling.

The Russian-born Dr. Moore said the ankle injured when struck by a car in the Middle West was better but still slowing her time. She said another factor she had not foreseen was the humidity in the United States.

"It's much worse than in Britain," she said.

Dr. Moore started out from San Francisco April 13. If she reached New York by Monday, it would mean an advance of 142 miles each day.

Her longest trek in any one day was 60 miles. She often covers much less ground.

Accuse Administration Of Mishandling U2 Case

Adjusters Okay 200 Million Hike In Defense Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House compromise group tentatively agreed Saturday on a 200-million dollar increase in defense Department funds to speed modernization of Army combat equipment.

Dropped was a 40-million-dollar item voted by the Senate to expand the fighting manpower of Marine Corps.

"We reached no other major agreements," Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) told a reporter after the closed-door sessions. "We meet again Tuesday."

Chavez heads senators who are negotiating with House members in an effort to adjust differences in the 40½-billion-dollar annual defense money bill. They held two long sessions Saturday.

The extra Army funds will go for new rifles, modern tanks and troop carriers, small nuclear weapons and similar military hardware. They are on top of $1,337,000,000 asked for this purpose by President Eisenhower in his budget.

The House had added some 37 million to speed modernization and the Senate upped this to 252 million. The compromise would cut the figure back to an even 200 million.

Other conferees said the group reached no agreement on millions added by the Senate to build a new carrier for the Navy and produce Bomarc antiaircraft missiles for the Air Force.

The 40 million extra to expand the Marine Corps to 200,000 men and officers, or 25,000 above present strength, had been inserted by a voice vote on the Senate floor.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) aided by Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa), won acceptance of the extra Marine funds on the theory that small probing operations by Communist forces are more likely than large wars in the immediate future.

Search Brazilian Bay For 51 Lost In Plane Crash

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —Navy men searched the upper reaches of Guanabara Bay Saturday for victims and wreckage of a Brazilian airliner that plunged into the fog-shrouded water Friday night as it came in for a landing. The plane carried 51 persons, including a U.S. businessman.

Navy frogmen and rescue workers recovered five bodies—four men and a woman—Saturday morning. Only parts of the Real Airlines twin-engine Convair's cabin were found afloat in the bay.

Officials presumed all aboard the plane—46 passengers and 5 crew—were dead. The crash brought the number of persons killed in Rio plane crashes since last Dec. 22 to 143. These included 61 persons killed in the collision of a U.S. Navy plane and a Brazilian airliner over the opposite end of the big bay during President Eisenhower's visit last February.

The U.S. businessman listed among the passengers aboard Friday night's flight from Brasilia and Belo Horizonte to Rio was Newton B. Thompson, a native of Waterville, Maine. He was identified as an official of the American & Foreign Power Co., a subsidiary of American Bond & Share.

None of the bodies recovered Saturday morning could be identified.

50 FIREMEN SUFFER SMOKE INHALATION

LOWELL, Mass. (AP)—Nearly 50 firemen suffered from smoke inhalation Saturday while battling a blaze that destroyed a three-story recreational building in Kearney Square.

The blaze, which threatened to spread to other buildings in the business district, caused damage that might reach two million dollars, Fire Chief Frances Kelleher said.

Fire equipment from surrounding communities aided Lowell forces in a two-hour battle before the blaze was brought under control.

The brick building, which was to have closed Saturday for the summer, housed a bowling alley, a restaurant and private dining rooms.

FBI Solves Murder Of Family Of Four

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The bizarre multiple murder of the Carroll V. Jackson Jr. family of Virginia has been solved with the arrest of a lanky musician in Arkansas, the FBI said Saturday.

Their bodies were found March 21, 1959, in a crudely dug grave near Gambrills, Md.

Jackson, 29, and another daughter, 18-month-old Janet Carroll, had been found dead 14 days earlier in Virginia.

Maj. P.W. Crews, executive officer of the Virginia state police, said warrants were being drawn in Richmond charging Rees with murdering Jackson and the younger daughter.

The Jacksons had been sought since Jan. 11, when they disappeared on a 15-mile drive back to their home in Apple Grove, Va., after visiting Mrs. Jackson's mother.

The FBI said Rees was charged in only the slayings of Mrs. Jackson and Susan Ann because they were taken across a state line. Jackson and Janet apparently were not taken over a state line and so their deaths involved no federal law.

Rees, a native of Washington, D.C., was arrested by FBI agents Friday in West Memphis, Ark., on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in another baffling slaying. This was the shooting of Margaret V. Harold, 36, the mother of two children, who was slain June 26, 1957, as she sat in an automobile on a lonely dirt road south of Baltimore.

The bodies of Mrs. Jackson and her older daughter were found within three miles of the Harold killing scene.

A civilian clerk at nearby Ft. Meade, Md., Mrs. Harold was accompanied on the day of her slaying by Army Sgt. Roy D. Hudson, 34, then stationed at Meade. He told investigators the assailant was a bushy-haired, heavy-browed gunman who also tried to shoot him down as he fled from the parked car into a wooded area.

Although investigators had earlier suggested a relationship between the Harold and Jackson murders, FBI agents had refused Friday to acknowledge that Rees had been questioned about the slaying of the Virginia family.

But in an announcement from Washington Saturday, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the Jackson kidnap charges were being filed in Baltimore against Rees.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES FOR LAOS

SINGAPORE (AP) — Twenty-five tons of school supplies have been airlifted to Laos by the New Zealand air force. A $15,000 Colombo Plan gift to the Communist-threatened kingdom, the supplies include chalk, paints, exercise books and pencils. They were packed in time to be carried over jungle trails to isolated towns.

Work Of 22 Years Ruined In Five Minutes By Tornado

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — In five minutes Friday night a tough, dark, whirling funnel ruined the work of 22 years in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Imbody.

The Imbodys, their four children, and two neighbors were having dinner at the Imbody farm home near rural Barto, 15 miles north of here.

All was peaceful, said Mrs. Imbody, when, about 8 p.m. "the world seemed to turn dark."

"I looked out a window and saw something flying through the air. My husband yelled to get down and get the kids down. We had seen tornadoes before and recognized what was happening."

Mrs. Imbody said she looked out again and saw a "dark thing" that "seemed to be a rock, or maybe a whole building, floating toward us...Trees on a hill a half mile behind us were uprooted. Entire trees were moving through the air like toothpicks...I guess it was only seconds that it lasted."

Mrs. Imbody said everyone huddled in a corner of a living room, but "my husband stood in the doorway between the living room and kitchen to keep flying glass from hitting the children.

"At first the only sound was like a far off train whistle that kept getting louder as it got closer.

"Then everything seemed to explode.

"The children were shrieking and crying and Curtis was shouting to keep down. We were all mixed up."

Then, "suddenly it was all over and quiet again."

Mrs. Imbody continued: "We all rushed outside. There was no roof on the house."

The barn also fell apart, and the family's favorite riding horse was killed by a beam.

Imbody went upstairs in what was left of the house and found, as his wife said, that "all the stuff we had accumulated in 22 years of marriage was gone."

Criticisms Couched In Soft Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Saturday night accused the Eisenhower administration of mishandling the U2 spy plane case. It said that at least the affair had given Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a handy excuse for wrecking the Paris summit conference.

The committee suggested that the spy flight of May 1, which went down deep inside the Soviet Union, probably should never have been undertaken. It said that when the failure did occur, the government's handling seems to have made bad matter worse.

It was issued on the eve of President Eisenhower's return from a Far Eastern goodwill trip marred by cancellation of his projected visit to Japan.

Fourteen of the 17 Foreign Relations Committee members signed the report on the U2 incident. One Republican dissented.

One Republican and one Democrat signed a separate statement criticizing what they called a lack of coordination but generally defending the administration's handling of the case.

The committee acknowledged that despite its close questioning of Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, and Central Intelligence Director Allen W. Dulles, it had not succeeded in obtaining every piece of information essential to making definitive judgments on the U2 case.

It said it had never found out, for example, precisely what information was sought by pilot Francis G. Powers when he took off on his ill-starred high-altitude flight across the Soviet Union. The committee knows only that Eisenhower has described the information as important to U.S. security.

The criticisms of the Eisenhower administration were couched in soft terms. The committee's Democratic leadership apparently wished for maximum Republican support and also wanted to deal in gingerly fashion with a matter delicate in U.S. politics as well as in international relations.

The most fully agreed-on criticism was that administration leaders and such key agencies as the White House, State Department, Defense Department and Central Intelligence Agency showed a lack of coordination and centralized control.

"At crucial points the coordination broke down. . .," the main committee report said. "There are few, if any, references in the record to direction, and this seems to the committee to be what was most lacking in this period. . . .If this direction is not to come from the White House, then it ought to be made clear by the White House that it is to come from the State Department."

In a separate statement, Sens. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) and Alexander Wiley (R-Wis) generally defended the administration's handling of the case, particularly President Eisenhower's decision to tell the truth about it and assume personal responsibility for spy flights over the Soviet Union. They joined in criticizing an absence of coordination.

United Nations Was Started 15 Years Ago; Is It Considered A Success Or A Failure?

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

To some of the men on the stage that day, a dream of the ages was about to come true.

The bright vision was at hand now, the vision of a world without war, the end of aggression, the renunciation of armed force as an instrument of national purpose, the banishing of a specter that had haunted mankind since the beginning of time.

It was June 26, 1945, exactly 15 years ago.

One by one, the 50 men mounted the stage of the Opera House in San Francisco. The flags of 50 nations gleamed in the great hall. One by one, the representatives of those nations signed the document which lay open on a long table.

It was the Charter of the United Nations.

So began the great experiment. Could it succeed?

Here were 50 nations, big and small, weak and strong. They were in different stages of political and social development. Their cultural memories were different. They lived under different systems of government. Most important, they held widely different attitudes about the relation of the individual to the state, and the basic rights of men.

Still, it was a shining vision.

One thing was not apparent in that hopeful hour—the representatives of the Soviet Union, and its Communist satellites, had no intention of adhering even to the first article of the Charter which pledges the signatories to strive for international peace and security.

Within six months from the date of the signing of the charter, and the formal beginning of the United Nations, Iran complained to the Security Council that Soviet troops were still occupying parts of its territory. Eventually, in May, 1946, the Soviet forces withdrew.

Thereafter came the Berlin blockade, the Korean war, the war in Indochina, the bloody suppression of the Hungarian rebellion, to name the outstanding Communist violations of Article 1 of the Charter.

While they sat as members of the United Nations, ostensibly subscribing to its principles, the Communists relentlessly carried on the cold war, using methods as old as war itself.

Largely as a result, there were many complaints from many nations to the Security Council.

The Soviets countered by casting 87 vetoes, paralyzing action. All other nations combined have filed only seven vetoes.

The United Nations is 15 years old now.

What is its image in the eyes of ordinary people all over the world? What do they think of its accomplishments? Do they think it has made the world a better place to live in?

Associated Press correspondents around the globe recently went out to obtain answers to these questions. They focussed primarily on the man in the street, avoiding diplomats and government officials.

A composite picture emerged, in this general pattern—

A majority of those questioned are still optimistic about the United Nations, and believe it has done some good.

"The U.N. can best be described as a drilling outfit, drilling toward world peace and brotherhood," said Douglas Lauderdale, an Atlanta, Ga., attorney.

"Over the years, the U.N. has grown, and this means that people want it," said Basna Chaarawi, an Egyptian university student.

"I think it has worked out pretty well," said Tong Chiu, employee of an import-export firm in Hong Kong. "At least the world has this place to try to settle differences. Without it, the nations would have no place to do so."

"If there is going to be any brotherhood at all in the world, it must come from the U.N.," said Camille Petersen, member of the graduating class of Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif.

"I believe the United Nations has helped preserve the peace. I think there is a chance that it will find a way to permanent peace," said Mrs. Leighlian Vail, who operates a farm near Topeka, Kan.

About two-thirds of all the hundreds questioned around the world gave answers like these.

Dissenters gave these answers—

A Polish student of economy, who asked not to be identified, said, "there is no hope whatsoever of world peace and brotherhood because Russia is an expanding nation and will not renounce its hold over the satellite countries. All compromises reached in the U.N. were attained at a cost to the non-Communist countries."

"Problems are never really allowed to be solved by the U.N.," said Antonio de Castro Araujo Silva, a Brazilian seaman. "Both sides use it as a platform for propaganda."

"It's a waste of good money and time. I'm in favor of eliminating it. I don't believe it could be improved," said Thomas D. Brooks, a Louisiana employment officer.

"The U.N. has reached a futile stage," said John F. Day, an Australian businessman. 'A number of nations are not cooperating and the U.N. will be frustrated by these nations. . . ."

Disputes between nations color the views of the citizens of the countries involved—

"India complained about the Pakistani aggression in Kashmir," said Pawan Kapur, a student in New Delhi, India. "What on earth is the U.N. doing about it?

The U.N. is doing many good things," said Mustafa Osman, a gardner in Cairo, Egypt, "but remember it created Israel. If there was no U.N., there wouldn't be an Israel or a million Arab refugees. . ."

The advantages of the United Nations as a forum where nations can debate their differences were noted by many of those who admire the organization—

"The U.N. is better than no U.N.," said a lady librarian in Tokyo. "It has brought open discussion of world issues before an international forum. It also is an advancement in that it provides a place for new, young and backward countries to meet, to cooperate and become stronger."

Critics and admirers alike agreed that the United Nations had been useful in halting some wars and that the probabilities of continued peace today are greater because of it—

"The U.N., has helped in many crises, Suez and Viet Nam, for example," said a Japanese clerk.

Lars Nenander, a Swedish policeman, and former member of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Gaza Strip, said: "I believe the U.N. avoided, or let's say postponed, a bigger scale war in 1956 (in the Middle East). The U.N. might be able to stop the civil war in Algeria if France would permit."

"The U.N. did not prevent fighting in Korea or Budapest," said a Polish hotel clerk. "But it has prevented war in the Far East."

"The U.N. has acted as a fire brigade," said Stockholm restaurant manager Gunnar Wiberg "The speed and the efficiency are impressive. The U.N. is not to blame for the failures. The responsibility must be shifted to the nations concerned."

"It quite possibly averted World War III at the beginning of the Korean conflict," said R. H. Carson, advertising director of the Raleigh, N.C., News and Observer. "I think it would work in the Berlin crisis if allowed to, but not with Russia's veto power."

Friends and foes of the United Nations agreed that the organization's greatest problem is misuse of the veto in the Security Council—

"The U.N. hasn't made much progress because the veto is always there to be used to prevent something being done," said Ted Dolly, a London telephone operator.

Has the United Nations made the world a better place in which to live?

"The world is better because of the U.N.," said Ellen D. Leyburn, college professor in Georgia. "Its subsidiary agencies have done tremendous things."

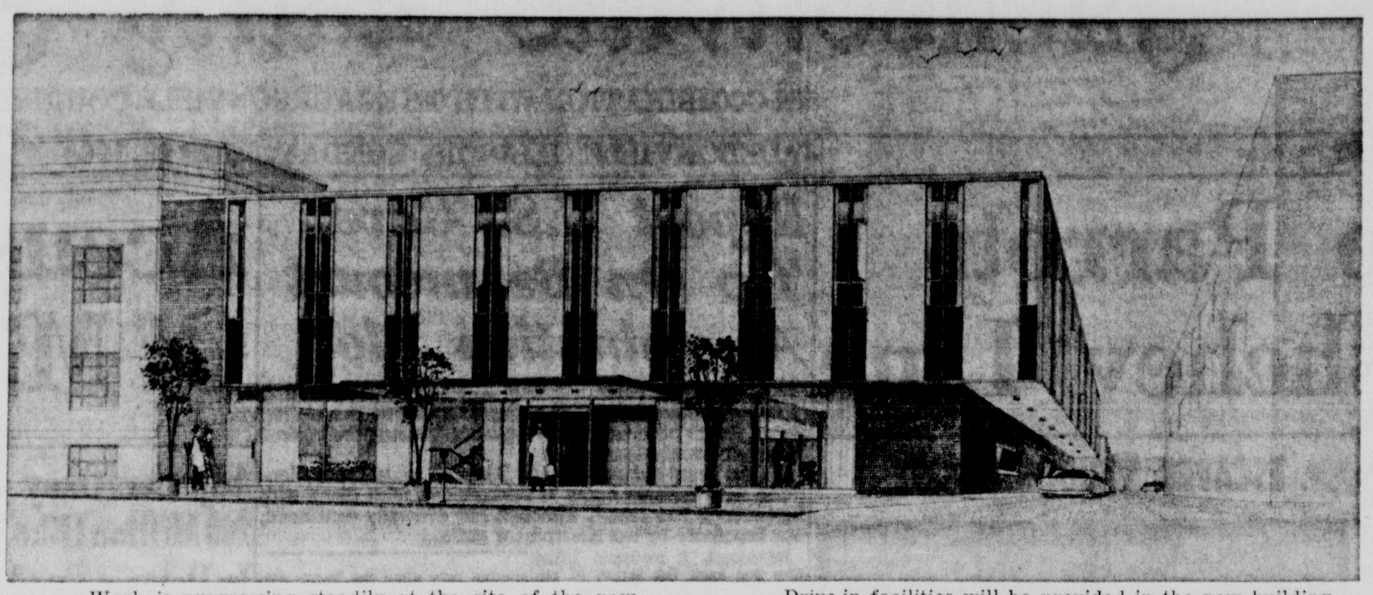

"I don't believe the world is a much better place to live in because of the U.N.," said Ira Flener, Kansas City architect. "We should have allowed the people in the last world war to settle things their way."

O. A. Vas, Portuguese clerk, said, "yes, definitely because through its work some conflicting interests have managed to come to some sort of terms. Also, by ensuring or at least endeavoring to ensure that the rights of man are respected throughout the world, the U.N. has played an important role in making the world a better place."

The majority opinion: The United Nations has done pretty well in its first 15 years.

The minority view: It hasn't worked, primarily because it is powerless to settle the great struggle between East and West.

Savings & Loan Building Complete Early In 1961

Work is progressing steadily at the site of the new Jacksonville Savings & Loan building on West State street, connecting with the present two story structure which faces the public square. Dr. A. B. Applebee, president, said yesterday the new structure is expected to be completed early in 1961. Hugh Gibson Building Contractor, Inc., is doing the work. The architects' sketch prepared by Lundeen & Hilfinger, Bloomington, Ill., shows the attractive building on West State as it will appear when completed. The Bloomington architects also designed the plant of the General Telephone Company of Illinois, on West Beecher avenue.

Drive-in facilities will be provided in the new building through Savings Court (Broadway) with traffic entering from West State and exiting by Morgan street. The west side is cantilevered out eight feet, permitting the drive-in arrangement. Main entrance of Jacksonville Savings & Loan will be from West State street. An elevator will serve the second floor of both the new and old sections. Rockford Life Insurance Company will occupy the entire second floor of the present building, when the new section is completed. Additional new office space for other firms will be available on the second floor of the new part.

Priests Visit Hermes Home At Alexander

ALEXANDER— Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hermes have been hosts this past week to recently ordained priests, friends of their son Joe Hermes at Maryknoll Seminary in New York state.

Thursday night, June 15, Rev. Tom Gueron of Denver, Colo., was an overnight guest while enroute to his Colorado home. Rev. Gueron has been assigned to a Japan post.

Saturday and Sunday guests at the Hermes home were Rev. Michael Callanan, also recently ordained at Maryknoll. The Reverend was accompanied by his father, a sister and brother of San Franciso, California and by an uncle, Rev. Xavier Martin from France. They were all enroute to California. Rev. Callanan has been assigned to a mission in Africa.

Wesleyan Guild Meets Thursday At Murrayville

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mabel Seed.

The hymn, "The Haven or Rest," was sung by the group, followed with a prayer by the president.

The worship service was led by Martha Joseph, with the title "Set Apart For Me."

Nellie Tendick had the program which included two articles concerning missionaries. One on Mexico and the other about China where a member of the local Methodist church, Charles McKnelly, will soon be serving as a missionary.

Roll call was answered with a Bible verse containing the word "spirit."

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Bernice Harvey, and the treasurer's report was given by Thelma Blimling.

During the business meeting it was voted to send the missionary fund taken from the Bible school to the Oriental Missionary Society and also to help support this by a donation each quarter.

It was voted to have a homemade ice cream social on the church lawn on July 15, with serving to start at 5:30 o'clock. Cake and cookies will also be served. The committee on arrangements is Thelma Blimling, Carolyn Heaton and Nellie Tendick.

The spiritual life thought concerning the Lord's Prayer was given by Martha Joseph.

The meeting closed with the Guild Benediction.

During the social hour the hostess served refreshments of strawberry sodas, cookies and nut meats, assisted by Bernice Harvey and Marjorie Howard.

The next meeting will be at the home of Barbara Heaton on the third Thursday in July, instead of the regular fourth Thursday.

Those present were Mabel Seed, Carolyn Heaton, Charlotte Heaton, Thelma Blimling, Hannah Waters, Bernice Harvey, Beverly Heaton, Martha Joseph, Nellie Tendick, the hostess, Donna Heaton, and one guest, Marjorie Howard.

Mrs. James Byron Noel

Local Residents Attend Vedder, Noel Wedding Rites

Four candelabra holding lighted white tapers and draped with smilax in a background of palms and arrangements of white gladiola with white and yellow majestic daisies set the scene for Miss Janet Lea Vedder to become the bride of Mr. James Byron Noel Sunday afternoon, June 12, at half past two o'clock at the First Baptist Church in Sedalia, Mo. The Rev. LaVerne Hacker, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, Monett, Mo., cousin of the bride, performed the impressive double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Vedder, 1106 West Fourth, Sedalia, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Noel, Joplin, Mo.

The organist, Mrs. Clyde Williams, Sedalia, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mr. Dave Thomas, St. Joseph, who sang, "Tenderly," "All The Way" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Helen Henry, cousin of the bride, Jacksonville, Ill., and Miss Sandra Sullivan, cousin of the bride, Springfield, lighted the candles. They wore yellow lace over taffeta dresses fashioned with scooped necklines, elbow length sleeves and flared skirts. Their wrist corsages were of white carnations.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her princess line wedding gown was fashioned of chalk white peau de soi and hand clipped Chantilly lace. The lace bodice was styled with a Sabrina neckline and long tapering sleeves. A high empire line was defined by a band of taffeta curving to the waist in back and finished with a flat bow. Seed pearls were used to embroider the flower pattern of lace at the yoke and neckline. The floor length flaring skirt of silk had a spreading back panel of lace under inverted pleats which formed the chapel train. Her headdress was a half pillbox of matching lace and peau de soi outlined with iridescent sequins and pearls which held her fingertip double illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, white roses and carnations.

Complementing the wedding gown, the dresses of the bridesmaids followed the princess line and were in ballerina length. Miss Sharon Vedder, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Her dress was of champagne colored taffeta. An overblouse of lace was styled with a Sabrina neckline, bracelet sleeves and was worn with short lace mitts. Her headdress was a bow bandeau of matching taffeta and she carried a cascade bouquet of maise carnations and ivy strands.

The dresses of the bridesmaids were identically styled in flower colors. Miss Martha Beck was in hyacinth blue. Mrs. Gene Holt wore orchid. Mrs. Elmer Kramer in petal pink and the gown of Miss Linda Vedder, sister of the bride, was leaf green. They wore bandeaux in matching colors and their flowers were cascade bouquets which matched their dresses fashioned after the maid of honor's.

Mr. Boyd Cates, Jacksonville, Ark., served the groom as best man. Mr. Bob Vedder, brother of the bride, Mr. Gordon Stahl, Cullom, Ill., Mr. Allen Burfine, Warrensburg, and Mr. Gene Holt, Gallatin, were ushers.

Miss Robyn Lynn Henry, cousin of the bride, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Henry, was flower girl. She wore a yellow organdy dress with a yellow bandeau. She carried a white basket of rose petals.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining room. The bride's table was covered with a hand made lace table cloth over yellow taffeta and centered with a four tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Ed Ballenger, aunt of the bride, Springfield, Ill., Mrs. Wayne Henry, aunt of the bride, Jacksonville, Ill., and Mrs. Carl Noel, aunt of the groom, Carthage, Mo., served at the bride's table. Mrs. Boyd Cates, Jacksonville, Ark., had charge of the guest book.

They will make their home in Litchfield, Ill., at 604 A North State Street.

The bride is a graduate of Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, where she was a member of Delta Zeta sorority and Alpha Phi Delta honorary sorority. She holds a BME degree.

The groom was graduated from Joplin High School and attended Parsons Junior College and Kansas State Teachers College at Pittsburg. Last summer he received his B.S. in education from Central Missouri State College, where he was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon. He is employed by WSMI Radio, Litchfield, Ill.

Social Calendar

Monday

The Fun With Flowers group of Morgan County Garden Club will meet with Miss Rose Ranson, 1507 Mound avenue, at 2 p.m. Monday. Those attending are asked to bring arrangement of roses, the subject of the days lesson.

Tuesday

American War Dads and Auxiliary Chapter 28 will meet Tuesday evening, June 28, at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Home. Dedegates will be elected to the July 30-31 state convention at Harrisburg. Each Auxiliary member is to take an old hat in a bag. The hats will be sold before the meeting Games will follow the business session.

"STRAIGHT SHOOTER"

A man of integrity is called a "straight shooter" from an old term which originally designated a dice player who shoots straight, that is fairly and honestly and with dice that have not been tampered with or fixed.

Roberta Allen, Ronald Edwards Wed At Bluffs

BLUFFS — In a simple but impressive wedding ceremony Tuesday evening, June 14, at 6:30 p.m. in St. John's Lutheran church in Bluffs Mrs. Roberta Mueller Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Muller became the bride of Ronald Edwards of Jacksonville, son of Archie Edwards of Jacksonville and Mrs. Helen Edwards of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Edwards

Preceding the service Mrs. Melvin Dalhaus played appropriate organ selections and also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. She wore an afternoon frock of blue lace over taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice with round neckline and full skirt. Her accessories were white and she carried an arrangement of pink carnations.

Hold Reception

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the basement for the wedding guests. The serving table was centered with an arrangement of home grown pink and white summer flowers and pink candles. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with the miniature bride and groom. The pink and white color scheme was carried out also in the pink punch served with the cake and mints and nutmeats.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Robert Goodall and Mrs. Ewald Nebel, aunts of the bride and Miss Diana Goodall, Miss Marilyn Barnes and Mrs. I. D. Mueller. Miss Kaye Strubbe and Miss Laura Mueller, cousin of the bride registered the guests.

Mrs. Edwards is a graduate of Bluffs High School and both she and her bridegroom are employed at Kordite. They spent their honeymoon in the Ozarks and are now at home at 131 Spaulding avenue in Jacksonville.

Bakeless Bake Sale Planned By Amoma Class

The quarterly birthday party of the Amoma Class, First Baptist church, was held June 23, at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. E. O. Cully, 246 E. Pennsylvania. Twelve members and four guests, Mrs. Olsen, Mrs. Lewis, Louise Deppe, and Claribel Cully, were guests.

Mrs. Ruth Hawk was in charge of the program. A contest was held and Mrs. Olsen won first; Mrs. Dowland, second and Mrs. Maude Busey, third. The class is conducting a bakeless bake sale.

Roll call was made in scripture. The hostess served newlywed ice-cream and cake roll with coffee at the close of the meeting.

Bible School Holds Display At Greenfield

GREENFIELD — The Methodist Bible school closed Friday with parents and friends visiting each department where the two weeks Bible study work was displayed and a program was presented with each department participating at the elementary school.

"The Church Around the World" was the lesson study of the junior department under the direction of Mrs. William Stringer, Mrs. Claude Linn and Miss Karen Linn.

Thirty-two were enrolled in the kindergarten. Their lessons were "Together In Our Church" and the teachers were, Mrs. Virgil Bauer and Mrs. Giller Strung, assisted by Mrs. Maurice J. Melvin, Mrs. Ebert Ferguson, and Misses Donna Jouett, Carla Barnett, Bonita Hamilton, Sherry Frazier, Janet Guthrie, Margie Sousley and Brenda Shields.

"Everyone Needs the Church" was the study for the primary group, led by Mrs. Louis Meng, Mrs. Russell Morrow, Mrs. Richard Morrow and Miss Marlene Ford.

Mrs. Richard Cole taught the seventh and eighth grade group, their study being, "The Church in Today's World." Mrs. Andrew Dalton was superintendent in charge and 92 were enrolled with a 79 daily attendance and 56 students had perfect attendance.

Rev. and Mrs. S. W. Thornton, Kathy and Nancy will leave Monday for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vince Marquess in Belle Glade, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Wilhite attended sessions of the Illinois-Missouri L. P. Gas convention at the Chase Hotel in St. Louis last week.

With The Girl Scouts

The weatherman played havoc with Girl Scout camping this past week at Camp Shagbark on Lake Jacksonville but the girls, 53 of them, who were in tents on Wednesday evening when the storm hit, rallied bravely Thursday, declaring their willingness to stay on at camp even in the face of more rain.

However, after a consultation of leaders, camp was called off at Camp Shagbark for the remainder of the week.

On Friday many of the Brownies and Intermediates met at the YMCA Youth Center in Jacksonville for a day camping session. They enjoyed singing songs, playing games and doing their camp craft work. At noon a lunch was served which would have been served at Camp Shagbark, had the roads been passable that day.

With the erection of the new permanent shelter at Camp Shagbark, camping session would not ordinarily be called off because of a rain. However, this year the roads leading to the Lake Jacksonville area have been freshly graded and rainy weather made them impassable, forcing the closing of Shagbark temporarily.

The final week of Girl Scout camping will be held beginning Monday morning, June 27, and will end on Friday, July 1. Brownies who were enrolled for the third week of camping and missed one or two days that week may enroll for the last week of camping, any day or two they choose, to make up for their lost time, providing the Girl Scout office is notified at least by Monday, for registrations later in the week. Intermediates who were enrolled in the third week of camping may enroll for the entire fourth week at no extra charge, if they wish. The office must be notified at the earliest possible time so that sufficient food can be ordered. No refunds of camp fees will be made.

Anyone desiring transportation to Camp Shagbark, please meet at Grace Methodist church, south side, at 8:15 a.m. Monday. All drivers are asked to stop at Grace church on Monday, also, so that transportation for everyone may be provided.

Unit Leaders

Assisting Mrs. Fran Chumley, camp director, this last week at Camp Shagbark, will be Mrs. Chester Timmons, Mrs. Wayne McNeely, Mrs. Ruth Calhoun, Mrs. Florence Beck and Mrs. Merle Richardson, all of whom will be working with Unit 1 consisting of 12 Brownies.

Leaders for Unit 2, made up of 16 Brownies, will be Mrs. Herbert Nelson, Mrs. Robert Bergschneider, driver; Mrs. Carl Anders, Mrs. Ed Sutton, Mrs. Robert Reid, Mrs. Don White, Mrs. Wilbur Moore, Mrs. John Schnake and Mrs. Pete Spangler.

Working with Unit 3, 10 Intermediates, will be Mrs. Judy Briggs and Miss Kay Hierman, both of Virginia.

Ten Intermediate Girl Scouts from Meredosia with their leaders, Mrs. Henry J. Smith and Mrs. Mary Dickman, will comprise the fourth unit. This unit was at Shagbark last week and is returning this week because they hated to miss camp.

On Wednesday only, there will be a unit of 12 Brownies from Ashland attending Camp Shagbark with their leaders, Miss Mildred Viands and Mrs. Carol Lohman.

Camp menus this year have been very popular and the girls have had a good time preparing them. Monday's lunch consists of Buffalo burgers on buns, slaw, ice cream bars and milk. Buffalo burgers are prepared by assembling a hamburger patty, slices of potato, carrot, onion and tomato wrapped loosely in foil and cooked over coals.

Tuesday's lunch is sludge on bun, baked beans, carrot and celery sticks, fresh fruit and milk. Sludge is made of cheese, hard-cooked eggs, tomato soup, onion and olives mixed, put on buns, wrapped in foil and cooked on grill.

Totem poles for Wednesday's lunch consist of wiener chunks, pickle squares and cheese cubes toasted on sticks. Dessert is a Girl Scout sundae made by inserting a peppermint candy stick into a cross-section cut in an orange and sucking the orange juice through the candy.

Thursday's lunch of Indian corn stew is the most popular one. Hamburger is cooked with onions, green pepper, canned corn, tomato soup and seasonings. Hitching posts served with the stew are a cube of cheese topped by a stuffed olive, held to the cheese with a pretzel stick.

Haystacks served on Friday are also well liked by the girls. Chinese noodles are topped with a mixture of tuna fish and mushroom soup. Tossed salad and Rice Krispie cookies complete this menu.

Intermediate girls for their evening and morning meals have broiled chicken, Spanish rice, broiled hamburgers, cherry cobbler, eggs in a frame, sweet rolls, goldenrod eggs on toast among their tempting list of menus. For campfire treats they have popcorn one night and "some-mores." These latter are made by toasting a marshmallow and placing it between graham crackers with four squares of a chocolate bar.

Wouldn't you like to come to camp?

WHITE HALL— Phyllis Lee Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beck, and Richard Ash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ash, were united in marriage Saturday, June 11 in an early evening ceremony at the First Baptist church at White Hall. Rev. Harry Chasteen performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride chose as her attendants Mrs. Walter McPherson, a half sister from Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Jerry Miller of Alton.

Attendants to the groom were Larry Ash, a brother from White Hall and Dave Miller, Alton.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a gown of melon nylon net with a fitted bodice and full skirt. To complete the outfit the bride wore a white clip hat with white accessories and a white nosegay. She also wore a miniature rosette necklace of hand carved ivory, a gift from the groom.

When the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Cottage and Beach Resort on the Mississippi River the bride was wearing a sports costume. Upon return the couple will reside in Alton.

The former Phyllis Lee Beck graduated from the Roodhouse Community High school with the class of 1960. The groom is a 1957 graduate of White Hall High school and is in his junior year at Southern Illinois University at Alton. He is employed as an accountant trainee at Allied Mills Inc., in East St. Louis.

$20,000 Is Goal Of Lutheran Fund Raising Campaign

PITTSFIELD — The Lutherans are planning a Kick-Off Fund Drive Dinner at 6:30 o'clock Friday night at the Farm Bureau Hall, with Rev. Rudolph Haak of Springfield as the speaker in the fund drive campaign. The campaign is for the new St. Paul's Lutheran church to be built in West Pittsfield on route 36-54 east of the Lowry Motel.

Rev. Haak is recognized as an able speaker and has had experience in raising funds for new churches. St. Paul's church has set a three year goal of $20,000 for the new church. They hope to begin the construction of the church this summer.

The church has received $6,733 from the Lutheran Women's Mission League and has advance pledges of more than $5,000.

Ed Hillebrenner and H. Lehenbauer of the building committee and Rev. James Agee, pastor of the church, were in Laona, Wis., on Monday to inspect a new church there.

To Reopen Zoe

The Zoe Theatre will reopen on Friday night after being closed for seven years. The Clark Theatre was sold and is being remodeled into a John Greene Store. The furnishings of the Zoe are practically new. It is located off the northwest corner of the square on North Madison street. Workmen have been busy this week installing air conditioning and a wider screen.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Steuart of Pittsfield are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Shirley Ilene, to Robert Hugh Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Johnson of Pearl. The wedding is planned for July 23 in the First Christian church in White Hall.

Miss Steuart is a 1956 graduate of White Hall High school and is now employed by the Alexander Lumber Company in Pittsfield. Mr. Johnson is a 1952 graduate of the Pearl High school. He has completed his army service and is now employed by BeMac Trucking Company in St. Louis.

Dr. Russell Williams and family expected to leave Germany on June 19 en route home after spending two years overseas. Dr. Williams was stationed as chief radiologist at 20th Station Hospital in Nurnberg. Dr. Williams is the son of Mrs. Grace Matteson of Pittsfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Eagle have received word that their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Simon, plan to spend one more year in Germany, where he is located with the 98th General Hospital near Luxemburg. They have been in Germany since 1958.

He is an obstetrician and Carolyn is a nurse in the obstetrics department of the same hospital. They have visited many interesting places and hope to make more trips before they return to the United States.

BEGINNING OF WISDOM

by Janet Henry

Back when our first-born was half a year old
We thought we were experts in parenthood's fold.
We knew all the angles, and what to expect.
We had all the answers, dogmatic, direct.

Soon Number Five will appear on the scene,
And, as we look back on the years in between,
And think of the counsel we gave with such gall,
We humbly admit we know nothing at all!

Mr. and Mrs. Clem F. Housam

Janis Parkerson Wed In Arenzville

Miss Janis Eileen Parkerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Parkerson, Arenzville, and Clem F. Housam, son of Mrs. Agnes Housam and the late Clem H. Housam, were united in marriage Sunday, June 12, at four o'clock in the Arenzville Methodist church.

Rev. Stanley Rapp performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli, mums and palms.

Mrs. Farrell Cooper was at the organ.

Mrs. Barbara Joan Learned, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Anita Gay Elliott, cousin of the bride was junior bridesmaid.

Attendant to the groom was Delbert Boston. Ushers were Charles Elliott, Francis Elliott, both cousins of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a traditional wedding gown of Chantilly lace over satin. The portrait neckline featured lace scallops; the long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists. The floor length skirt ended in lace scallops. The dainty crown shaped headdress of tiny pearls and sequins held secure a fingertip veil of French illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and baby's breath.

Reception Held

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church basement. The four tiered wedding cake was encircled with daisies and feathered ferns and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Leaving for their honeymoon trip to Daytona Beach, Florida, the bride was wearing a black and white silk shantung sheath with white accessories and a corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The bride graduated from Arenzville High school and Passavant Memorial hospital. She is presently employed at Memorial hospital in Springfield. They will make their home at 726 North First street, Springfield.

The groom graduated from Central High School, St. Louis, Mo., and served four years in the Navy. He is presently employed at Memorial hospital in Springfield.

Wed In Pittsfield

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wayne Hannant

PITTSFIELD — Miss Marilyn Frances Thiele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Thiele of Perry, became the bride of Gordon Wayne Hannant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hannant of Chambersburg on Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. at St. Mary's Catholic church in Pittsfield.

The church was attractively decorated in white gladioli, palms and candelabra. Vernon Scollen was at the organ and Kathleen Scollen was the vocalist.

Rev. M. J. Crowley performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a floor length bridal gown of hand clipped Chantilly lace and tulle over bridal satin, styled with a fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The bouffant skirt had lace motifs and sequins in front and net ruffles in the back, ending in a slight train. A crown of silk illusion petals trimmed with pearls and sequins held her imported silk illusion veil.

She carried a white lace covered prayer book topped with a bouquet of valley lily, with white stephanotis centered with a white orchid and tied with white satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

The bride chose as her maid of honor, Carolyn Lightle, a school friend, and as bridesmaid Miss Betty Hannant, a sister of the bridegroom.

Both girls were in pink gowns with short tulle veils and long white gloves and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations, with pink and white streamers.

The little flower girl, Debra Hannant, a cousin of the bridegroom, wore a pink dress and pink headband and carried a lace basket of rose petals.

Edward Hannant, brother of the bridegroom was best man, Roger Hannant, a cousin, served as groomsman and the ushers were Maro Johnson Jr., Carl Joe Brooks and Johnny Read.

The bride's mother was in light blue with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother was in navy blue with white accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Pittsfield Community Center, where the bride's colors of pink and white were carried out. The four tiered wedding cake was served by Kay Webel and Virginia Hayes and Mrs. Dean Mountain was in charge of the punch bowl. Mrs. Carl Leahr was in charge of the guest book and Miss Marilyn Mullins and Mrs. Roger Hannant in charge of the gifts.

The couple left for a short wedding trip.

Mrs. Hannant is a 1959 graduate of Perry High school, attended Western Illinois University and has been employed at the Brown Shoe Company in Pittsfield. Local Girl Follows Fashion Career

Kay Otto

ST. LOUIS — Miss Kathryn Denise (Kay) Otto, a senior in the Washington University School of Fine Arts, is shown modeling a dress of black and white Jacquard woven wool jersey with a wide shawl collar which she designed herself.

Miss Otto was commentator for a recent original design fashion show, in which costumes created by students in the dress design department were shown. Miss Otto stands in an art gallery of the new Steinberg Hall on the campus, where the fashion show was held. Kay's dress is set off by a stove pipe-type white straw hat, decorated with black leaves, and also designed by Miss Otto.

Washington University is believed to be the only university in the country which offers a four-year course and a bachelor's degree in dress design. The students are not permitted to use commercial patterns, and are trained to enter the fashion industry.

Miss Otto, a 1956 graduate of Jacksonville High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin A. Otto. She lives at 298 Finley, Jacksonville.

White-Dawdy Vows Exchanged At Carrollton

CARROLLTON — Miss Karen Dawdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Dawdy, became the bride of Paul White, son of Mrs. Lillard Burton of Greenfield, in a double ring wedding ceremony performed Thursday at 7:30 p.m. by the Rev. Francis Varble at his home.

Miss Sandra Stringer of Carrollton was the bridesmaid and Martin Gross of Greenfield was the best man.

The bride chose for her wedding a ballerina-length dress of white nylon eyelet with which she wore blue accessories. Her corsage was of red roses. Miss Stringer wore a white linen sheath dress with which she wore white accessories. Her corsage was of peppermint carnations.

Mrs. White was a junior last year in the Carrollton Community Unit high school and Mr. White studied in the Greenfield Community Unit high school.

Mr. and Mrs. White are making their home here with the bride's parents for the present.

Mrs. Lee Freitag

Judy Damotte, Lee Freitag Wed Saturday Morning

VIRGINIA — Miss Judith Damotte and Lee Freitag, both of Virginia, were united in marriage at St. Luke's Catholic church, Saturday morning, June 25, at 10 o'clock. The nuptial mass was performed by Rev. Henry Kozak, pastor of the church, in the presence of about 100 friends and relatives. The double ring ceremony was used.

Miss Peggy Devlin presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Pat Dooling, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Mother At Thy Feet We're Kneeling."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Damotte, of Virginia, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Freitag, of Jacksonville.

The bride's sister, Miss Ann Damotte, was maid of honor and the groom's sister, Mrs. Wanda Harrison, was bridesmaid. Little Miss Colleen Collins, cousin of the bride, was her flower girl.

Chantilly Lace Gown

The bride's gown was floor length and was fashioned of Chantilly lace and air spun nylon tulle over crisp white taffeta. The deftly shaped bodice was of lace with long tapered sleeves and lovely sabrina neckline sparkling with sequins and pearls. Twin panels of lace made up the sides of the bouffant skirt showing an insert of misty tulle in front and back, with bands of appliqued lace. The ballerina length veil of pure silk imported illusion was attached to a tiny Princess crown made of lace and adorned with sparkling sequins and seed pearls. For her bouquet, the bride chose white orchids and white roses fashioned into a cascade.

The bride's attendants chose white lace sheath dresses over nile green taffeta. Each wore a matching color head band of green satin and matching green slippers. The street length gowns were fashioned with short sleeves and bow necklines which dipped low in the back. They carried white satin fans, decorated with green and white carnations. The flower girl was in a floor length gown of nile green taffeta. She wore imitation flowers on a green head band and carried a white and green basket filled with rose petals.

James Freitag, brother of the groom, served as best man and Don Damotte, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Michael Collins, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer, and carried a white satin pillow to which the rings were attached. Harry Freitag, Paul Freitag, Ed Freitag, brothers of the groom and William Harrison, brother-in-law of the groom, seated the guests.

Lawn Reception

The bride's color scheme of green and white was carried out at a lawn reception at her home immediately following the ceremony. The table was covered with a white linen cloth and decorated with vine orchids sent by the bride's sister from Hawaii. The white frosted four-tiered cake topped by a miniature bride and groom, was decorated in green and flanked by green tapers in white milk glass holders. Cake, punch, coffee, mints and nuts were served. Miss Pat Knight, of Downers Grove; Miss Karen Zabliekis, of Kewanee; Miss Marilyn Crabtree, of Springfield; and Mrs. Paula Price, of Virginia, assisted at the reception table. Miss Sandra Bennis, of Lincoln, and Miss Barbara McCullough, of Atlanta, were in charge of gifts. Mrs. Thomas Damotte registered the guests.

After a wedding trip through the East, the couple will reside in Virginia. For traveling, the bride wore a white sheath dress and flowers from her wedding bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of the local high school and of Illinois State Normal University. She will teach in Beardstown the coming year.

The groom graduated from the local high school with the class of 1950 and is now manager of the Crawford Lumber Company, of Virginia.

Use Of Hypnosis In Medicine, Dentistry Increases Rapidly

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

The odds are good, and growing, that your doctor will suggest hypnotizing you as part of your medical treatment, or to aid in surgery or childbirth.

Before you rear back in dismay, or start calling him a stagestruck charlatan, consider current medical facts and viewpoints on hypnosis.

Today at least 7,000 U.S. physicians and as many dentists are actively using hypnosis, and many are taking courses to learn how.

Medical journals and speakers increasingly report benefits from hypnosis to kill pain in hopeless cancer, or pain after surgery, as an aid to breaking some bad habits, or in losing weight, or in having babies with less or sometimes no anesthesia.

They also warn it's no panacea, that it has limitations and even hazards if used unwisely.

Two years ago the American Medical Assn. approved hypnosis as an acceptable type of medical treatment.

Hypnosis dates way back to early human times, and bears some taint of theatrical magic since it's often used to provide mystifying and entertaining stage shows.

Nor is hypnosis news in medicine. It has waxed and waned before in popularity. But in this latest revival, hypnosis is being studied scientifically, to pin down benefits and limitations, and this time it bids to stay.

Q: Exactly what is hypnosis?

A: There is no satisfactory definition yet, any more than there are real definitions of sleep or consciousness, says Dr. Lewis R. Wolberg, New York psychiatrist, who has employed hypnosis as one technique of therapy for 20 years. Hypnosis lies somewhere between sleep and wakefulness, he says. It owes its efficacy to a state of expanded suggestibility, and all of us are normally suggestible.

Q: What happens in hypnosis?

A: You simply accept and act on the suggestions given you—to relax, to feel sleepy, to feel no pain, or carry out some suggestion after the trance, even long afterward.

Q: How does it feel to be hypnotized?

A: You don't sleep. In fact, your senses are all more acute than normally. Many people come out of a trance certain they had not been hypnotized at all. The trance makes you feel pleasantly relaxed.

Q: Do you lose your will power, or "fall under the spell" of the hypnotist?

A: No, you can actually wake yourself at any time you want.

Q: Can everyone by hypnotized?

A: No. Experts estimate 80 to 90 per cent of us can be induced into a light trance, about half of us into a middle stage, and only about 20 per cent into a deep or somnambulistic trance, resembling deep sleep.

Q: Will people commit immoral or criminal acts under hypnosis?

A: They awaken before doing anything they ordinarily would not do. In 25 years, only three documented cases of actual criminal acts involving hypnotic suggestion have been reported, says Dr. Martin T. Orne of Harvard Medical School.

Q: Can hypnosis make childbirth completely painless?

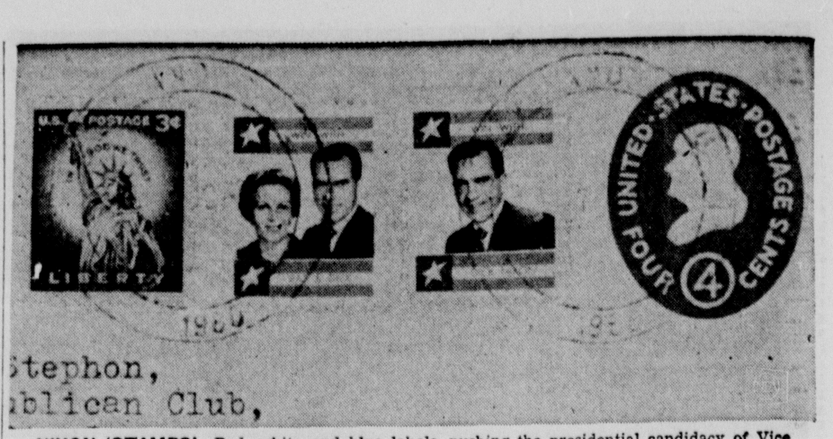

A: Only for some few women. But many others can be helped to relax, to reduce fears and tensions, and need less anesthesia.

Q: Can hypnosis really banish the pain of cancer?

A: Perhaps half of cancer patients can get some relief or control of pain, and 10 per cent may need no pain-killing drugs at all. The pain is still there, but hypnosis permits them to block out the perception of pain.

Q: Can it help someone quit smoking?

A: Again yes, sometimes. But much depends upon his real desire to stop, and his reasons for excessive smoking. One woman quit, through hypnosis, but then began eating too much and gained 40 pounds. Hypnotized again, she stopped gorging, but became an alcoholic. She needed psychotherapy to gain insight into her fundamental problems and tensions. Just taking away one crutch led to substituting another.

Greene-Jersey District Hires 3 New Teachers

JERSEYVILLE — The Jersey Community High School of Unit District No. 100, Jersey and Greene counties, has extended contracts to three new teachers for the 1960-61 term. Joining the teaching personnel in the autumn will be Charles Milton Moster of Benld; Donald E. Bell, who taught last year at Carrollton and Robert H. Wanless Jr., of Elmhurst, Ill.

Mr. Mostar will teach science at the high school. This summer he is taking advanced work at Southern Illinois University under a Fellowship from the National Science Foundation.

He was graduated from the Benld high school in 1952, attended the University of Illinois, and received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1959 from Southern Illinois University. His schooling was interrupted by two years of military service. He is married and taught in Illinois Community Unit Number 6 school system at Danvers, Ill., last year.

Mr. Bell is single, and taught the past two and one half years in the Carrollton Unit system. He is a graduate of Southern Illinois University and will teach physics, mathematics and science at the high school. He is also continuing his education under a Fellowship from the National Science Foundation this summer. He will study nuclear physics at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Mr. Wanless comes to the local unit from the East Leyden high school in Franklin Park, Ill., where he taught industrial arts during the 1959-60 term. Following graduation from the Washington Park high school in Racine, Wis., he attended the University of Wisconsin and received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1959 from Stout State College in Menomonie, Wis. He has had machine shop and sheet metal experience. Wanless will teach industrial arts at the high school and will be accompanied to Jerseyville by his wife and their small daughter who will be a first grade school student in the fall.

Gerry Staley of the Chicago White Sox, who set a club record with 67 appearances last year, has been in 25 games to date. In 20 of them he held the opposition scoreless and has "finished" 21 times. Turk Lown appeared in 60 games last year. He has made 20 appearances this year and has not permitted a run in 14 of them.

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the problems inherent in a TV-private eye series is the hero's relationship with the police.

To satisfy the viewers, the private detective must solve the case. Yet, for plot purposes and for a touch of reality, there must be police detectives around somewhere. But the police must be treated with care—to make certain that youthful minds don't get the idea that law enforcement agencies are composed of second-raters.

Several years ago, Jack Webb of the now deceased "Dragnet" series found it expedient to change his terse "I'm a cop" introductory remark to the blander "I carry a badge."

One of the high points in the career of Herschel Bernardi came recently when, driving in Los Angeles, he was stopped by a motorcycle cop—oops, officer.

"I had been driving inside the speed limit—but you know how you feel," says Bernardi. "I started to get out my license, and he shook his head and grinned. He said, 'You're the most real police officer on TV. You're like us. We find you believable.'"

The actor, who plays Lt. Jacoby in "Peter Gunn," continued: "I really don't know anything much about police work. But the nice part was that it showed that we've done what we set out to do—we've humanized the policeman in a private eye show."

"Peter Gunn," now winding up its second—and perhaps final—year on NBC (it is reported set to move to ABC), has done more than humanize police lieutenants. It converted Craig Stevens from the "other man" who never won the girl into a hero. It made the jazz background music a must in practically all action shows. It not only pulled Herschel Bernardi out of a dreary succession of villain's roles but made him Steven's official co-star.

"Lt. Jacoby," explains Bernardi, "is hard-working, witty and sardonic. He is fond of Peter Gunn, but the real rub is that he's only making $126 a week for his work while Pete is picking up $5,000 or $6,000 per case for his. When you're playing the part, that's the thing you must keep thinking about, that's how you achieve that suggestion of friction between them."

Bernardi says that he tries to make Jacoby look and act like an under-paid, over-worked police officer.

"If you find him in his office," he says, "you'll see that he usually has his coat off, and that his cuffs turned back once. He does a lot of paper work, and he's just trying to keep his shirt clean so he can wear it another time."

Bernardi's working wardrobe is thoughtfully picked—as carefully as the gorgeously tailored suits worn by Stevens.

"I get cheap suits," says Bernardi. "The whole idea is to have me look tired and poor—but never defeated."

Chicagoan Early Wynn's total of 273 major league victories is good for a 14th place tie with Charles "Red" Ruffing on the list of all-time winners.

Evening Mission Society Meets At Waverly

WAVERLY—The June meeting of the Evening Mission Society, First Baptist church of Waverly, was held at the church in the Christian Education Building the evening of June 21.

Opening the meeting Mrs. Henry Hebel, president, welcomed members. Roll call was answered by a Bible verse from the book of 2 Samuel.

Two correspondences were read from Special Interest Missionaries. Plans were discussed for attending the Annual Baptist Woman's State House Party at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, June 28-29-30.

Scripture Ephesians 6:5 through 12 was read by the program chairman, Mrs. Albert Williams. The program of the evening was an article written by Billy Graham "Race Problems, Burning Issue," followed by a "buz" session.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Albert Williams using the color combination of lemon yellow and frosty white. Centerpiece on the serving table were dolls costumed to represent our Special Interest Missionaries of the Belgian Congo, Africa, Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Stabell, Timmy, Rick, and Linda, who are coming home on furlough the middle of July. While here they will make their home at Northlake, Ill.

Mrs. James Lowe conducted the Love Gift service, and collected used Christmas cards with religious pictures, to send to missionaries in Burma.

Following the meeting, quilt blocks were cut.

Cass Couple's Daughter Named For Special Work

VIRGINIA — Miss Marjorie Krone left Wednesday for Pennsylvania. She received the distinction and honor of being chosen one of 32 in the United States to work in the development of a new secondary school advanced academic science course. Only one lady from Illinois was chosen to work with scientists and specialists to attack "frontier" problems in this project.

Miss Krone, a teacher in the Kankakee schools, has been very active in curriculum improvement in keeping with the trend of advancement in Science.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Krone of Virginia.

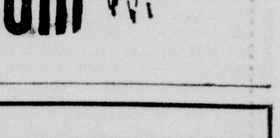

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lael and their families gathered at the home of their parents on Father' Day in observance of the day. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lael and family, Mr. and Mrs. Galen Lael and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lael and daughter, and Bob Lael, all of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lael and family and Miss Sue Lael, of Beardstown. Sixteen grandchildren were present.

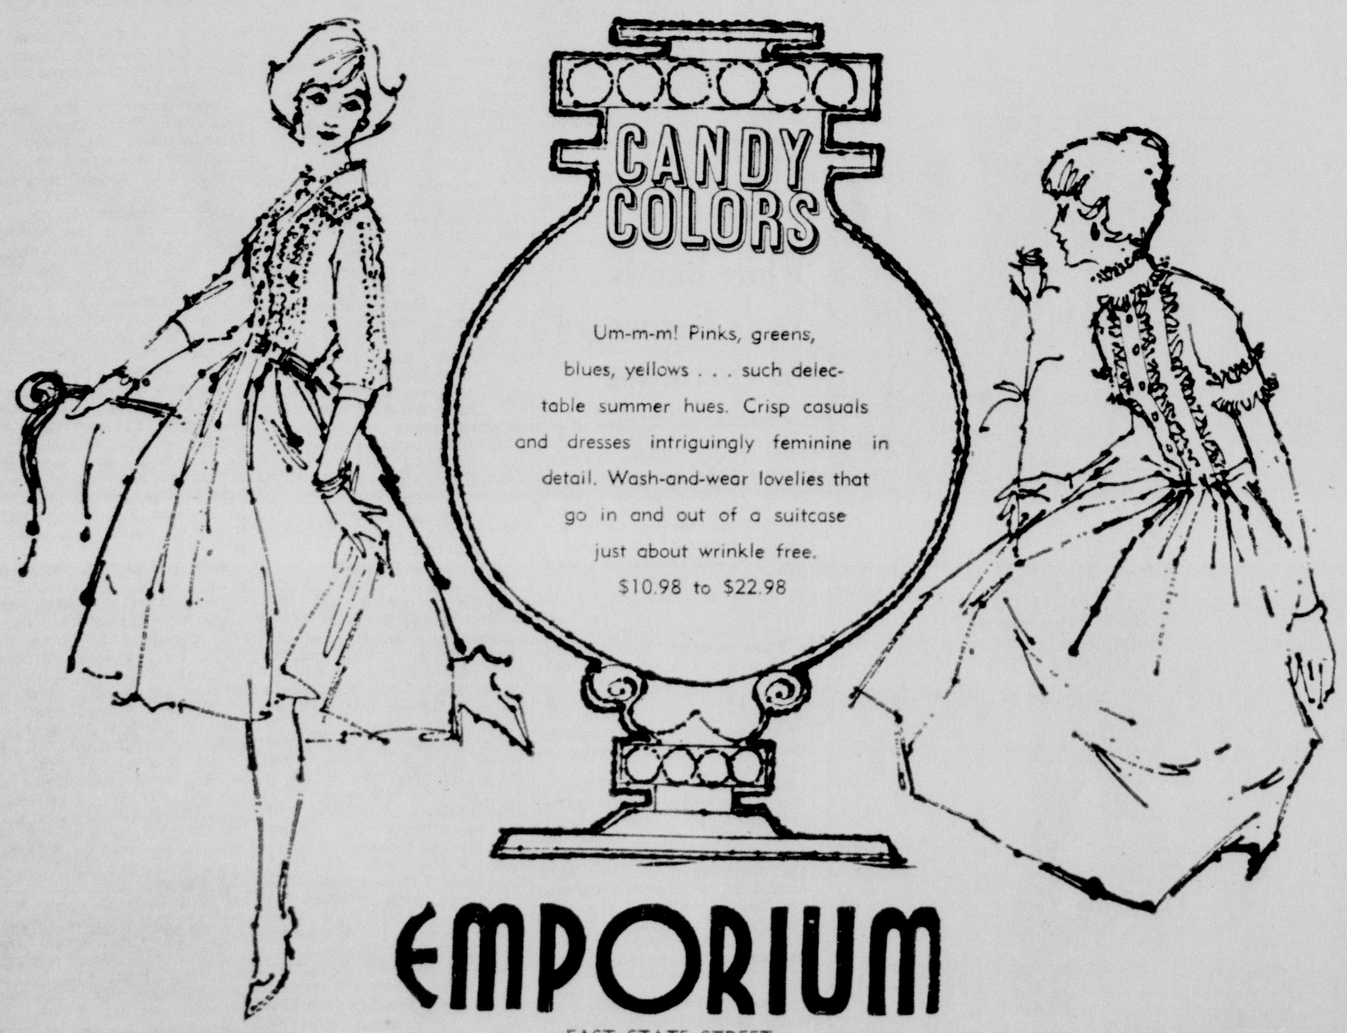

HOMEY — The barbeque pit and children typify Hollywood today, says Nancy Olson. She's back in town after 10 years.

Ashland Bible School Groups Give Program

ASHLAND—The Ashland Methodist church will hold its Vacation Bible school program during the regular Sunday school hour this Sunday.

The program will consist of a sharing by each of the departments on the theme of their study for this year and the display of their creative work.

The theme, "Together In Our Church" will be told by the nursery and kindergarten. The teachers have been Mrs. Walter Dorsett, Misses Helen Edwards, Jane Orne and Della Thompson.

The primary department will display, among other things, a church which they have constructed containing pews, pulpit, and other items, to illustrate their theme "Everyone Needs A Church." The teachers have been been Mrs. Robert Briggs, Mrs. Spencer Thornley, Miss Ann Pettit and Miss Delores Winkelman.

The Junior department taught by Misses Susan Edwards and Maureen Dorsett, have studied the "Story and Work of the Methodist Church." This study has led them to make many interesting scrapbooks on the life of John Wesley and other outstanding men in the history of their church.

One such man is Peter Cartwright, who lived for many years in Pleasant Plains. One of the projects of this group was to take a trip to Rev. Cartwright's grave and see the many historical items concerning him in the Pleasant Plains Methodist church. It was learned, while the group was in Pleasant Plains, that Rev. Cartwright had once beaten Abraham Lincoln in the race for state legislature, but of course later he was beaten by "Abe" in the congressional election.

The "Church in Today's World" was the course for the Intermediate age group. Their presentation Sunday morning will be in the form of a play entitled "A Closer Look At Our Church." Those in the play are: Janice Thornley, Nathala Chatara, Karen Glick, Eleanor Thornley, Elizabeth Jones and Linda Gunnerson. The play will be narrated by Mrs. Wilma Adkins.

4-H Wins Honors

The Circleville 4-H club took top honors with their minstrel in the Cass "Share the Fun" at the Virginia high school last Tuesday night.

This entitles them to participate in "Share the Fun" contest at the Illinois State Fair August 17. There were 20 other clubs that participated in the "Share the Fun."

Brief News Notes

A special service will be held at the local First Baptist church Sunday evening at 8 p.m. The service will include a hymn sing, a messge by the pastor, and the ordinance of baptism.

The loyal Berean class of the Church of Christ met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mollie Summers. The meeting was opened by singing "Trust and Obey" and prayer was offered by Mrs. Vivian Vernon. Roll call was answered by a scripture verse. Mrs. Daisy Lewis was in charge of the devotions, the theme being "Parables." Different parables were read by Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Leta Hammack. An article on "The Most Popular Book" was read by Mrs. Vernon. Poems were read by Mrs. Flo Grady entitled, "O God Forgive Me When I Whine" and "The Builders" was read by Mrs. Beulah Mitchell. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Daisy Thompson entertained at a bunco party at her home Thursday night. Helen Page won 1st; Rose Hinds, 2nd; Almeda Watkins, low; Ella Yancy, floating.

Capt. and Mrs. A. S. Hinds and sons have returned to their home in Lombard, after a weeks visit here with the former's mother, Mrs. Rose Hinds, and Mrs. Hind's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lester Lamkular. Capt. Hinds attended a Major and Captain school in Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Ophir Marion of New Hampshire arrived here the middle of the week for a few days vacation with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Marion. They expect to go to Tulsa, Okla., for a weeks visit with his son, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marion.

Mrs. Faye Peecher and children of Lincoln, Neb., have arrived here for an indefinite visit with her mother, Mrs. Hannah Fields. Peecher is stationed in England for three years. Mrs. Peecher and children expect to go there in a short time to stay the three years.

Merchants Plan Street Fair In Pittsfield

PITTSFIELD — The Annual Pittsfield Street Fair will be held on July 15. This is one of the most popular events sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Each store's decorations will have a theme, and move their displays to the street in front of their stores. The store personnel will dress in costume and have a hilarious job of mixing business with pleasure. The theme of the whole idea is "Nonsense." A big day for all Pike county and many bargains are in store for the customers.

New Owners

One of Pittsfield's oldest business houses will change owners on July 1 when Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lowe will take over the Parkway hotel. Mrs. Lowe is a teacher in the Higbee Junior high school and plans to continue her work. Mr. Lowe drove a transport until recently when he has been farming. They have traveled extensively, and will be ideal people to meet the traveling public.

Mrs. Medde Piper has returned to her residence on College street after spending the winter months with her grandson, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Entrekin. Mrs. Sylvia Fansler will reside with her. Mrs. Piper will observe her 103rd birthday August 26.

Arthur Haley, Former Resident, Hurt In Quincy

A former Jacksonville man, Arthur (Dutch) Haley, who resides at the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill., received serious injuries during the storm Thursday.

Haley, who lives in his own trailer home on the grounds, had left the trailer to move his car to a safer place when he was struck by a falling tree. The impact knocked him to the ground, inflicting numerous injuries including a deep laceration on the head and a fractured arm. He was hospitalized at the I.S. & S.H. until Friday and was then taken by ambulance to the Veterans Administration hospital in Iowa City, Iowa.

Although of a serious nature, Haley's injuries are not believed to be critical. The injured man is a brother of three Jacksonville women, Mrs. Ethel Gloor, Mrs. Lola Guyton and Mrs. William German, and also of Mrs. Russell Leib, Exeter. A brother, Walter of Jacksonville, also survives.

Celebrates Mass On Ninety-Third Birthday

JERSEYVILLE—Rev. John J. Clancy, dean of active clergymen in this area, marked his 93rd birthday anniversary Friday and, as usual, celebrated Mass that morning at St. Francis Xavier's church in Jerseyville where he has served as pastor for the past 46 years.

Father Clancy was born in Ballhea, County Cork, Ireland, June 24, 1867. He received his early education in Ireland, and took his preliminary studies for the priesthood at St. Patrick's College, Carlow, Ireland. He came to the United States in September, 1889 and completed his theological studies at the Seminary of Our Lady of Angels in Niagara Falls, N. Y. and St. Viator's College in Kankakee, Ill.

Ordained In 1891

Ht was ordained in the cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul in Alton on Aug. 15, 1891, and was the second priest to be ordained by the late Bishop James Ryan, D. D. The young priest was sent to Washington, D. C. for further study at the Catholic University and his first assignment as a resident priest was at the Sacred Heart church in Dalton City, Ill. He served in the pastorates of St. Catherine's church in Virden and St. James church in Riverton before coming to Jerseyville.

Father Clancy was appointed pastor of St. Francis Xavier's church of Jerseyville on Oct. 1, 1914 and has been in charge of the parish and parochial school ever since.

Still In Personal Charge

Despite his many years, Father Clancy personally administers the affairs of the parish. In addition to his outstanding spiritual guidance of his people, Father Clancy has a fine record in the care of the financial work of the church. He has built up a fine group of friendships among all the people of the community as well as in his own church associations, during his residence here, and has seen many changes in the life of the community, taking pride in the prosperity and growth of this section where he has spent so many years of his life.

250 Attend School Reunion At Woodson

The second Woodson High school reunion was held at the Woodson School Sunday, June 19. Two hundred fifty-two attended the basket dinner at noon.

The program for the afternoon was conducted by John Irlam, master of ceremonies, as follows: presentation of colors, Ross Irlam and Jim Sheehan; song, "America;" invocation, Mr. Oliver McIlrath; welcome, Paul Sheehan; response, Helen Crain Sayre.

A memorial service was held in honor of deceased teachers and students. A reception was held at the Officer's Club, Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Md. The bride's mother wore beige lace over green and the groom's mother poudre blue silk and lace.

The bride's gown was of peau de sole and Alencon lace and she carried white roses and valley lily.

Assisting with courtesies at the reception were Mrs. C. A. Rowland and Miss Ursula Ryan, the latter from Jacksonville. Among the guests from a distance was Mrs. Robert Ryan of Chicago, whose maiden name was Watts. She is a former Jacksonville resident.

Dr. and Mrs. Ryan will reside in Galveston, Texas, where he will intern at John Sealy Hospital.

Chandlerville Girl Married At Edwardsville

CHANDLERVILLE— Miss Bonnie Chapman of Edwardsville, formerly of Chandlerville, and Richard Troxell, were married June 11 at Edwardsville at the Calvary Southern Baptist church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chapman of Edwardsville.

Rev. James L. Feaman, pastor, officiated at the candlelight ceremony in a setting of green foliage. Rev. Allen Richards was vocalist and Miss Ida Mae Scroggins sang.

The bride was attended by Miss Shirley Brain, Granite City, maid of honor and Miss Frances Gunn, Jacksonville, bridesmaid. Both are college friends of the bride and wore blue lace costumes and carried white daisies.

Mr. Troxell, whose parents lived in Springfield, had William Graves of Jacksonville as best man. William Ross, Greenfield, was groomsman. They are also college friends of the groom.

Ushers were Robert Keightley, St. Louis and Allen Stults, Springfield. Miss Fran Frick, Pittsfield, registered guests.

Have Reception

A reception was held at the church. Since their return from a honeymoon in the Ozark region the couple has taken up residence at 307 West Linden street, Edwardsville.

The bride graduated from Chandlerville high school and Illinois College and is the faculty of the Edwardsville grade school. Mr. Troxell is a graduate of Springfield high school and Illinois College. He is employed by J. C. Penny company, St. Louis.

Mrs. Donald Wayne Pollard

Mrs. Robert W. Yeates

Brenda Harris, Deek Pollard United In Afternoon Ceremony

Pink and blue were used in the June wedding for Miss Brenda Diane Harris of Jacksonville and Donald Wayne (Deek) Pollard of Roodhouse solemnized Sunday afternoon, June 19, in Jacksonville. The ceremony, performed by the Reverend H. L. Janvrin, pastor of the Roodhouse First Baptist church, was held at the local First Baptist church before a large gathering of friends and relatives.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf E. Harris, 903 East Lafayette avenue and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pollard of Roodhouse.

The church altar, banked with ferns and palms was colorful with pink and blue carnations against a background of white glad blossoms. A white cloth covered the church aisle and family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Mrs. Norma Vineyard was the soloist for the prelude and Mrs. Melvin Smith presided at the organ. Mrs. Vineyard sang "I Love You Truly." "Because," "Always" and as the couple knelt at the altar for blessing, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's attendants were Miss Jarice Ann Johnson, a cousin, Miss Susan Stillwell, Miss Sharon Grant of Arenzville and Barbara Schnitker and the maid of honor was Miss Linda Stillwell. The little flower girl was Vicky Brant of Hillview. She wore a white lace dress, and headpiece of pink and blue carnations. She carried a white basket of rose petals.

Delos Pollard of Roodhouse attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Wayne Lunak, North Lake, Illinois; Tom Bradender, Decatur, Warren Dew of Chillicothe, Illinois, college fraternity brothers of the groom and Lloyd Myers, Roodhouse and Michael Harris, brother of the bride.

The bride's attendants wore ballerina length dresses of nylon chiffon over summer taffeta. The dresses featured scoop draped necklines forming a V at the back. The focal point for the frocks were floating panels attached above the back waistlines emerging into the generous bouffant skirts. Each carried a cascade arrangement of pink carnations tied with pink ribbons.

Given In Marriage

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a 'light as a cloud' gown of silk organza over taffeta. Fashioned with long tapered sleeves the bodice featured a slight scoop neckline which dipped to a V at the back. Silk leaf edging outlined the neckline and also the V's in the floor length skirt which entended from the fitted bodice and ended with small organza bows, one at center front and three at center back.

The bride's fingertip veil of imported illusion was held in place with a dainty Queen's crown of sequins and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white split carnations centered with a detachable purple throated white orchid and showered with satin ribbons.

The little ring bearer was Randy Benner of Roodhouse. He wore a white coat over dark trousers and carried the rings on a heart shaped white satin pillow.

Reception in Fellowship Hall

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall at the church following the ceremony. Pink and blue were also used in decor. The five tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Guests were served wedding cake, pink tinted punch afloat with frosted flowers, salted nutmeats and candy mints. A musical background enhanced the receiving hours, all planned by the Women's Service League of the church.

Mrs. Ida Reynolds of Virginia registered the guests; Mrs. Bettye Haynes, Mt. Sterling and Mrs. Edna Johnson, Jacksonville, aunts of the bride, were in charge of gifts.

Out of Town Guests

Guests attended the wedding and reception from Macomb, Chicago, LaSalle, Roodhouse, Rock Island, Moline, Pekin, Aurora, Winchester, Vermont, Peoria, Decatur, Chillicothe, White Hall, Hillview, Browning, Beardstown and Bluffs, Illinois and Jefferson, Wis.

The bride graduated from Jacksonville High School in 1957 and is employed at the New Method Book Bindery, West Morton Road, Jacksonville. The groom graduated the same year from Roodhouse High School and will be a senior this fall at Illinois Western University, Macomb.

VISITS IN GEORGIA

Miss Reba Richey of this city left Friday for Savannah, Ga., where she will visit relatives. While returning to Jacksonville she will stop at Indianapolis, Ind., for a few weeks' visit before returning to her duties at the Illinois School for the Deaf.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

David C. Hanson, Downers Grove, and Shirley J. Ginder, Jacksonville route one.

Bronna Crabtree Wed In Church Ceremony

Miss Bronna Lee Crabtree became the bride of Robert W. Yeates on Sunday, June 12 at 3 o'clock in the Congregational Church in Jacksonville. Dr. Malcolm Stewart of Illinois College performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli, white stock, greenery and candles.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Crabtree, 1311 Mound Avenue. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Yeates, 727 Chevron Drive, St. Louis, Missouri.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Rebecca King of Jacksonville as maid of honor and by Miss Barbara Hammer of Indianapolis, Indiana as bridesmaid.

The groom had as his best man his brother, Richard Potter Yeates of St. Louis, his younger brother, Thomas E. Yeates, served as groomsman. Ushers were Syd Kolls of Washington, D. C. and Ricardo Calvillo of Detroit, Michigan.

The bride wore a waltz length gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta, fashioned with a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her shoulder length veil was of illusion net topped with a tiny crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and stephanotis combined with ivy.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the David Smith house, Illinois College. A buffet supper was held at the family home following the reception for the family and out of town guests.

After a short wedding trip to northern Michigan the couple will be at home to their friends at 613 South Main Street, Jacksonville.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market nudged ahead on balance this week in a continued consolidation of its strong May-June recovery drive.

Trading interest, both on the sell and buy side, was heavy. Volume rose to 18,279,350 shares from 17,701,100 the week before and was the largest since the week ended May 21 when 19,725,360 shares changed hands.

The market declined on the first two days and advanced on the last three. The second declining session, Tuesday, June 21, was the first day of summer and at least one analyst formally took note of the fact that the traditional "summer rally" was now a statistical likelihood.

Whether sheer coincidence or not, the market did rally from that day on. Steels, rails and coppers paced an irregular advance on Wednesday and it continued Thursday on about the same scale. Friday was very mixed and uncertain much of the time but late in the session steels and rails once more came to the forefront and lifted the list to a slight statistical gain.

The rise of the heavy industrials and rails was helped along by talk of rail mergers, predictions that 1960 would be a good year for the steel industry after the summer lull, and by some apparent institutional buying of steels.

This added up to good news for the badly-bruised cyclical stocks, their relatively low prices made them look like good speculative or investment risks. Favorites among the electronics, missile, recreational and other groups met contrary fates, usually depending on whether they were due for profit taking or whether they looked cheap to traders.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks made a moderate advance of 1.20 to 224.10.

Of the 1,414 issues traded this week, 669 advanced and 594 declined. New highs for the year totaled 142 and new lows 127.

Baltimore & Ohio rose ¾ to 37½ as it aroused merger affections of both New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Otis Elevator sprang up as it announced plans to manufacture automatic pinsetting equipment for bowling. The stock rose 7½ to 57½. Established leaders in this field reacted adversely. Brunswick Corp. fell 6½ and American Machine & Foundry 4.

Automatic Canteen advanced 6 points to 41½ as it acquired a manufacturer of electronic control devices for coins and currency. Universal Match reacted downward 7 points as investors feared fresh competition.

Most active issue this week on the New York Stock Exchange was Standard Kollsman, off 3¼ at 23⅞ on 418,700 shares.

U.S. government bonds and corporate securities closed lower this week. It was not a pronounced decline—more of an uncertain half-step backawrd.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Following is a summary of the hog, cattle and sheep markets for the week:

USDA — Hogs — Compared Friday last week—barrows and gilts steady to 25 higher, most of the advance on weights over 240 lbs. Sows were unevenly 25-50 higher. On the close mixed grades No 1 and 2 and No 1, 2 and 3 290-230 lb barrows and gilts brought 17.50-17.75, around 150 head at 17.75. Mixed grades No 1, 2 and 3 and No 2 and 3 190-240 lb weights 16.75-17.50. No 2 and 3 and No 3 240-270 lbs 16.00-16.75. No 2 and 3 and No 3 270-300 lbs 15.50-16.25. Shipment mostly No 3 325 lb weights 15.50. Mixed grades No 2 and 3 and No 3 300-400 lb sows 14.00-15.25. 400-500 lbs 12.75-14.25.

Cattle — Slaughter steers 50-1.50 lower with good and choice grades below 1100 lbs 50-75 lower and other weights and grades 75-1.50 lower. Slaughter heifers 50-1.00 lower, cows 1.00-1.50 lower, bulls steady to strong, vealers steady to 1.00 lower. Two loads prime 1310 and 1325 lb slaughter steers 30.00 Monday but only one load 1175 lbs 29.50 Wednesday. Most high choice and mixed choice and prime steers 26.00-28.00 at the close with about 10 loads 1175-1350 lbs from 28.50-29.50. Most good to average choice steers 22.00-26.00. Many loads mixed good and choice steers 24.00-24.50 at the close. Mixed standard and good 21.00-22.00. Few loads mostly prime 1100-1177 lb slaughter heifers 27.00-28.25, most good to high choice heifers 21.00-26.50 with late sales choice from 23.75-26.00. Utility and standard heifers 16.50-20.50. Commercial cows 15.00-17.00 at the close with few standard 17.00-18.25, utility 14.50-16.50, utility and commercial bulls 19.25-21.00, good and choice vealers 24.00-29.00 mostly 28.00 down late, standard 18.00-24.00.

Sheep — Compared Friday last week — spring slaughter lambs 1.50-2.00 lower. Old crop shorn lambs and yearlings 2.00-2.00 lower. Slaughter ewes sold steady to 50 lower. Good to prime spring lambs sold early in the week at 21.00-23.50 and late at 19.00-22.00. Good to mostly choice 95 to 111 lb shorn old lambs and yearlings with No 1 and 2 pelts brought 18.00-18.75. Cull to choice shorn slaughter ewes 5.00-6.50.

CHICAGO (AP) — After hitting their highest price in 17 months, butcher hog prices declined then leveled off late in the week and closed only steady to 25 cents higher than a week ago.

Most of the gain was on weights over 240 lbs as the market for lighter weights weakened sharply on the withdrawal of a good deal of the shipper demand.

The peak of $18.35 a hundredweight on Tuesday was a gain of 60 cents over last Friday but on Wednesday all the advance was lost and the top was back to $17.75. The week closed at that level although the supply was slightly smaller than for the previous week.

The cattle supply this week was little changed from a week ago but it included a larger percentage of choice and prime grades while the good grade was less and these were 50 to 75 cents a hundredweight lower, better grades as much as $1.50 lower.

The setback dropped the average price of all slaughter steers to its lowest level since December. Lower wholesale beef prices contributed to the weakness in the pens.

The majority of offerings on the sheep market were spring slaughter lambs which sold as much as $4 under the high for that class this year. At the close good to prime grade springers went at $19-22 or $1.50-2 less than last week.

Lloyd Coffman Presents Report On Convention

ROODHOUSE—Lloyd Coffman, a member of the local Rotary Club and a past district governor of Rotary International, gave a report Wednesday night on the Miami convention which he attended. Program chairman for the evening was Leroy Hopkins. Visitors included Waldo McCreery, Jacksonville Rotarian.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bethel, Heyworth, have returned home after spending some time with her sister, Miss Artie Olson.

Miss Bernice Raines, an instructor in the Kansas City, Mo. Junior High school, is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. H. Raines.

Mrs. Hamilton Vasey and son, Charles, Fargo, N.D., who are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnett, East Clay street, will be joined the latter part of the week by her husband and daughter Jane.

En route, Mr. Vasey, who is superintendent of the Fargo schools, and daughter will visit his sister iin Springfield. Another son, Frank, graduated from the Fargo high school in the spring and is employed as a counselor for the Fargo YMCA at the camp located at Lake Cormorant, Minn. He will enter Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Ia., in the fall.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strang have been Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eagleberger and daughters, Susan and Deborah, Kansas City, Kans. Mrs. Eagleberger is the former Mary Margaret Waddell of this city. Also visitors in the same home have been, Mrs. W. T. Dreyer and son, Mike, Peoria.

Mrs. Dreyer, the former Martha Fitzpatrick of this city, and son Mike, attended commencement exercises at Illinois State Normal University, Normal, for the class of 1960, of which her daughter Miss Dianah, was a member. Mrs. Dreyer's mother, Mrs. Mike Fitzpatrick, 94, was also in attendance at the exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Reagor and sons, Steve and Larry, have returned from a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leeper and family, Dixon. The group was accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. Otis Spencer, who visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Denniston and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Grider, Galesburg. Mrs. Spencer has since visited Charles Cryder, her brother, in the White Hall hospital.

Visitors in the home of Mrs. Florence Edwards have been Mr. and Mrs. Pete Potter and children, Richard and Therma; Mrs. Cecil Potter, St. Louis, Mo.; and Mrs. Harry Geary, Daam, Ore. The latter two remained for a longer visit. This is the first time in 29 years that Mrs. Edwards has seen her sister, Mrs. Geary.

Ora Gonterman of Roodhouse has entered Passavant Hospital.

A COUPLE OF FIRSTS

ELMONT, N. Y. (AP) — When Bill Hartack rode Celtic Ash to an easy victory in the Belmont Stakes it marked the 27-year-old rider's first win in that rich stake. It was his first ride in the event. The win also marked the first stakes success for the imported colt owned by Joseph O'Connell of Boston. O'Connell's Cavan won the 1958 Belmont.

To Charge 7 Men In Rape-Slaying Of Mother Of 4

CHICAGO (AP) — Cook County prosecutor Frank Ferlic said Saturday he will charge seven men with murder in the rape-slaying of a 32-year-old mother of four.

The first assistant state's attorney's announcement came after hours of intensive questioning produced a complicated account of events leading to the death of Mrs. Roseann Beckman. Her partly stripped body was found in a weed patch on the South Side early Wednesday.

The seven prisoners are:

Donald Lee Coglan, 19, who police say admitted slugging Mrs. Beckman and attempting to have sexual relations with her while she was unconscious—or dead—after striking her head on the sidewalk.

Leroy Buick and James Bracken, both 20, and Dennis Dougherty, 21, who police say admitted dumping Mrs. Beckman's body in a lovers' lane adjoining a railroad yard when they panicked after noting that her pulse had stopped.

Roy McGovern and Eugene Avery, both 19, and Philip Kolep, 25, who, with Coglan, told police of drinking and dancing in a South Side tavern until 2 a.m. with Mrs. Beckman—a short time before her death.

The roundup of the seven was triggered Friday night by an anonymous phone call to police and the whispered tip that Coglan and McGovern possibly were involved in the death of Mrs. Beckman, who hours before had attended a White Sox baseball game at Comiskey Park. The two were arrested immediately in their homes. The other five were arrested or surrendered to police during the night.

At first Coglan and McGovern accused each other of the apparently fatal blow which felled Mrs. Beckman as the group stood around McGovern's car after a sideswipe accident. But Detective Chief James McMahon said Coglan later admitted during a lie-detector test that he hit her on the jaw when she started to walk away.

McGovern said someone else also slugged Mrs. Beckman but said he didn't know who.

A coroner's report said Mrs. Beckman died of a brain hemorrhage from a blow on the head, and that she had been raped.

ADMINISTRATION ACCUSED OF MISHANDLING U2

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) voted against the report, saying he did not think it promoted the best interests of the United States.

A majority of the committee membership, under the leadership of Fulbright, drew these conclusions based on published and secret testimony obtained between May 27 and June 2.

1. There is no dispute over the necessity for intelligence information, such as that gathered by the U2 plane flights over a period of four years. There is no criticism of technical arrangements for the unsuccessful flight of May 1. That the plane went down that day "was just plain bad luck," as the report put it.

2. The story which the administration had prepared in advance to deal with the loss of a U2 plane inside the Soviet Union "was inadequate." By May 7, when Khrushchev disclosed capture of the wrecked aircraft and pilot Powers, the government here decided to admit the flight but deny its authorization from Washington.

The committee implied a belief that a better cover story would have been a big help. The story first told here was that the U2 was on a weather-charting flight and might have strayed over Soviet territory by accident.

3. Eisenhower's decision to take personal responsibility for authorizing the U2 spy program "is unprecedented in intelligence operations." CIA Director Dulles, the committee noted, was ready to take the responsibility himself, "which is the traditional procedure."

showdown may come at a Rules Committee meeting Tuesday.

One major bill was readied for final action Friday with conference agreement on a year's further extension of corporation and excise tax rates, and a temporary debt ceiling increase. Both branches still must pass the compromise version.

The Senate passed June 16 a $1,247,500,000 omnibus housing bill, another item strongly desired by many Democrats. The House Banking Committee has approved a companion bill, but again the Rules Committee has taken no action to clear it for House action.

The House has passed 14 of the 15 money bills for fiscal 1961, starting next Friday. The Senate still has give to go. The only one expected to bring much debate is foreign aid.

Johnson announced Friday the Democratic Senate Policy Committee had cleared 76 bills for floor debate. Most of them are minor, but some are controversial; many will be lost in the adjournment crush.

Both branches have spent most of their time the last couple of days working on lesser legislation. The Senate took Saturday off, but the House turned again to several minor bills.

THIEF FLEES WITH $30,000 IN GEMS

NEW YORK (AP)—A nimble smash-and-grab burglar struck famed Cartier's Fifth Avenue jewelry store before dawn Saturday and escaped with $30,000 in gems scooped from a shattered display window.

The thief made a quick getaway by diving head-first through a window of a waiting car. It sped away, driven by an accomplice.

Police first estimated the loss at $100,000 but revised the figure after conferring with store executives. Another display window contained an $85,000 ring. It was untouched.

The theft was similar to one at another plush Fifth Avenue jewelry store, Tiffany's, on Aug. 10, 1958. The timing and window-smashing techniques were the same. Tiffany's loss was $167,000.

Red Parade Marks 10 Anniversary Of Korean War

TOKYO (AP) — Chants of "Yankee go home" resounded in Tokyo Saturday night at a demonstration organized by the Communists to mark the 10th anniversary of the start of the Korean war and denounce the presence of American troops in Asia.

Nearly 5,000 Communists, workers and students marched past the American Embassy, Parliament, the Cabinet Building and through downtown Tokyo. They were unopposed by police except at the embassy, sealed off by several hundred guards.

Openly organized by the Communist party, the demonstration was smaller than many preceding it in Tokyo's two-week wave of daily leftist parades. In contrast to the earlier demonstrations, U.S. policies in Asia were directly assailed with placards and slogans such as "America, get out of the Far East. Get out of Taiwan (Formosa). Return Okinawa. Take back your black jets (U2) and your army."

About 250 persons were reported injured in Osaka Saturday night in a clash between police and demonstrators opposing the U.S.-Japan security pact. Unofficial accounts said 18 were hurt seriously. The clash occurred when police moved to break up a sit-down demonstration that followed a rally by thousands of leftist-led union members and students.

Lightning Kills Two Golfers, Injures 20

WARNER ROBINS, Ga. (AP)—Lightning struck a shelter packed with golfers Saturday, killing two and injuring about 20 others.

Five of the injured were treated at Warner Robins Clinic, then transferred to a hospital in near-by Macon.

A golf tournament for civilian employes of Robins Air Force Base was under way. Participants and a few spectators scurried into the shelter to get out of the rain.

"I didn't know anything when it hit," said Raymond Selph of Warner Robins. "When I came to, my right leg felt like it had been pulled loose from my body. My head was bursting. I heard someone calling for help, to get an ambulance. I looked around and saw I was the only one sitting up so I scrambled to my feet and ran to the clubhouse."

The clubhouse is almost a mile from the shelter and Selph was barely able to talk when he got there. But he conveyed word of the tragedy and assistance quickly was mobilized.

GOP Offers Substitute For Stalled Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A minimum wage proposal was offered by the Republicans Saturday as a substitute for one now bottled up in the House Rules Committee.

The substitute proposed by Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio) would increase the existing $1 an hour minimum to $1.15 and extend the coverage to 1,400,000 additional workers.

The bill approved by the Democrat controlled House Labor Committee would boost the minimum to $1.25 in three annual steps and cover an additional 3,500,000 workers.

Ayres' move was seen as a means of applying leverage to the Republican hold on the school construction bill as well as the minimum wage bill. A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats is holding up final action on both bills.

House GOP leaders are known to be dangling a number of propositions in front of the Democrats, such as: Agree to limit the wage bill to $1.15 and the school bill will be approved; or, remove outright grants from the school bill in favor of matching state funds and favorable action on the wage bill might follow.

Frank Ruby Dies Saturday In Springfield

Frank Ruby, formerly of Jacksonville, died at 9:40 p.m. Saturday at St. John's Tuberculosis Sanatorium in Springfield, following an extended illness. He had been hospitalized since January.

He was born in Scott County, Sept. 3, 1900, the son of John Henry and Martha Watkins Ruby. Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Delbert Blake of Manchester; four brothers, Thomas and Russell Ruby of Jacksonville, Homer of Springfield and Joe of Scottville.

He was a member of the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church.

The body is at the Williamson Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete. Burial will be in Wilson Cemetery south of Alsey.

Caution Against Putting Faith In Red Policy Rift

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain cautioned the Western world Saturday against drawing comfort from the apparent policy rift between the Soviet Union and Red China on the question of peaceful coexistence.

"I have noticed the differences of emphasis in the Communist camp, and I find them interesting," he told a news conference at the end of a three-day visit here. "I think it would be a mistake, however, to bet too much on actual or alleged slips in the Communist camp."

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev told a Romanian party congress last week Soviet policy would continue to be based on peaceful coexistence. Red China agreed, except that Peiping declares it is impossible to coexist with the United States.

Mayor Of Moscow Gets Splattered With Raw Egg

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — The mayor of Moscow was splattered Friday with a raw egg, thrown by a man believed to be a Lithuanian refugee, as he posed for pictures during a goodwill tour of Canada.

Nikolai Bobrovnikov, who was posing with TV's Wyatt Earp, Hugh O'Brian, and two Canadian mayors, was hit squarely on the neck, according to a news photographer who was taking the picture.

The egg-thrower, identified by police as Ged Janusomis, 20, was caught after a 10-minute chase through Victoria Park. He was arrested on undisclosed charges and later released on $200 bail.

Mayor Franklin Miller of Niagara Falls, Ont., and George Nelms of Ottawa were posing with Bobrovnikov and O'Brian.

Canada has many anti-Communist refugees from Lithuania, a Baltic country taken over by the Soviet Union early in World War II.

Bobrovnikov made no comment on the incident. Mayor Miller declined to discuss the incident further, saying it might "jeopardize international relations."

Rains Pose Flood Threats In Texas; Report 3 Deaths

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Two days of torrential rains posed flood threats to portions of drought-stricken south Texas Saturday.

At least three deaths, and possibly seven, were blamed on the stormy weather that started in the Texas Panhandle Thursday night and has spread to almost all of the state.

Two persons died in a traffic accident on a rain-slick highway north of Dallas. A fisherman drowned when a shrimp boat capsized off Aransas Pass in south Texas. Two other crewmen are unreported. Two other men have been unreported since their car was swept from a flooded creek bridge near Seguin in south Texas.

Mrs. Bob Thurston of near Sinton in the Corpus Christi area of south Texas gauged 12 inches of rain in two days on her farm. Rains of 4 to 5 inches in south Texas were numerous.

The rains were of incalcuable value to farmers and ranchers. As Ike Jones of the Production Credit Assn. in Austin, Tex., put it: "This rain right now is just like writing a check for $1,000 in favor of every farmer in the area—even the little ones."

Cattle in recent weeks have been sold off in increasing numbers from the parched, grassless ranges of south Texas. Rains will revive the ranges and allow the cattle to graze.

U.C.T. REPRESENTATIVES LEAVE FOR NATIONAL MEET

Three local resident, Ollie Cain, Howard Curtis and E. O. Sample, left today for Detroit, Mich., where they will attend the national spring convention for members of the United Commercial Travelers. The three local men are part of the 16 member delegation from Illinois.

DOMESTIC DANDIES MEET AT CHURCH

The seventh meeting of the Domestic Dandies 4-H Club was held June 22 at the Wesley Chapel. The roll call was answered by a place one would like to tour

The minutes were read and approved, and a discussion was then held concerning the local achievement. Elaine Russell gave a talk on choosing subjects and tips were given on how to take good pictures. Carmen Hembrough spoke about cake baking.

Refreshments were served by Sylvia Vasey. The next meeting will be held at the home of Laura May Jones, June 29 at 2 p.m.

King Park To Open Newly Remodeled Pool

PITTSFIELD — The swimming pool at King park, which has been greatly enlarged as well as the bath house, will open for business on Sunday, June 26. There is equipment to accomodate 500 swimmers at a time. Grade children swim for 20c, high school students 30c and adults 50c.

The Board has employed Dennis Heavner as manager of the pool. Dennis has been teaching school the past year at Polo, Ill. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Heavner of Pittsfield. Last year the pool income was $5,404. With the enlarged pool this year the income should prove even bigger and better. The Lions Club sponsors the King park.

Boosters Class Holds Picnic At Harp Farm

ROODHOUSE—Sixty-two persons attended the Methodist Boosters Class annual picnic held at the summer cottage on the W. O. Harp farm east of Roodhouse, Thursday night. The meeting was held indoors because of early afternoon rains. Among the guests were the brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Harp, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lakin, Jacksonville, who showed colored slides of Hawaii taken recently on a trip. The program concluded with the showing of pictures taken in the western states. Mrs. Lakin served as commentator.

The Delta Sorority observed guest day at the closing meeting of the year, a one o'clock luncheon held at the Country Club at Jacksonville Thursday afternoon. Prizes at bridge were awarded to Mrs. Jim Jones, Mrs. George Reynolds, Mrs. Warren Musch, Mrs. Ross Manning, Mrs. W. P. Gilmore, and Mrs. W. A. Martin. The guests present were Mesdames Carl Barker, W. A. Martin, Russell Ash, Alfred Ryder, Jim Cressy, Floyd Martin, Charles Sprague, Mrs. Nels Harris, all of Roodhouse; Mrs. Robert Johnson and Mrs. Dee Millard, Jacksonville; Mrs. Warren Musch, Virginia. General chairman for the meeting was Mrs. George Reynolds.

Luncheon

Mrs. John R. McConathy entertained a group of women at a 1 o'clock luncheon at her home, Thursday afternoon. The afternoon was spent playing cards. Present were Mesdames J. Lee Hopkins, N. J. Bucklin, J. M. Martin, W. W. Wilkinson, W. L. Worcester, and Margaret Sullivan.

Two Get Tickets For Accident In Pike County

PITTSFIELD — Four persons were slightly injured Thursday morning in a collision at 8:15 on the Perry road. Both drivers were given tickets by state police. Police said Arthur Roughly 43, of Virden stopped his car to talk with highway workers when it was struck in the rear by a car driven by Wilma R. Watters 41, of Chambersburg. Roughly's car was slightly damaged, overturned in a ditch.

The Watters car was extensively damaged. Both drivers and two passengers in the Watters car, Edith Smith 52, of Perry and Freda Bradbury 31, were injured and treated by a physician. Mrs Watters was ticketed for driving too fast for existing conditions and Roughly for illegal stopping on a highway.

State police arrested two men Monday near Florence and they were in county jail until Thursday when they appeared before J. P. Otto Gicker. Charles A. Elberson is wanted for violating parole from the Kansas reformatory and is awaiting extradition to that state and DeWayne Zudal from North Dakota was charged with illegal possession of liquor and was fined $50.00 and costs. Both men have been employed on construction of a new grain terminal in Naples.

CURIOSITY IS EXPENSIVE

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP — Call it compassion, curiosity or whatever—it was costly for Collis Rhodes.

Police Sgt. Harvey Jackson says he was enroute to an accident when Rhodes drove past in a reckless manner. But Jackson couldn't give chase.

Rhodes, however, also became interested in the accident. He circled the block and drove to the wreck scene, where Jackson promptly arrested him. Rhodes was fined $100 and costs for drunken driving.

Progressive Unit Members Attend District Meeting

MEREDOSIA— Tuesday afternoon ten members of the Progressive Unit of Home Bureau attended the district meeting in the home of Mrs. Chester Thomason of the Point West Unit. Cheerful Unit was well represented at the meeting.

Miss Hazel Graves, Morgan-Scott home adviser, gave the major lesson, "Health, Foods, and Fallacies." Roll call was answered by naming famous lovers. Mrs. Thomason read the highlights of the county board meeting. The selected subject, "Home Lighting," was presented by Mrs. Carroll of the Illinois Power and Light Co.

Progressive Unit members will be guests of the Merry Doshans 4-H Club on Monday, July 18, at the local Achievement Day, to be held in the high school home economics room.

Attending the district meeting were Mrs. Henry Schroeder, Mrs. Raymond Scott, Mrs. Minnie Steinberg, Mrs. Aldo Hierman, Mrs. Oscar Nortrup, Mrs. Marvin Schlieker, Mrs. Lottie Schlieker, Mrs. Clyde Buchanan, Mrs. C. G. Wegehoft and Mrs. Albert Telling.

Merry Doshans

The June 20 meeting of the Merry Doshans 4-H Club was held at the high school. It was called to order by saying the 4-H pledge and the pledge of allegiance. The secretary called the roll and read the minutes; the treasurer collected the dues.

Two demonstrations were given: Carolyn Nunn, butterscotch refrigerator cookies and Betty Schroeder, facing and collars. There was one talk, by Patsy Schlieker, about different kinds of outdoor cooking fires.

Carolyn led the club in singing "I've Been Working on the Railroad," and Connie Tubbs conducted a game.

Sportsmen's Club

Thursday night 27 members attended the regular meeting of the Meredosia Sportsmen's Club. During the business session it was decided to start the meetings at 8 o'clock, beginning with the July 14 meeting.

A registered shoot will be held at the clubhouse on July 10. A trophy will be awarded.

The ball park committees for the next three weeks were announced: week of June 26—James Major, John Lovekamp, Clifford Fricke, Jim King, Bob Workman; July 3—Kenneth Grammer, Joe Schneider, Maurice Kunzeman, R. O. Duvendack, Bill Lawson; July 10—Loren Wickert, Russell Kunzeman, John Newman, Fred Gust and Harvey Brim.

Two films were shown: "Long Right Arm," by Douglas Aircraft, and "Winter Holiday in the French Alps," by Air Force.

HARTACK GETS DOUBLE

ELMONT, N. Y. (AP) — Jockey Bill Hartack fared better than the 3-year-olds who sought this year's triple crown of racing. The leading rider won the Kentucky Derby with Venetian Way, was out of the money with that colt in the Preakness but won the Belmont with Celtic Ash. Bally Ache, winner of the Preakness, had to pass up the Belmont because of a leg filling following a workout.

Cleveland's Stigman Cools Off Yanks, 4-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Dick Stigman cooled off the New York bats Saturday, limiting the league-leading Yankees to four singles and striking out 10 as the Indians captured a 4-1 decision.

The 24-year-old southpaw got home run support from Vic Power and Harvey Kuenn, the latter hitting his with one on. Stigman (3-4) beat the Yanks for the second time this season.

For seven innings Stigman and Ralph Terry (3-3) engaged in a tight pitching duel. Power's third homer of the season gave Cleveland a 1-0 lead in the first inning.

The Indians scored two more in the sixth on a single by Power and Kuenn's blast into the left field seats. Kuenn, hitting in his 10th straight game, boosted his average to .312. He has gained 34 points in that span as he sets out in defense of his American League batting championship.

Pirates Extend Cubs Losing Streak To Nine

PITTSBURGH (AP)— First-place Pittsburgh cut loose for three runs in the first and sixth innings to shade Chicago 7-6 Saturday. It was the Cubs ninth straight defeat, the longest losing streak in the National League this year.

Neither starter finished. The Pirates chased Moe Drabowsky with three runs in the first. Chicago retaliated with three runs in the fourth to knock out Joe Gibbon. He also gave up a run in the first.

Paul Giel, making his first relief appearance in weeks, earned the victory—his first of the year. He pitched 2 2-3 scoreless innings after relieving Gibbon in the fourth. The loser was Bob Anderson.

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — The 45-foot Kalkara, owned by W. M. Greer of Shelburne, N.S., crossed the finish line shortly after noon Saturday, last of the fleet of 135 in the Newport, R.I.,-Bermuda yacht race.

The class B. title was won Friday by the 55-foot Palawan, owned by Thomas J. Watson Jr., of Greenwich, Conn., with total time of 125 hours, 30 minutes, 23 seconds, and handicap-corrected time of 111 hours, 48 minutes, 10 seconds.

The 39-foot yawl Finisterre, owned by Clarence Mitchell, Annapolis, Md., won both the overall honors and those in class E—the smallest class. She had an elapsed time for the 635 nautical miles of 127:39.54 and corrected time of 102:58:52.

Judge To Rule On Comiskey Petition In Two Weeks

CHICAGO (AP)— A probate judge Saturday took under advisement a petition on behalf of former Chicago White Sox vice president Charles Comiskey that more than $150,000 in joint bank accounts of his late mother and sister be inventoried and included in Mrs. Comiskey's estate.

Judge Charles Seidel of Elgin, sitting in Chicago's Probate Court, said he would rule on the petition in two weeks.

Comiskey contends that the joint accounts set up in 1950 served as a convenience to his mother, Mrs. Grace Comiskey so that his sister could do her banking for her.

His sister, Mrs. Dorothy Rigney, claims the bank accounts were set up so that she could be repaid for loans to Mrs. Comiskey during "the lean years of the ball club."

According to law, Mrs. Rigney asserted when one party to a joint account dies, the account goes to the other party.

Mrs. Comiskey died Dec. 10, 1956.

MacKay And Hard Waltz Ahead Into Quarter-Finals

By TOM OCHILTREE
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)— Barry MacKay and Darlene Hard, a pair of power-packed Americans, waltzed ahead Saturday into the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships before rain interrupted play for the third straight day.

A third Yank — Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis—had to scamper to the clubhouse to wait out a shower before defeating Bert Gaertner of South Africa, 6-2, 6-4, 7-5.

MacKay, of Dayton, Ohio, easily brushed aside Denmark's Jorgen Ulrich 6-2, 6-2, 8-6. The second-seeded slugger maneuvered to victory behind murderous serves and volleys which struck the court like bullets.

In the next round, Barry will meet Italy's classy Nicola Pietrangeli, who today took out Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., 6-4, 6-1, 6-2. Frost was a lost lamb up in the forecourt against Pietrangeli's angled stuff.

Miss Hard of Montebello, Calif., also banged away with great force to win her match once she firmly fixed in her mind where the service zones were.

She eliminated the Soviet Union's brightest hope in international tennis—Anna Dmitrieva, a 19-year-old art student from Moscow, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1.

Angela Mortimer of Britain, and South Africans Sandra Reynolds and Renee Schuurman joined Miss Hard in making the women's quarter-finals, reached Friday by defending champion Maria Bueno of Brazil, Karen Hantze of San Diego and Britain's Ann Haydon.

Miss Schuurman eliminated U.S. Wightman Cup Captain Janet Hopps of Seattle, 6-3, 6-4, in the fourth round. Another American hope, Dorothy Head Knode of Panama and Forest Hills, N.Y., lost in a twice-postponed, third-round match to Britain's Christine Truman, 1-6, 6-0, 6-3.

MacKay, Buchholz, and Pietrangeli were joined in the men's quarter-finals by top-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia, Rod Laver of Australia and Ramanathan Krishnan of India. Fraser whipped fellow countryman Don Candy 6-2, 6-3, 6-2, and Laver ousted Pierre Darmon of France, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1, 8-6.

Krishnan outlasted Ian Vermaak of South Africa, 3-6, 8-6, 6-0, 5-7, 6-2.

OFFSPRING OF TOM FOOL

ELMONT, N. Y. (AP) — Belmont Day was a big one for two horses sired by the famous Greentree colt Tom Fool. His offspring accounted for the $146.10 daily double. Tom's Lark, a bay colt, won the first race and Funny Bone, a filly, won the second race. But Tompion, favored son of Tom Fool in the Belmont, ran fourth.

White Sox Win In 12 Innings On Wild Pitch, 7-6

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Ginsberg, a newcomer to the Chicago White Sox, doubled in the bottom of the 12th inning and scored the winning run on a wild pitch by Tom Sturdivant for a 7-6 victory over the Boston Red Sox Saturday.

Ginsberg, a Baltimore castoff, kept the White Sox in the running throughout the long afternoon and led off the 12th with a double to left field, moved to third on a sacrifice and scored when Sturdivant uncorked his wild pitch with two outs.

It was a tough defeat for the Red Sox who blew a four-run lead in regulation play and then scored twice in the top of the 10th only to see the White Sox come back and tie it in the bottom half of the inning.

Bob Shaw, the seventh White Sox pitcher, who went the route Friday night in a 2-1 triumph over Boston, evened his record at 7-7. Sturdivant, fourth Boston pitcher, was tagged with his second defeat in as many decisions.

Giants Win Over Reds Again, 5-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — San Francisco's Giants made it two in a row over Cincinnati Saturday, winning 5-2. Billy O'Dell scattered 10 hits for his third win against seven defeats.

Only in the first and fourth frames did the Reds show life, singles by Eddie Kasko, Wally Post and Dutch Dotterer producing one with Post's fourth homer of the season accounting for the other.

O'Dell helped his own cause by sparking a three-run third when, with one away, he singled through the box, was sent to second by Don Blasingame's single, and home with the first tally on Jim Davenport's double. Blasingame scored on Willie Mays' sacrifice fly, and Davenport crossed the plate on Willie Kirkland's single.

In all, acting manager Tom Sheehan's crew, who previously had lost four straight to Milwaukee, collected 13 hits, off Cal McLish, who lost his fifth game against a lone victory; Don Newcombe, and Bill Henry who took over in the eighth.

SIGN BEAR PACTS

CHICAGO (AP) — Richie Petitbon and Charlie Sumner, a pair of defensive backs for the Chicago Bears, have signed contracts for the 1960 season.

Petitbon, an all-around quarterback for Tulane, proved to be one of the National Football League's better rookies last season. He intercepted three passes for 52 yards, had 11 punt returns for 72 yards and four kickoff returns for 68 yards.

Sumner, a 3-year-veteran from William and Mary, has intercepted 16 passes in his injury-marked career.

Berlo Captures American Oaks At Belmont Park

NEW YORK (AP) — Berlo, the favorite from the Foxcatcher Farms of William Du Pont, Jr., of Delaware, drew away in the final eighth of a mile Saturday at Belmont Park and won the $86,250 Coaching Club American Oaks for 3-year-old fillies.

It was the fifth straight victory for the brown daughter of Heliopolis-Faberose, by Rosemont, four of the triumphs coming this year. Berlo came outside of Ogden Phipps's Sarcastic on the turn for home, and won by three quarters of a length in the field of eight. Hal Price Headley's Rash Statement finished third, another three and a half lengths away.

Berlo finished the mile and one quarter in 2:04 1-5 on a fast track, and returned $2.90, $2.60 and $2.40. Sarcastic paid $6.80 and $5.10, and Rash Statement $8.20 to show. All carried 121 pounds.

LARGER BUSCH STADIUM

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Walter Wolfner, managing director of the St. Louis Football Cardinals announced Saturday that an 8,132-seat portable bleacher-grandstand will be erected at Busch Stadium for the National Football League season.

Wolfner said the twin-deck structure will be erected on the east edge of the stadium and will cost more than $100,000.

Construction will begin after the Cardinal baseball team completes its season. The football Cards' home opener with the New York Giants is Oct. 2, only 11 days after the end of the baseball campaign.

If Hobbies Count, Middleweight Title Bout Between Fullmer And Basilio Is A Stinkeroo Of Sorts

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — If hobbies count, Wednesday night's 15-round NBA middleweight title scrap here between Champion Gene Fullmer and Carmen Basilio is a stinkeroo of sorts.

For then in the clean, clear air of Derks Baseball Park, Fullmer —the West Jordan (Utah) windmill who raises unfragrant minks —and Basilio — The Chittenango (N.Y.) battler who grows onions— meet in a rematch of their tough San Francisco battle of a year ago.

In the coastal city clash, Fullmer stopped the rugged little New Yorker in the 14th round and thus won the title the NBA had declared open after taking the mantle from Sugar Ray Robinson. The NBA dethroned Robinson for failure to defend often enough and sanctioned the Fullmer - Basilio match as a fightoff.

Most observers expect another savage body brawl for the upcoming affair, which will be televised (ABC, 9 p.m. EST).

Secrecy is the watchword in both training camps. Fullmer is working out at the nearby West Jordan gym of his manager, Marv Jenson, and on alternate days the public and press are barred. Basilio, in his Ogden, Utah, camp, admits nobody.

Basilio says he doesn't plan to battle Fullmer in the same manner this time. "It'll be a different fight and this time I'm going to win," the New Yorker says.

The thick shouldered Fullmer has been spending some of his training time yanking himself upward on ropes to pull out his reach. Jenson says it was a lengthy reach that paid off in San Francisco.

CRUISE SHIP GROUNDED IN ST. LAWRENCE RIVER

OGDENSBURG, N. Y. (AP)— A big cruise ship remained fast on a sandbar in the St. Lawrence River Saturday but some of the 347 passengers traveled on to Montreal by train and others went sightseeing here.

The SS North American, bound from Chicago to Montreal, grounded Friday in a wind storm. No one was reported hurt. The ship apparently was not damaged.

Widest part of the Atlantic Ocean is the 4,150 miles between Florida and the Strait of Gibraltar.

Peoria Central's new basketball coach is Harry Whitaker who has been assistant coach of the Lions for the last five years. He succeeds Dawson Hawkins, new cage coach at Pekin high. Coach Whitaker is a graduate of Bradley University and he will continue as head baseball mentor, a position he has held the past five years. He has been at Central six years and Dick Whitaker, no relation to Harry, and head track coach the past year, will be the new assistant basketball coach.

Joe Napoli of Bradley captured the Missouri Valley conference batting crown with a .490 percentage. John Jones, St. Louis U. clouter, won the title last year and finished second this season with .432 average. Bradley, with four regulars over the .300 mark led the league in hitting with a healthy .320 team average. The Braves banged 169 base hits in 527 times at bat. Cincinnati hurlers held 20 opponents to a 2.70 earned run average.

Robert Buchanan has resigned as basketball coach at Windsor high after serving nine years. His fine teams posted a 181-77 record. Elmer "Bud" Bornman is the new basketball coach at Carthage high school as he resigned as basketball and football coach at Carterville high. He is a native of Quincy and graduated at the University of Missouri.

Jack Milam is the new basketball coach at Rockbridge high in Taylorridge. He is a former star basketball player of Limestone (Peoria) and a graduate of Western Illinois University at Macomb. He will assist in football in his new job.

Oakland high is seeking a basketball and football coach to replace Billy J. Myers, new head basketball coach at Mattoon high. He is a graduate of St. Elmo high and the Eastern Illinois University. Bill Gross has resigned as basketball coach at St. Anne high and he is a former star athlete at Danville high and Illinois College. Okawville high is looking for a new coach in basketball to replace Richard Herrin who resigned recently to take the head basketball coaching job at Harlem (Rockford) high school. Patoka high is looking for a replacement for Ernest Bozarth who resigned to take the job as cage boss at Murphysboro high school.

Coach Kayo Mullen of Astoria high is working during the summer at a service station at Astoria. He is starting his second season as basketball mentor of the Pirates and he is a graduate of Havana high and the University of Illinois. Sherman Childs has resigned as basketball coach at Equality high school after serving two years.

BRAUN IS DOUBLE WINNER

BETHPAGE, N. Y. (AP) — Carl Braun, coach of the New York Knickerbockers basketball team, turned in a sparkling 71 to win low net honors in the Metropolitan Basketball Coaches' Assn., annual golf tournament.

Richie Guerin, high scorer on his NBA team last season, out-drove Braun in the driving contest but Braun's 250-yard drive was the winner. Guerin's 265-yard tee shot landed in the rough.

Baltimore Pounds Out 11-2 Rout Over Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Milt Pappas held the Kansas City Athletics to six hits while his teammates pounded out 16 safeties Saturday for a 11-2 victory by the Baltimore Orioles.

The Birds moved to within three percentage points of the American League - leading New York Yankees, who lost to Cleveland.

Gus Triandos, who entered the game hitting a modest .226, led the Baltimore hit parade, pounding out a home run, two doubles and a single in five times at bat, driving in three runs and scoring three. Triandos' homer was only his second.

Brooks Robinson also drove in three runs, two with his fifth homer and one with a sacrifice fly.

Andy Carey homered for the A's, also getting his fifth.

The losing pitcher was Bud Daley, who entered the game with a 10-2 record and nine consecutive victories. He was 2-0 against them over two seasons.

Boyer's Poke Decisive Run For Cards, 1-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Ken Boyer's 19th home run of the season gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 1-0 win over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday as southpaw Curt Simmons earned his first major league victory in almost two years.

The 31-year-old Simmons, recently released as washed up by the Phillies, hurled a dandy six hitter at his old mates, snapping their six-game winning streak. The veteran of 12 years in the National League struckout six and walked only two in fashioning his first win since beating Pittsburgh 9-0 Sept. 1, 1958.

Boyer's home run, his second in two games here, was the third baseman's third hit in his last 30 at bats. It came on the first pitch from Jim Owens in the top of the ninth and pinned the eighth defeat in 11 decisions on the Philadelphia right hander. Owens allowed but seven hits in the old fashioned pitching duel with Simmons.

Friday Baseball

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates are 3½ games ahead again in the National League race, but it took one whale of a pitching parlay to do it.

Ed Roebuck, a sore armed right-hander last year, beat Joey Jay in a duel of relievers by allowing just four hits over nine shutout frames as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated second-place Milwaukee 5-3 in 10 innings Friday night. That ended the Braves' winning streak at six games.

It was only the second time Roebuck has gone nine innings since coming to the majors with the Dodgers in 1955.

Pirate southpaw Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell came through with his first complete game in 14 starts this season—only his second in 30 tries over more than a year—for a 4-1 victory over Chicago's last-place Cubs.

Third-place San Francisco, after losing five in a row, beat Cincinnati 5-3, with Willie Mays driving in three runs and hitting two homers. Philadelphia's fired-up Phils won six in a row for the first time in two seasons with a 4-3 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Roebuck (5-1) gave up nothing but singles, walked just three and struck out seven after relieving Sandy Koufax when the Braves tied it 3-all in the second. The Dodgers, blanked for 8 2-3 innings by Jay (1-2), finally broke through when Wally Moon tripled and Don Demeter hit a sacrifice fly in a two-run 10th. The other run was unearned.

The Dodgers, sixth-place world champions, chased Carl Willey with three runs in the first, one on rookie Frank Howard's seventh homer. Hank Aaron belted his 17th homer, with one on, in the first for the Braves, who had the bases loaded when Roebuck got Ed Mathews on a doubleplay ball in the second.

Mizell (4-4) singled home a pair of runs as the Pirates made it three out of four. He walked two, struck out four and allowed seven hits, losing his shutout on Jim Hegan's triple and Jerry Kindall's single in the fifth. It was the Cubs' eighth straight loss.

Consecutive home runs by Mays and Willie Kirkland did it for the Giants, cracking a 2-2 tie in the sixth against loser Jay Hook (6-7). Mays singled home a run and scored in the first when he paired with Kirkland on a double steal. Mike McCormick (9-3) was the winner. He gave up a two-run homer by Gus Bell in the first inning, then blanked the Reds until the ninth, when he needed relief help from Johnny Antonelli.

Rookie Ken Walters drove in two runs for the Phils, breaking a 3-3 tie with a fifth-inning single off loser reliever Ernie Broglio (5-3). Robin Roberts (4-7) gave up seven hits, one Ken Boyer's 18th homer, but won his third in a row.

American League

It begins to look like those Baltimore Orioles, a bunch of baby birds and some old pros, are going to hang in there in the American League pennant race. They just don't quit.

They trailed by five runs Friday night, then scored in each of the last six frames for a 6-5 victory at Kansas City that kept them within a half-game of first-place New York. The Yankees, with Tony Kubek driving in five runs, blew a 5-0 lead at Cleveland, but beat the Injuns 10-6 for their seventh victory in eight games.

The Orioles, coming from behind for the second straight day, tied the A's on Gene Woodling's eighth-inning homer, then won it on Brooks Robinson's single and Clint Courtney's double. Hoyt Wilhelm was the winner with 11 innings of hitless relief for a 5-4 record. Ray Herbert (3-7) was the loser. The A's got their runs on Jerry Lumpe's grand-slam in the second and Norm Siebern's solo homer in the third. It was Baltimore's 18th victory in 23 one-run decisions.

Kubek belted two homers and then lined a two-run singles as the Yankees broke a 6-6 tie by scoring four in the seventh off losing reliever Johnny Klippstein (1-3). Kubek's single was the only hit of the rally, built on two walks, two errors and Mickey Mantle's sacrifice fly. Johnny James (4-0) won it in relief—with the help of a running, leaping stab by Roger Maris that robbed Tito Francona of a bases-loaded homer in the sixth.

Jim Landis, White Sox center fielder, also pulled off a beauty, reaching into the bullpen for Ted Williams' ninth-inning smash to save Bob Shaw's first victory in three weeks. Landis also drove in the clincher with a sacrifice fly in the second inning off Bill Monbouquette (6-7).

Bunning (5-4) allowed nothing but singles, checking the Senators on a safe bunt after the second inning. He walked none and struck out six, taking over the AL lead with 97.

Senators Notch 14 Inning Tussle From Tigers, 6-4

DETROIT (AP) — Pinch-hitter Billy Consolo doubled home the winning run in the 14th inning Saturday in a wild, marathon contest in which 38 players participated as the Washington Senators defeated the Detroit Tigers 6-4.

Each team used 19 players and the game took four hours and 18 minutes to complete. Chuck Stobbs, who gave up one run and one hit in three and two thirds innings — a game-tying home run in the 11th inning by Charlie Maxwell—got the win. Pete Burnside was the loser.

The Tigers battled from behind twice before the Senators finally ended the affair and stopped a four-game losing streak. Jose Valdivielso started the winning rally with a single and was bunted to second. Consolo scored him with a double, moved to third on a fly ball and tallied an insurance run on Bob Allison's bunt.

FAN BREEZES

BY STAN SPOTTS
Journal Courier Sports Editor

I had quite an interesting chat with Ray Duckworth of United Speedways concerning the possibilities of what the Morgan County Fairgrounds could produce in the near future if the necessary repair steps were taken.

—o—

Ray, who has a two-year lease for the big cars and late model stocks with the Fair board, had several ideas in mind which would give Jacksonville one of the finest half-mile tracks in the midwest and these few adjustments could bring bigger and better races to our local and area fans.

—o—

The first big step would be to level the now obsolete quarter-mile track used in the past for stock car racing which is now enjoying more success on half-mile ovals. The quarter-mile would have to be built all over again and it wouldn't prove worthy or profitable. Besides, it blocks just about everyone's view when there is harness racing or big cars working the half-mile.

I believe the Fairgrounds people are in complete agreement with this. Naturally, all this is going to cost money! And it would be a big investment but it might make money and this would please all of us. Since I'm spending the Fairground's money in print only, let's explore a little farther. Next, lights should be installed around the half-mile track. Then and only then could we have nightly harness racing each week or we could shuffle the lineup and have a Big Car sprint race or even some good old-fashioned Stock Car races such as we saw the final day of the 1959 Morgan County Fair.

A big item and a big cost would be the installation of a steel guard rail after the curves on both ends had been expanded so that the oval would take on the appearance of an egg shape. A guard rail gives the drivers more feeling of security especially on the curves but this little project would cost in the neighborhood of $3,000. It would run a lot less if it were just installad on the curves and in front of the grandstand and judges' stand. Those old posts now stationed in front of the grandstand and judges' stand would just barely stop a run-away tricycle.

—o—

Terre Haute just recently installed a steel guard rail around its track and they've been having some fine racing with top-flight drivers competing. To my knowledge, Jim Hurtubise, the fastest qualifier at the 500-mile classic, Johnny Thomson and Don Branson have never raced here and they've been appearing at Terre Haute. Hurtubise was driving with United Speedways two years ago. Lights and guard rails on the half-mile would also attract some midget racing promoters. This is a popular drawing card throughout the nation.

I understand that if the quarter mile is leveled, then the Go-Karts may be put into operation. This is quite the thing with kids and adults right now but will it be several years from now? To me, the important thing right now is a face-lifting for the half-mile. My theory is that if the fans are given something they want and in grand style with all the facilities available then they'll keep coming back—television or no television.

—o—

There would be only one objection to a steel guard rail and that would come from the harness racing people if the place was fixed up to accommodate them for night racing. A rail such as this could injure their horses but if the curves were made larger they probably wouldn't say too much about it. Pari-mutuel betting would be a nice change of pace if it were allowed.

—o—

Most of these ideas are strictly mine and the blame can fall on me for those who disagree. We could have rodeos, harness racing, stock cars, midget racing, go-karts, and Big cars during the summer—that is if the half-mile is dressed up for the occasions.

BEAUTIFUL ST. ANDREWS, GOLF'S HOME TOWN

The most famous golf club in the world, the Royal and Ancient at St. Andrews, Scotland, where the 100th playing of the British Open golf tournament will take place this summer.

Ernie Savage of Jacksonville is on a European tour with several other local residents but managed to sneak-off for a round of golf right where the sport was invented. He rented a bag of sticks and purchased three balls to try his skill on the famed course — that is, he boastingly wrote that he only purchased three balls; he didn't reveal his score however.

Famed St. Andrews—

Local Golfer Swings Clubs At International Playground

Editor's Note: This is a portion of a letter from Ernest L. Savage, 524 Rosedale, who is presently touring Europe with his wife, Elma, a teacher at Jacksonville High school; Mrs. Gladys Rust, also a high school teacher; Mrs. Elsie Bieber, and Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Schuette, organizers of the tour.

Mr. Savage has long been active in sporting events in the Jacksonville area and we are indeed grateful for his word picture of the proverbial "golfer paradise."

St. Andrews "Old Course," the place where golf was born three hundred years ago, is truly a fabulous course. It is a Mecca which draws its faithful from all over the world, to wander among its grassy dunes, its pot-like traps, man-made bunkers and expansive greens. It is blessed with turf such as is never seen in our area, winds that challenge every shot and a spirit of friendship which seems to be communicated without words among the people of all nationalities who play here.

(I'm writing this on a typewriter built in Sweden for Norwegians and if English doesn't come out of it it's because I'm Irish.)

Our tour group was in Edinburgh, Scotland, Friday, June 17, and "Sheduled" as the English and Scots say for a tour into the Trossachs lake country. The weather was threatening, as it usually seems to be here, but I decided to go on my own for the day. At 11 a.m. when the tour took off by bus, I went instead to a car rental agency, got a five minute briefing on how to drive on the left hand side of the highway, to negotiate the "Round abouts" and at 11:45 a.m. I took the rented Minor 1000 down highway A-90 for St. Andrews, Scotland.

I was next to last on the Queensborough ferry which crosses the Firth of Forth and first off the ferry, and with that traffic behind me pushing to get along, I made my first wrong turning. English highways are marked well enough before the turn, but there is nothing beyond the turns to inform you if you are on the proper road. For the next hour I asked questions, made route changes. In spite of being off the usual route for more than 30 miles I reached St. Andrews with a speedometer reading of 55 miles, five miles and about 45 minutes more than I had on the return trip when I was able to stay on the marked route.

St. Andrews, I was surprised to learn, is a public fee course, 7 shillings 6 to play which comes out so close to $1.00 I wondered how the borough of St. Andrews arrived at that figure. I went to the caddy house where Jack McAndrews found a sadly neglected, I thought at the time, set of clubs, and a bag to carry them in. However, those battered clubs were right in style I decided later after looking over the outfits other golfers were using. Here I believe, golfers have almost tender affection for the tools of the fairway. One of the men I played with, a Mr. Hughes from Montreal, Canada, had a set of Nicholsons, made before the days of chrome steel, but still shiny as the result of constant polishing. The other member of our threesome, a Scot named Dawson from Kirkcaldy up for an afternoon on the "Old Course" had slightly more modern clubs. I don't believe I have ever seen as many golf bags whose outward appearance recalled the bleached bones seen when traveling through the desert. This may have been a temporary situation, however, because all carts, which here means bag carrying hand propelled carts, have been banned from the "Old Course" until after the championships.

From Mr. McAndrews I also bought three golf balls, American size, 14 shillings 12 pence ("exactly $2.00 American") paid three shillings (52 cents) rent for the clubs and bag, and went to the public dressing rooms, one penny to get in, one shilling to check clothes and cameras while playing. Then to the starter.

To my query "Do I go alone, do I need a caddy to show me the way and carry my clubs" I got the answer "No laddie, two men just leaving and you may join them." That's how I met Mr. Hughes and Mr. Dawson.

There it was — famous St. Andrews, stretching out in front of me, 3253 yards going out and 3292 coming back, when all of the regular tees are being used. From the first tee you can see the home hole as well as the first and there isn't a bit of rough on either one. But there was a gale blowing straight into No. 1 tee that makes the winds on No. 3 at the Country Club seem like gentle zephyrs. That number one wood I was using didn't look familiar and my first shot soared up and away — out of bounds, into the road that leads to the half C shaped public bathing beach on the North Sea. My Canadian friend joined me in slicing out of bounds into the teeth of that wind, but our second shots were straight.

"There's a bairn in front of the green" our Scotch friend warned after I hit my third shot and saw it bounce lightly and roll barely onto the green. A Bairn? —it's a walled ditch about three feet wide, four feet deep with water flowing through it.

Hole Number Two through seven, follow around the curve of the half C, with small bushes along the right hand side all the way. Play straight and give the wind anywhere from 25 to 35 yards on wood shots up to 200 yards and you're in no trouble, but if you don't give that more or less steady gale that much, or if you slice, you're out of bounds and probably have lost a ball, which my Canadian companion did. I hit the second shot well toward the green of the 400 yard hole and went over to help him hunt in the prickly fir like bushes, and when I came back onto the fairway, the ball was missing. One of the three balls I bought was gone.

These St. Andrews fairways are unbelievable. Take a divot, and I did, examine it, and you will find the grass above the ground appears to be from a half to three quarters of an inch tall, and not too heavy (blades per square inch), and the roots not much over one half inch in the sandy, brown soil. It isn't blue grass as we know it, and it seems to be native to the area, something like a thin bladed bent. The ground cuts easily and cleanly when hit with irons, and the root system seems to make the divot hang together. This is sand dunes country but the dunes are so old that soil has been deposited on the sand, by that off shore wind which has made the larger bushes point toward the sea.

After leaving number one, the "Old Course" turns along the beach and these humpy grass covered dunes form the fairways for the next 16 holes. That is the dunes and the bunkers form the fairways. The traps and bunkers, many of which have names, pop up unexpectedly to the novice on the course. There is hardly a one that can be seen from the tees but that is one of the things that makes this course exciting. Your shot may take an unexpected bounce from the top or sides of a dune and run a long way either into or out of trouble.

And the greens — Jim Buckley, who has played the "Old Course" and perhaps the "New Course" and "Eden" during his stay in this area, had told me they are unbelievable in size and perfection. He was so right. The grass is not allowed to get over a quarter of an inch high and the greenskeepers mow with machines which have heavy rollers, in front of and behind the cutting blades. I didn't detect any odor of fertilizer around the greens but that may have been whipped away by the wind.

Some of the greens, many of which have two holes on them, one for the outward nine and the other for the inward nine, are about 100 yards long and from 35 to 50 yards wide. The greens for the two holes are joined without anything to indicate which is which.

Putting on these surfaces was delightful, but a new element entered into the calculations — WIND. Many of the greens are fairly flat without too many breaks, but they are so fast that the wind can change the course of the putt. It did mine on the hole where Bobby Jones took 17 strokes and then tore up his card years ago. I was on the uphill side in two six feet away and tapped true to the hole, but the wind pushed the shot off about an inch and half, the ball rocked as it went by the cup and when it stopped it was about 25 feet away.

After number seven, the course loops out to the right, turns about a right angle for number nine, another right for ten, and about a 45 degree turn for 11 to get on the outside for the return trip home. The inward nine about parallels the outward nine, except that now the wind fights the slice which still can go out of bounds, and will send a hook far off its proposed flight. The famous "Hells Bunker" caught my drive in its smaller arm—the bigger one is about ten feet deep and straight up—and my 8 iron put a big smile across the ball, as it barely hopped up on top. That was number two gone.

Using the last of the new balls on the famous "Road Hole" No. 16 the wind caught a slight hook and sent it across the fairway, and my second shot failed to clear the biggest of the prickly bushes. That ball was gone and I had to use old smiley to finish, which included playing off the Tarmac road behind the green.

We finished the 18 holes in 3 hours, 10 minutes, 5:25 p.m., and I got my movie outfit and walked back over the fairway to make a few shots. The fairways now are staked off for the championships as they are called and will be completely enclosed by rope when the tournament begins, the dressing room keeper, who caddied for Joe Kirkwood during one British Open told me. If you want to hear some golf stories, he'll keep you all night, but I had to break away for the trip back to Edinburgh.

Lest you think that all St. Andrews has is golf, come here and you'll find that it has the oldest "Univairsity" in Scotland—established in 1421. And in a city as old as this one is, tradition dies hard. On each of the tees at St. Andrews is a box containing sand—for tees and on each of the tees I noticed little splotches of sand. These Scots aren't buying "pegs" when the sand is free.

And another vignette from a day I'm certain I shall never forget . . . Just as I was leaving to get into the car for the trip back I noticed an elderly Scotch gentleman and his Scotch terrier coming toward the first tee, the dog making gleeful sounds and carrying something in his mouth. He walked onto the first tee, opened his mouth and dropped a golf ball which his master promptly put on a sand tee and knocked about 100 yards down the fairway. The dog raced away, came to the ball and sat down beside it and looked back up the fairway for his owner.

My score? — It didn't break either the best or worst — but I can say it was a wonderful experience to play "The Old Course."

'The Old Course' Still Reigns Over Golf World

* * *

On the northern shore of the Firth of Forth there's a little university town where the streets flame with scarlet gowns of students trending from coffee house to class. Their bicycles throng the sea shore and lean against the old city walls.

St. Andrews — what memories of blood and violence lie behind those quiet, almost prim walls, little changed in 200 years.

The castle and cathedral both lie in ruins from the religious wars of the 16th century.

"Aye," says the quiet little curator at the University museum, "nothing much has happened in St. Andrews since the murder of Cardinal Beaton in the 16th century — except, of course, for this little statue of Vishnu, from India — "

His eyes light up. "This little statue of Vishnu was responsible for the invention of the first gutta Percha golf ball."

Suddenly the little man's face is full of color and joy. The calm of the town seems to blow away on one of those mad west winds which whistle over St. Andrews—and you realize what justifies St. Andrews' existence.

Golf!

A stroll down to the sea-shore brings you to that vast expanse of four golf courses which is St. Andrews' pride and joy. Its green turfy expanse looks innocent but you've heard "the old course" is a terror of golfers.

By hole number one you stand somewhat awed. The greats of the game have been playing here for—it's hard to say how long.

But local Scots were scuffing leather balls stuffed with quarts of feathers off this tee before the father of Christopher Columbus was born.

This year they'll hold the centenary of the British Open championship on July 4-9. All the great names of golf from Bobby Jones to Sam Snead and Henry Cotton have appeared in the lists of this tournament.

But "the old course" will take it all in stride. Bobby Jones called this "the most fascinating course I have ever played." His judgment still stands.

It is one of those ancient British golf links which was "born" rather than made. Links, incidentally, is a word which existed before any golf course. It simply meant a grassy patch near the sea-shore which was used by rabbits for feeding, socializing and dancing.

The first golfers used the ready-made "dancing greens" for "putting" and the roads between them for fairways. Anything outside these thorofares was "rough."

Some of the hazards at St. Andrews are terrifying. Of Coffin Bunker one golfer reputedly said: "The man who invented this trap ought to have been buried in it with a mashie driven through his heart." One hole is known simply as "Hell Hole."

But to get back to the statue of Vishnu. It arrived at the University in 1845 from India, wrapped in a protective covering of the rubber-like material known as gutta percha. The Rev. Dr. Robert Adams Patterson, of the University faculty, fashioned it into a new kind of golf ball. He won more fame in St. Andrews than if he'd written a 10-volume theological work.

The modern golf ball, still wrapped in gutta percha, goes back to that little statue. Gutta percha is a substance which comes from the sap of a Malayan tree.

Golf and sea-bathing in spring, fall and summer, university life in the winter, that's St. Andrews. It's one of the reasons why golfers visiting Britain should take along their clubs. A round of the old course costs only 98 cents, and at the three other St. Andrews courses even less.

If you'd only like to watch, get yourself invited to the clubhouse of the Royal and Ancient, which has one of the finest views in the world. The Cross Keys in Market Street is a recommended gourmet spot for a bite to eat.

St. Andrews is near Pitlochry, Birnam Wood, the Grampian Highlands, Braemar, and many another beauty spot of Scotland. It's a must for the visitor to Scotland.

Despite Slump Of Palmer, Americans Maintain Cup Lead

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland (AP) —Stout-shouldered Sam Snead upheld the slumping Arnold Palmer by firing a bristling 5-under-par 67 Saturday which kept Uncle Sam's colors flying at the front of the International Trophy and Canada Cup Golf competition.

Palmer, his putting off, wandered around the 7,093-yard, par 36-36—72 Portmarnock course in 75—his worst round in months.

Snead's superb round gave him a 54-hole total of 206, three strokes better than the 209 by Belgium's Flory Van Donck, going into Sunday's 18 holes. The Yanks had a team total of 421, three shots better than the rallying South American team of wheezing Gary Player and crippled Bobby Locke and seven ahead of Australia's Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle, at 428.

[illegible] a catastrophe, the 48-year-old Snead stands to annex [illegible] individual championship in this eighth world series of professional golf. He shared the team title with Ben Hogan in 1956 — the last time the Americans won.

Outside of Van Donck, Snead's chief rivals were Gary Player of South Africa and Peter Thomson of Australia at 211. Palmer was nine shots behind at 215.

The old warhorse from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was a majestic figure as he swaggered over the seaside links in his familiar cocoanut straw hat and bright yellow sweater.

Often booming his drives as much as 340 and 350 yards—with a wind at his back—he started with a birdie 3 after almost driving the 388-yard first green and was off and running.

Palmer, winner of the U.S. Masters and Open titles this year, was a pathetic figure as he struggled to whip the putting "yips" and soon found his entire game falling in shreds.

Time and again he missed putts of six and seven feet until his failures soon had a psychological effect on his normally imperturbable game.

Braves Survive Shaky 9th Inning For 4-2 Verdict

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves called on their old warhorse, southpaw Warren Spahn, to survive a shaky ninth inning and beat the Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday 4-2.

Spahn relieved young Ron Piche with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth. He retired Norm Larker on a fly to left field. It saved the victory for right-hander Bob Buhl, now 8-3. Buhl, whose lifetime record is 23-9 against the Dodgers, was pulled out of a jam in the seventh by Piche, who in turn had to be rescued by Spahn.

The Dodgers filled the bases on Piche in the ninth on John Roseboro's single and two walks. Then, with two out, Spahn cut off the threat.

Red Schoendienst's first homer of the season highlighted the Milwaukee attack against Don Drysdale, who lasted only four innings in suffering his 10th defeat against four victories and his sixth loss in a row. It was Schoendienst's first homer since Sept. 27, 1958 since he missed nearly the entire 1959 campaign due to his bout with tuberculosis.

Drysdale, McDevitt (5), Palmquist (5), L. Sherry (7) and Roseboro; Buhl, Piche (7), Spahn (9) and Lau. W—Buhl (8-3). L—Drysdale (4-10).

Home run—Milwaukee, Schoendienst (1).

CHAMP PLANS TOUR

NEW YORK (AP) — Cus D'Amato, manager of Floyd Patterson, said Saturday the heavyweight champion planned a European exhibition tour "within a month or so."

D'Amato said attempts were being made to arrange exhibitions in England, France, Germany, Italy and in Sweden.

A trip to Sweden would invade the home country of Ingemar Johansson, who lost his title to Patterson last Monday night in the New York Polo Grounds.

Moehling Becomes Youngest Player To Win Men's Title

SAVOY, Ill. (AP) — Nineteen-year-old Ed Moehling of Mount Prospect won the Men's State Amateur Golf Championship Saturday, defeating Joel Hirsch of Highland Park, 2 and 1.

Moehling is the youngest ever to capture the crown. Hirsch also is only 19.

One down after the morning round of the 36-hole final, Moehling evened the match on the 30th then took the 34th and 35th to grab the title.

The two teen-age college students, playing in perfect weather, were close together through the match. Both finished the morning round with 79s on the long University of Illinois course. Par is 72.

The winner was never ahead in the match until he birdied the par-4 28th hole. Hirsch took the lead back by taking the next two holes, but Moehling evened it up on the 30th.

After matching strokes on the next three, Moehling sank a 15-foot putt to take the par-4 34th. Then he birdied the par-3 35th to walk off with the honors.

Jack Jordan Quits Football Post At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE — Roodhouse Community High school has lost its football coach, Jack Jordan, whose teams have won all games for four consecutive years. Coach Jordan was also in charge of the track teams. Mr. Jordan will go to Dixon where he will serve as head coach with a big increase in salary. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan and four children have been active in school and church affairs. He is a teacher in the Sunday school and is Sunday school superintendent and deacon of the First Baptist church. His wife holds offices in the women's organizations, and he is a member of the local Rotary Club.

Nelson Fox played in his 726th consecutive game at second base June 18. He last missed a game on August 5, 1955. The old record was 477 games in a row by Eddie Collins.

AUTO STUNT DRIVERS TO PERFORM HERE

One of the nation's top auto "daredevils" acts, International Auto Daredevils, will be a featured attraction at Morgan County Fairgrounds on Friday, July 8th at 8:30 p.m., it was announced Saturday.

The 28-stunt, hour and forty-five minute performance will include such classic, high-speed thrill maneuvers as the bone-crushing "t-bone" crash, the two-wheel drive and the famed reverse spin.

High spot of the program will be a ramp-to-ramp "flight" of a standard 1960 convertible, which will hurtle over 70 feet through the air.

The program features nine 1960 stock model cars, old automobiles used in crash and rollover maneuvers, three trucks and a giant flatbed trailer. Equipment used in the performances is valued at over $100,000.

Teeter was killed that year at Indianapolis while attempting a ramp-to-ramp jump, similar to that which the Auto Daredevils now do.

Stunt driving programs such as this one had their origin back in the 1920's with the development of the steel top on vehicles and the growth of road testing of cars by automobile firms.

The auto test drivers took up the stunt driving as a sideline. The "sideline," however, soon developed into a major sport and entertainment.

Kochman, 51, is a veteran of 33 years in the field of auto racing and stunt driving, starting as a teenager with a soda pop concession at Hohokus, New Jersey speedway, near his birthplace of Paterson, New Jersey. He has promoted midget auto races, stock car races and motorcycle races during his career.

Though some of the stunts which the Kochman drivers perform are considered highly dangerous — New York City once banned his famed "t-bone" crash as too ricky to be done on public land — the skill of the drivers plus the sturdiness of the stock vehicles he uses have prevented death during a performance. There have been numerous injuries, however.

Townships To Nominate Candidates For Queen Of Morgan County Fair

Candidates for the coveted title of Miss Morgan County Fair this year will be representatives from the eighteen townships in the county. Chairmen of the townships are responsible for selecting two girls from their respective areas for this contest.

This year the Women's Division, Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, is sponsoring the contest for Miss Morgan County Fair, the winner of which will enter the Miss Illinois County Fair Queen contest to be held next January in Springfield at the annual meeting of the Illinois County Fair Association.

A number of social events will be scheduled for the young girls. Candidates for the contest must be 15 years of age and not over 21 years by the date of the contest Aug. 4th. They must be single and never married and a bonafide resident of the area (township) they represent.

No professional model will be considered so all competition is on an equal amateur basis. Judging for the honor will be on attractiveness; poise and stage presence, and personality. The girls will wear floor length or ballerina length formals and bathing suits in their appearances.

Chairmen Have Applications

Letters have been sent to all township chairmen with application blanks for two entries. The deadline for each sponsoring township to submit entries is July 15th. Included with each entry must be an 8 by 10 inch picture of the candidate. A township may enter just one candidate, but not more than two pictures. The submitted pictures will be returned after the Fair.

Competent Supervision

The contest will be supervised by competent persons and each girl will receive adequate instruction as to appearance and conduct. From the possible 36 entries there will be chosen 18 Miss Townships; from this number nine finalists will be named. Plans are for many social activities and courtesies for all the girls entering in the Miss Morgan County Fair contest. The winner will receive a number of valuable gifts.

The opening contest at the Fairgrounds will be at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 4th, and the finals Friday evening, Aug. 5th, the same time.

All 18 girls will be seen in a gala parade on Thursday, Aug. 4, Jacksonville Day at the Morgan County Fair. The procession will form near the business district, proceed around the public square and continue in a motorized procession to the Fairgrounds. The parade will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock.

Isabelle Craig Baptist's Father Dies At Quincy

Word has been received here of the death on Friday of Walter H. Craig of Clayton, Illinois (Adams county), father of Mrs. Isabelle Craig Baptist, former Jacksonville resident now living in Clayton. Mr. Craig died in Blessing Hospital at Quincy following a brief illness.

The deceased was president of the Clayton State Bank and prominent in the area. He had been a banker and farmer the past 55 years. A graduate of Knox College in 1905 he was a member of the Illinois Bankers Association and officer in District Five (Jacksonville area) and trustee the past 40 years of the Clayton Presbyterian church and former member of the school board there.

Mrs. Baptist formerly taught at Jacksonville High School and Mr. Baptist, when a resident of this city, was employed at Ideal Baking Company. When the Baptist's resided in Jacksonville they lived at 954 West Lafayette avenue.

Mr. Craig was born Nov. 27, 1882 at Clayton. His wife preceded him in death six years ago. He is survived by one daughter and a grandson, Craig Baptist.

The body is at the Seeley funeral home at Clayton. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Federated Clayton church with interment to be made in Clayton cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Brewer Dies Saturday At Our Saviour's

Mrs. Mary Brewer, widow of Charles Brewer, died at 5:15 a.m. Saturday at Our Saviour's Hospital where she had been a patient since Friday. She was a former Meredosia resident, but had resided for the past seven years with a sister, Mrs. Martin Driscoll, 146 Howe Street in Jacksonville.

She was born Feb. 5, 1869, in Crawford County, Ind. She is survived only by a sister, Mrs. Driscoll; and several nieces and nephews including D. M. Driscoll and Mrs. L. E. Perry of Jacksonville.

Mrs. Brewer was a member of the Church of Our Saviour where funeral services will be held at 8:30 a.m. Monday morning. Burial will be in Forest Grove cemetery, Canton, Mo.

The body is at the Schaefer Funeral Home in Meredosia, but will be brought to the Driscoll residence on Howe Street today. Friends may call at the residence Sunday evening. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Newcomers Club Meeting Held At Triple Flame

The Jacksonville Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club met Tuesday, June 21, in the banquet room of the Triple Flame Steak House. The president, Mrs. Victor was in charge.

Guests introduced included Mrs. Dean Andrews, Mrs. Donald Atkins, Mrs. Herman Siemers, Mrs. Albert Miller, Mrs. Ronald Harpole, Mrs. Dale Brown and Mrs. Glenn Reid.

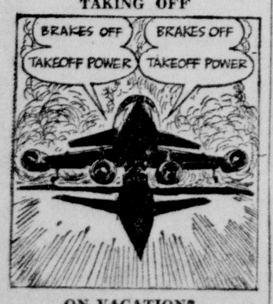

Elections were held to fill two vacancies and Mrs. Albert Stein was elected assistant secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Howard DeGroot was elected program chairman.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. Cindy Tibey and Mrs. Dale Brown. After the meeting bridge was played. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. James Carter, Mrs. C. R. Goss, Mrs. John Mullenix and Mrs. Elaine Hines.

Young Democrats Name Local Man State Secretary

Other officers elected were Roger Seaman of Chicago, first vice president; Dave Levinson of Highland Park, second vice president; Tom Washington of Chicago, third vice president; Carroll Houston of Jacksonville, secretary; and Sidney Sexner of Chicago, treasurer.

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Otto Kerner, Democratic candidate for governor, said Saturday "another dramatic instance of bossism in the Republican party" was the appointment of Atty. Gen. William L. Guild of Wheaton.

Kerner, speaking at the annual convention dinner of the Young Democrats of Illinois, referred to Gov. Stratton's appointment of the Du Page County judge, Guild, to fill the unexpired term of the late Atty. Gen. Grenville Beardsley.

Kerner said Illinois Republicans are disunited in rebellion against Stratton commands. Meanwhile, Kerner said, Democrats are united because "no man dictates."

Cole Funeral Held Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Betty Cole, widow of Dr. Charles E. Cole, were held at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning at the Williamson funeral home. Rev. Gerald Miller, pastor of Central Christian church, officiated.

Transport Hits, Wrecks Traffic Light And Base

A traffic signal light and standard at the northeast corner of South Main street and Morton avenue was knocked down and completely smashed by a transport truck at 12:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Clifton C. Shoemaker of Griggsville, driver of a 1954 International stock truck and trailer, told Patrolman Herbert Dodsworth that he swerved to miss a southbound automobile, and hit the signal light.

Shoemaker was making a right turn from East Morton to South Main at the time of the accident. The light and base were shattered into about 15 pieces and the debris was hauled away. A new light will be obtained from the distributor at Moline, Ill.

Traffic lights on other corners of the intersection were not affected by the accident.

COLLECTORS ADMIRE 'OLD TIMERS'

The pair of "long toms" at right are known as Kentucky short-stock percussion rifles of 1850 vintage. The beautiful wood stocks are trimmed with solid brass fittings.

All four are in shooting condition. The pistols are owned by Mr. Lambke of Rockford. He owns a furniture store and enjoys the hobby on weekends. Mr. Tubbs is also from Rockford and makes a living as a machine tool grinder. Mr. Verslus hails from Waterloo, Iowa, and is retired. He spends most of his time collecting antique guns, coins and other items. Pappas is the owner of the hall where the quarterly gun shows are held.

Sixty-six exhibitors are in attendance from seven states. Included are several local collectors of guns, coins and other relics.

There is no charge to visit the gun show. Several items are for sale; others for display purposes only.

Self-Inflicted Wound Fatal To Modesto Man

A 59-year-old Macoupin county man was pronounced dead shortly after arrival Saturday at Passavant hospital where he was taken after relatives found his body at his home nine miles southwest of Modesto, Ill. Willie Owen Stone was pronounced dead at 12:13 p.m. Saturday. Cause of death was a self inflicted gunshot wound.

A coroner's jury conducting an investigation at the Neece Funeral Home in Waverly determined Saturday night the wound caused with a .22 caliber rifle was self-inflicted sometime between 10:15 and 11 a.m. Saturday morning. Stone was discovered at 11 a.m. by his wife, Viva, who was returning from Waverly.

Reports of the investigation by county officials show that Mrs. Stone, accompanied by two sons, Duane and Merle of Waverly, left the Stone home about 9 a.m. and went to Waverly. Stone was home alone. The family returned about 11 a.m. and Mrs. Stone entered the house and found Mr. Stone lying on the floor with the rifle across his body. He was shot through the forehead.

Mrs. Stone summoned the two sons who took the body to a doctor's office in Waverly, from where it was rushed by Neece Ambulance to Passavant Hospital. Stone entered the hospital at 12:05 a.m. and was pronounced dead eight minutes later.

Members of the jury conducting the investigation were Richard McClain, foreman, Alfred Lythel, Otto Taylor, Lloyd Staton, William Lyons and Stanley Thomas. Coroner E. O. Sample conducted the inquest.

Mr. Stone had been a patient at the local State Hospital at various times during his life. He was a native of Kentucky, born Oct. 14, 1900, the son of Dorsey and Harriett Stevenson. He is survived by his mother who resides at Caneville, Ky.; his wife; four sons, Duane and Merle of Waverly, Norville of Springfield and Gilbert serving with the U. S. Navy; two daughters, Mrs. Violet DeLay of Whittier, Calif., and Mrs. Madeline Swaggerty of Modesto, Calif.

He also leaves four brothers, Everett of Springfield, Walker of Springfield, Raymond of Louisville, Ky., and Rolland of Hillsboro; one sister, Mrs. Dolly Magee of Alton; and twelve grandchildren.

Plan Share - The - Fun Contest In Winchester

By Dorothy Sauer
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone Pioneer 2-3439)

WINCHESTER — The annual "Share the Fun" contest for Scott County 4-H'ers will be held in Winchester this Tuesday, June 28, in the auditorium of the Winchester High School commencing at 7:30 p.m.

This annual countywide event, where members of both Agricultural and Home Economics Club turn on their talent, is expected to attract a full house of parents and friends, according to Bob Coffman, assistant Scott county farm adviser.

Thus far in the "funfest" there are twelve acts scheduled. Four entrants in the "Master of Ceremonies" division will be introducing acts which are either classified as dances, stunts, or musical numbers.

It is suggested by Mr. Coffman that, if you wonder what can develop when youngsters turn their imagination loose, you should be sure and attend this annual event being held this Tuesday, June 28, 7:30 p.m. at the Winchester High School.

Fabric Store To Open

The City of Winchester will have a new store open for business this Monday, June 27, which will be known as "Winchester Fabrics." The store is located on South Hill Street in the building formerly occupied by the Harding Floral Company. Mrs. Fern Fletcher and Mrs. Ronald Gillman are partners in the new business venture.

The owners have announced that their grand opening date will be July 1 and 2 with free gifts, door prizes and special prices. The public is invited to visit the store and register for the prizes.

The new store, which has been completely redecorated inside, will feature a large selection of fabrics, as well as a large variety of miscellaneous notions that are needed in sewing. The shop will also feature a line of patterns.

Mrs. Fletcher and Mrs. Gillman will also do custom sewing and alteration work at the shop. Store hours are from 9 to 5 through the week and from 9 to 9 on Saturdays.

Recent Brides

Mrs. Richard Rigdon Middendorf

Sharon Kelly June Bride

Miss Sharon Marie Kelly and Richard Rigdon Middendorf were united in marriage Sunday, June 19, at four o'clock at the Grace Methodist Church. Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Kelly, Franklin, and Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Middendorf, 1740 South Diamond street.

Dr. Frank Marston performed the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with ferns, lavender gladioli and white mums.

Mrs. G. O. Webster was organist and Effie Tannahill, soloist sang "I Love You Truly," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Because."

The bride chose as her attendants Miss Nadine Negus of Alexander; Miss Susan Hart of Franklin; Miss Gladys Clemmons, Jacksonville; and Miss Sherry Carver, Jacksonville.

Attendants to the groom were Garland Middendorf, David Middendorf, both brothers of the groom, William Massey and William Thomson. Ushers were Dick Cody, Jim Black, Russell Keirl, Dave Bone, John Sutphen, Ron Baker, and Ronie Fearneyhough.

Given In Marriage

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk organza gown with tiers of scalloped embroidered ruffles. The square neckline was finished with scallops. Her head piece was of organza petals from which a sweeping veil fell.

A cascade of white carnations centered with a detachable orchid corsage showered with satin ribbons completed her outfit.

The attendants wore gowns styled alike in pastel colors of lilac, pink, mint green and powder blue organdy over taffeta, street length, scoop neck with a butterfly bow in the back. Their hats with short veils and shoes were tinted to match.

Reception At Church

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement, Loretta Seymour was in charge of the decorations of lilac and white. Ferns with gladioli blossoms were around the tables. The five tiered cake, baked by Mrs. Glenna Mae Whitlock, was served with a lilac punch.

On leaving for a honeymoon to Evansville, Indiana, the former Miss Kelly was wearing white linen with blue embroidery, white picture hat and blue shoes. Upon return from their trip the couple will make their home at 1215 West College Ave., Jacksonville.

The bride graduated from Franklin High school with the class of 1959 and is employed at the Hertzberg Book Bindery. The bridegroom graduated from Jacksonville High school in 1959 and is attending Hardin Brown's Business College.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rigdon Middendorf

Special guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cline, Franklin, and her grandmother, Mrs. Curt Kelly, Manchester; the groom's grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Rigdon. Out of town guests were from Valparaiso, Ind., Indianapolis, Ind., Hannibal, Mo., Killduff, Iowa, Carrollton, Roodhouse, White Hall, Waverly, Virginia, Bluffs, Chapin, Arenzville, Literberry, New Berlin, Quincy and Paxton, Illinois.

Thompson, Hamm Wedding Held At Rushville Church

VERSAILLES — The McLyiere Methodist church in Rushville was the scene of the wedding of Miss Suzanne Thompson of Rushville and Larry E. Hamm of Astoria on June 17. The Rev. Dean Wright of Rushville performed the double ring ceremony before a gathering of near relatives and friends.

The bride's attendant was Miss Jeri Lynne Ehrenhart of Farmington, a cousin of the bride. The bride was attired in a white silk street length dress with matching hat; her attendant chose blue with a matching hat. Their corsages were of white carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson of Rushville. She graduated from the Rushville High school this year. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Hamm of near Astoria.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church. After a short wedding trip, the couple returned to the home they had in readiness near Astoria. Mrs. Jennie Hume, grandmother of the bride, attended the ceremony.

Family Gathers

Mr. and Mrs. Del Fluckey and sons entertained at dinner Sunday a group of relatives, in observance of Father's Day and also a homecoming welcome for M/Sgt. and Mrs. L. O. Dewitt and five children of Middleton, Pa., who arrived Saturday for a visit.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Turner and family, Mrs. Nina Buchanan and family, Miss Helen Fluckey of Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. George Gerard and family of Rushville and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fluckey and family of Mt. Sterling.

Pittsfield Girl Wed In Church Ceremony

PITTSFIELD — Miss Elizabeth McHose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. McHose, Pittsfield, and Judson F. Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Parker, Lancaster, Pennsylvania, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, June 19, at the First Methodist church in Pittsfield.

The Rev. Newell E. Davis of Wesley Methodist church, Urbana, performed the double ring ceremony assisted by Rev. Ernest H. Dulin, minister of the First Methodist church, Pittsfield.

The altar was decorated with two tall baskets of white gladioli, branched candelabra holding white tapers and vases of white daisies on the altar table.

Mrs. Alan Heaton, Murrayville, a college friend, was organist. She played sacred music before the ceremony. The processional was "Solemn Processional," Handel and the recessional, "Psalm XIX," Marcello.

The soloist was Mrs. A. W. Schimmel, Jr. of Pittsfield who sang "O Perfect Love," "The Greatest of These is Love," and "O Lord Most Holy."

Wears White

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of pure silk organza. The basque fitting bodice was accented by a soft draped sleeve and scoop neckline appliqued with jeweled Chantilly lace. On her head the bride wore a lace crown trimmed with sequins and pearls attached to a finger-tip French illusion veil. To complete the outfit she wore organza mitts and carried a bouquet of stephonotis and a white orchid overlayed on her white Bible.

The maid of honor wore a nile green organza styled with a criss-cross cummerbund, accenting the bouffant skirt. The bodice was graced by a draped sleeve and a scoop neckline in front dropping to a modified V in the back. In her hair she wore a Nile green organza band trimmed with pearls and a circular short veil. She wore matching green mitts and carried a cascade of white daisies.

Reception Follows Ceremony

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Pittsfield Community Center. The bridal table, decorated in green and white, was covered with white linen. Green tapers in candelabra, a low bowl of daisies, and tall baskets of white gladioli at either end of the table centered the four tiered wedding cake. A green sherbet punch was served with the cake.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Kenneth A. Brons, Haddonfield, New Jersey, Mrs. S. Dean Albrecht, Ohio, Ill., sister of the groom; Ruth Miller, Lincoln, Mrs. Richard Pelle and Mrs. Leroy Orr, Pittsfield.

The couple, on return from their wedding trip, will live in Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

The bride is a graduate of Pittsfield High school. She attended MacMurray College and graduated from the University of Illinois with a bachelor of science degree in music education. She has been elementary music teacher in Urbana, Illinois the past year.

The groom graduated from the University of Illinois with a bachelor of science degree in physics. He plans to enter the ministry.

EBENEZER GIRLS HOLD MEETING AT NORTH JACKSONVILLE

The regular meeting of the Ebenezer Girls 4-H Club was held June 14 at 2:00 p.m. at the North Jacksonville school. The meeting was called to order by vice-president, Jane Hadden. The 4-H pledge was led by Virginia Ward and the American pledge by Peggy Keehner. Roll call was answered by "What planet we would like to visit." The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Talks were given by Kay Jones: kinds of quick breads; Lou Ann Burrus, suggestions and precautions for an outdoor meal; and Judy Walpole, interfacings.

A demonstration was given by Virginia Ward on handmade and machine made buttonholes.

Refreshments were served by Virginia Ward and Joann Clayton. A short practice for Share-the-Fun followed the meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the North Jacksonville School June 28 at 2:00 p.m.

Miss Reba Brown Becomes Bride Of Gary Priest

BLUFFS—Miss Reba Ann Brown became the bride of Gary Priest Saturday evening, June 18, in a 7:30 o'clock double ring ceremony. The vows were pledged in the Baptis church at Louisiana, Mo. The church's pastor, the Rev. Cecil P. Logan, read the marriage service.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Janie Drake of Winchester, aunt of the bridegroom. His attendant was John Brown, brother of the bride. Relatives also guests at the wedding were Mrs. John Brown and Mac Priest.

The bride chose for her wedding a white summer frock with pink accessories and a pink carnation corsage. Mrs. Drake wore a street length afternoon dress and a white corsage. The bridegroom wore a dark business suit; Mr. Brown wore a summer white coat with dark trousers. Both had white carnation boutonnieres.

Following a weekend honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Priest established residence in the second floor apartment above the Bluffs Post Office.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Reba Elizabeth Brown of Winchester, rural route, and was a junior in the Bluffs High School this past year. Her bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Priest of Bluffs, is a 1960 graduate of Bluffs High School and is an employee of the Bluffs Times.

Evening Unit

The Bluffs Evening Unit of Home Bureau met Monday evening, June 20, in the school lunch room with members of the Winchester Unit as guests.

Miss Hazel Graves, home adviser, gave the lesson, "Health Fads and Frauds." She pointed out that millions are spent every year on unprescribed but highly advertised remedies, reliefs, and cures which may be of no help and can be harmful. "Always consult your doctors before purchasing and taking any drug or medicine," she stressed.

Mrs. Helen Sapp presented a book review, "A Station Wagon in Spain," by Keys. The review was very timely, as a fraudulent letter was the theme of the story.

Mrs. Norman Vortman, Bluffs Unit Chairman, called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock. Eleven Bluffs members and 15 Winchester members answered roll call with "famous lovers." Mrs. George Krusa, Mrs. Carl Stegemann and Mrs. Raymond Morris were guests from the Bluffs Day Unit.

Combs-Atnip Vows Exchanged At Carrollton

CARROLLTON—Miss Geraldine Atnip, daughter of Mrs. Mary Nichols, Carrollton, became the bride of Rollin Combs, son of Mrs. Mary Taylor, Carrollton, in a wedding ceremony performed by the Rev. Francis Varble Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Faith Baptist church in Carrollton.

The bride chose for her wedding a blue lace street length dress with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Harry Flowers wore a beige nylon dress with white accessories and also a corsage of white carnations. Harry Flowers was the groomsman.

Mr. and Mrs. Combs are making their home here on Bonfoy street. Combs is an employee of Ray H. Roll and Company.

Glenna Williams Becomes Bride In Rockford

MANCHESTER — Miss Glenna Yvonne Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Williams of Manchester, became the bride of James Dale Hovland June 18 in Rockford, Illinois. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hovland of Beloit, Wisconsin.

The evening wedding was solemnized in the Zion Lutheran Church with the Rev. Joseph Conrod officiating.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. David Houghton, Mt. Morris; Mrs. Edward Strohern, Rockford; Mrs. Frank Whitehead, Rockford, bridesmatrons, and matron of honor, Mrs. Nolan Rogers of Rockford. The flower girl was Debbie Houghton, Mt. Morris.

Attendants to the groom were Lee Knuckles, Rockford; Ronnie Tetschka, Beloit; and Leonard Faith, Rockford. The best man was Lee Hovland, Beloit.

The bride wore a silk organza and rosepoint type lace with sequins and pearl embroidered motifs on the skirt, and Sabrina neckline. On her head she wore a crown veil with sequins and pearls. She carried a white orchid on a Bible.

Her attendants wore sheer nylon tricot over orchid taffeta in ballerina length. The little flower girl was dressed in white nylon with white gloves and shoes.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Y.M.C.A. Woodside branch lodge.

After a two weeks wedding trip in the southern states, the couple will be at home at 719 Seventeenth Ave., Rockford.

The bride is employed at the National Lock as secretary in the sales department. She graduated from Williamsville High School, Williamsville, Ill. The groom attended Beloit High School and is now employed at the Barber Colman Co. in the graphic arts department.

The Long View

Genuine sadness must certainly grip many Americans who look back on President Eisenhower's now completed trip to the Far East.

It may well be true, as Secretary of State Herter conceded to a Senate committee, that the State Department misjudged the gravity of the situation that caused the collapse of his visit to Japan.

It is surely true that good will tours of this nature do not of themselves make peace and do not represent policy action toward that goal.

Yet it is a bitter commentary on the state of the world and the character of our Communist adversary that the head of a great nation should not be permitted to move freely about the globe, in the simple cause of good will.

Millions hungry for peace must wonder why a purpose so plainly decent and earnest as Mr. Eisenhower's had to be thwarted by riots in Japan and marked for contempt by Red Chinese shell fire against the mainland of Quemoy.

We understand well enough that anything which adds to the solidarity of the free and independent nations is a handicap to Moscow and Peiping.

Nevertheless, it is hard to grasp why they think they can reap advantage from gestures so openly brutal.

Whatever they mean to the Communist world, Mr. Eisenhower's trips in the eyes of most of the world are harmless moves. Their goal has been the enlargement of friendship and understanding, the creation of a warmer atmosphere in which all nations might progress more resolutely toward peace.

To the extent that these trips are discredited by recent events, the result is of course a diplomatic block to the United States and its allies. Herter suggests there may never be another such journey by the President.

Yet the long range balance may not be against us on this matter. The millions in Asia, Africa and Latin America whom the Communists want to have join them can hardly have been made to feel easier by developments.

What gain can there be for them in "friendship" with a totalitarian bloc which finds it necessary to undermine and besmirch the simplest displays of international good feeling?

More clearly than before, they are likely to see now that where Communists are concerned, the bond of friendship is a handcuff.

Footnote

Not very many of us would relish the thought of walking steadily for over two months across the breadth of the United States like those two British army sergeants. Yet not a few people must have envied them.

How much of this country they must have seen that we automatic Americans miss as we whiz along our superhighways—or are too frustrated and angry to see as we creep along a Sunday-crowded road.

Walking tours have always been a tradition in the compact British Isles. Over here it could be a dangerous pastime, as witness the accident to that other cross-country stroller, Dr. Barbara Moore.

Still there must be a lot of undiscovered beauty in our own localities that a little walking tour along a back road could reveal. It might be worth a try, anyway, as a relief from summer TV reruns.

Does Nixon Want to Run Against Kennedy?—Just Waitin'—Mutual Admiration—Some Dig

By PETER EDSON
Newspaper Enterprise
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— Vice President Richard M. Nixon has been saying consistently that he thinks the Democratic presidential nominee will be Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Some Democrats say Nixon emphasizes this because he wants Kennedy for an opponent, believing him the easiest to beat.

Some Republicans say privately that they think Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson would be harder for Nixon to defeat than Kennedy, though the polls so far haven't shown it.

RECENT VISITORS to the home of former presidential assistant Sherman Adams in New Hampshire bring back the word that he's sitting up there, waiting for somebody in Washington to summon him back to help the Republicans straighten out their problems. But nobody calls.

SENATORS Richard Russell of Georgia and John F. Kennedy of Mascachusetts are both Democrats, but they probably differ about more issues than they agree on. They got in a little dispute over repeal of the student loyalty oath the other day and this exchange took place:

Russell: "The senator travels among intellectuals more than I do."

Kennedy: "I am in the company of one now."

Russell: "I thank the senator. I am totally disarmed."

SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER (R-Ariz.) got in a dirty dig at the inconsistency of liberals during this same debate on the loyalty oath repealer.

"When the Texas Democratic convention was held in Austin," said Senator Goldwater, "one of the great victories obtained by the majority leader of the Senate (Lyndon B. Johnson) was over the liberal wing which demanded a signed pledge from each state delegate to support the party's nominee in November. . . .

"Here they are, insisting upon a pledge and an oath. But these same liberals will turn around and say, 'Oh, no, we can't require the Communists to take an oath or a young American to declare his loyalty to his country.'

"One of the most interesting things I have noticed in my eight years in the Senate is that the people who speak the loudest about rights are the very first to demand the same perogatives when it is advantageous for them to do so."

The GOP sheet is called "Battle Line." The Dems' rag is called "Dispelling the Fog."

"BATTLE LINE" sample— "Part of Senator Kennedy's trouble in the realm of foreign affairs is due to his complete inexperience. In addition, however, the people apparently remember that he has fumbled badly on the few occasions he has ventured into foreign affairs."

"DISPELLING the Fog" sample —"The fable that Mr. Nixon has been equipped for the presidency by sitting in on the making of high policy for eight years has been brutally punctured. . . . Asked to comment on the apparent (at that time) intention to continue U-2 spy flights over Russia, he responded: . . . 'We have to.' . . . Actually, the decision had been made three days earlier to suspend the flights. Evidently nobody bothered to give Dick a buzz on the telephone."

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Emmy is now in her teens and shows signs of growing up.

The 12th of the television academy award festivals has come and gone, and for once, everyone seems happy with it. No one can argue with the presentation of acting awards to Ingrid Bergman and Laurence Olivier.

This year's event did away with a lot of the incongruities of the past. A major advance is the awarding of prizes by the season, rather than the calendar year. The movies have no season, so it makes sense to bunch film awards into a year's product. But the TV bigtime extends from September to June and its awards should be seasonal.

The academy wisely put an end to its long attempt to award everything in sight. The number of Emmies was cut in half this year, and the present total is just about right.

There are still some inanities in the selections. It's hard to see the logic of having individual shows run against series. For instance, weekly programs like Danny Thomas's and Dinah Shore's were pitted against a single Art Carney special. It was not surprising that the Carney show won.

For a long time, reporters covering the Emmies were hard put to figure out which were the most important awards. This issue is clearcut with the Oscars: The best actor and actress naturally get the top attention. But the Emmy categories were so diverse that it was hard to narrow down which deserved the headlines.

Last Monday night's awards settled it. The top TV awards are those for best actor and actress in a single performance. A category that has an Olivier and a Bergman as winners has got to be tops

Can't-Lie-to-You Frankness Is Fine—But Soft Pedal It

Ever since the rigged quiz show scandals, TV has been bending over backward to be frank with its home audience.

They have even gone so far in the "it ain't exactly what it seems" explanations that after striving to seem unrehearsed, the "Person to Person" Show now ends with a "we-can't-lie-to-you" apology that goes something like this:

"This show has involved preplanning with guests as to what to show and what to discuss."

Let's hope TV doesn't expect the rest of us to be that conscientious.

Think of the poor grandmother who could no longer say brightly, when asked about her grandchildren:

"I just happen to have some snapshots in my purse."

The poor dear, to be completely honest, would have to say:

"I put these snapshots in my purse hoping I would get a chance to show them."

And the hostess who invites you to a "small party" would have to add:

"Who am I trying to kid? When I invite 25 for a buffet supper it's no small party as far as I'm concerned. It's a major production."

The high school girl who spends a semester trying to attract the attention of the captain of the football team couldn't even act disinterested when he began to notice her. She would have to 'fess up with:

"Well, it's about time you found out I'm alive. I've done everything but trip you to make you really look at me."

Even presidential candidates would have to quit playing coy and some right out and say "I want to be president and I'll do almost anything to get the nomination" instead of pretending that they would only consider the job if they were drafted.

I tell you that if TV doesn't quit being so self-righteously above board it is going to play heck with the rest of us.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Truman is away out of step with the presidential candidates of his own Democratic party.

Just a few days ago Truman made a plea for bipartisanship in foreign policy. He said he'd fuss with President Eisenhower "on local affairs but on foreign affairs people ought to back him up."

But before and after he said it the Democratic candidates were already lacing into Eisenhower's handling of foreign affairs, making it clear that they consider foreign policy a major issue in the 1960 campaign.

The one candidate who'd be happy if all Democrats shared Truman's view is Vice President Richard M. Nixon who, since he was so much a part of the Eisenhower administration, will have to defend it from attack.

There's Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, majority leader of the Senate Democrats. Until recently he was playing the role of the great pacifier and spreader of oil on troubled waters. He tried to quiet Senate criticism of foreign policy after the U2 plane incident.

But Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democrats' front-runner for the nomination, wouldn't listen and went along merrily blasting Eisenhower's handling of foreign affairs.

Johnson, either because he changed his mind or thought he'd better get moving if he hoped to stop Kennedy, began booming the foreign policy issue himself.

Now he's calling the Eisenhower foreign policy a policy of "drift" and is accusing the administration of a "depressing lack of new ideas."

On June 14 Kennedy not only went after the Eisenhower foreign policy but produced a detailed foreign program of his own.

He said the real issue of foreign policy is: "The lack of long-range preparation, the lack of policy planning, the lack of a coherent and purposeful national strategy backed by strength. . .

"As a substitute for policy, Mr. Eisenhower has tried smiling at the Russians; our State Department has tried frowning on them; and Mr. Nixon has tried both. None have succeeded."

Thursday night Adlai Stevenson, who refuses to say he's a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination but still won't take himself out of consideration, seemed to be wearing two hats.

He said both parties should keep Premier Nikita Khrushchev out of the campaign. He said the Russian's aim "is American weakness and disunity."

But almost immediately, as if he were having second thoughts, Stevenson said there is a need for a full and frank discussion of the international situation. How this can be done without bringing Khrushchev into it is, at the moment, a Stevensonian secret.

Even Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Truman's choice for the Democratic nomination, has been critical of the Eisenhower foreign policy.

So among Democrats Truman, whose own handling of foreign policy was roundly assailed by Eisenhower in the 1952 campaign, stands alone in avoiding criticism of Eisenhower on foreign affairs.

Not even New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who'd like to get the Republican nomination, has kept quiet on the subject. He's made it clear he definitely thinks American foreign policy needs improving.

Nixon, as the Republican candidate, may offer some new ideas on foreign affairs but he is not in much position to criticize what's happened in the past. As he said himself last June 11:

"I've been a part of this administration for the last seven and a half years. I'm proud of that record, and instead of running away from it I intend to run on it and to build on it."

Ladies—You'll Outnumber Men in Those Golden Years

BY MARIE DAERR

One of every four women alive today can expect to live to be at least 85.

On the average, a married woman can expect to be widowed for about eight years.

By the year 2000, there will be more aged women in the United States than the total aged population today.

Those are among facts about women included in the findings of the Senate Subcommittee on Problems of the Aged and Aging, headed by Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich.).

- Since 1900, woman's life expectancy has increased 24 years; man's, 20.
- Thirty per cent of women who reach 65 can expect to have a birthday cake with 85 candles.
- Only 19 per cent of the men who reach 65 will reach 85.
- Of those who live to be 75, 41 per cent of the women and 32 per cent of the men will reach 85.

This year, there are 120 women aged 65 and over for every 100 aged men. By 1980, the ratio will be 130 to 100.

By the year 2000 it will be 145 women for every 100 men.

The ladies outnumber the gentlemen even more in the 75-and-older group. There are 132 women now for every 100 men in this group. By 1980, there will be 156-100. By 2000, the ratio will be 169-100.

Unrelated (single or widowed) women make up the largest single group of individuals in the aged population. There are more than five million women in this category.

Most aged men (70 per cent) are married, most aged women (65 per cent) are not.

More women than men are widowed. In the 45 to 54 age group, the figures are 10 per cent for women, two per cent for men.

In the 55 to 64 group, they are 25 and 5 per cent.

For ages 65 to 74, they are 46 and 15 per cent.

For 65 and older, 55 per cent of the women are widowed, compared with 22 per cent of the men.

For 75-and-older, the percentages are 72 and 38.

What about health? By age 80, 75 per cent of the women, compared with 40 per cent of the men, complain of dizziness.

Ninety per cent of elderly women have trouble getting around in the dark. This compares with 65 per cent for men.

Twice as many men as women in the age range of 40 to 74 die of heart disease.

How about income? Half the elderly men with income received less than $1,421 in 1957. Half the elderly women received less than $741. Based on 1956 data, single, aged women have an average income of $880.

Eighty per cent of aged widows on social security receive less than $70 a month.

* * *

Q—My husband was 58 on May 15. He is a commercial fisherman and came under social security only a few years ago. How many quarters must he accumulate to be eligible for benefits?—J. W. F.

A—He needs 32 quarters.

Q—I am a 60-year-old widow who has worked for the past 15 years. If I quit now, am I fully insured? Can I get benefits at age 62? —Mrs. R. L.

A—If you earned at least $50 in each calendar quarter, you would have more than the necessary 40. At 62 you would be eligible for benefits on your own earnings or as a widow. You would receive whichever is the larger benefit.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

The Book of Human Experience

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The Bible is a vast and realistic book of human experience.

That is why the stories of what happened in family and tribal life many centuries before the Christian era have continued to have such interest and importance.

It is because its stories are timeless, and illustrate the actions and problems that continue to affect individuals and society.

Among such stories, that of Jacob and Esau seems in some respects far removed from modern life. Its setting is primitive, with its hunting, and its "mess of pottage," and its "birthright," so transferable and disposable; all of which fits in with the mother's ambition and trickery and household intrigue.

But it is precisely these things in their crudeness that continue today to be manifest, in ways that are devious, if less crude The unbrotherly relations of Jew and Arab are as real as the conflict between Jacob and Esau.

And, in other relationships in life, estrangement and conflict are rife in many communities.

I remembered two brothers I once knew.

They would have nothing to do with each other. They were apart and in conflict as much as Jacob and Esau.

With my own home and boyhood notions of what brothers ought to be I can recall how shocked I was that blood brothers could live from day to day in such enmity.

I don't know what had caused the dissension and separation between these brothers; but it is a situation which, if not typical, is not altogether uncommon.

And such situations of enmity are common among those whose daily contacts in business and society, and even common interests, ought to suggest cordial, if not brotherly, relationships. I suppose that personal ambition, the passion to get ahead, is one natural cause.

The fact is that despite the great propagandism of brotherhood, we live to a great extent in a most unbrotherly world.

What we need is not less propagandism of brotherhood, but more concentration on the occasions and cause of unbrotherliness.

And it is here that the Bible could be our greatest help. It teaches by its sad examples and warnings as much as by its exhortation and ideals.

Its ancient stories may change their form, but the essentials remain.

Fresh Fruits Star in Colorama Summer Salad

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

A cool idea for a hot day luncheon—a special salad, colorful and inviting, using fresh fruit so plentiful now, served with a semi-sweet sour cream dressing, slices of mellow American cheese and crisp potato chips. Sound good to you?

Colorama Summer Salad
(6 servings)

One pint strawberries, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 cantaloupe, 1 grapefruit, 1 large avocado, 1 sliced banana, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 red apple, lettuce, ½ pound Bing cherries, pitted; ½ pound sliced American cheese, large bag of potato chips, sour cream dressing.

Wash, hull and sort berries. Add sugar to ½ cup strawberries, crush and simmer a few minutes. Strain through cheese cloth. Chill and reserve juice for dressing. Cut melon in wedges, discarding seeds and fiber, and pare. Section grapefruit. Cut avocado in half, discard pit, slice across, dip in lemon juice before placing on platter. Cut apple in wedges, remove core and dip in lemon juice (do not peel). Slice banana and dip in lemon juice. Arrange avocado, apple, cheese and banana alternately on lettuce around outer edge of platter. In inner circle arrange cantaloupe and grapefruit. Heap remaining strawberries in middle and drop cherries around for accent. Place large potato chips on outer circle in mounds. Put dressing in bowl on side, so each person can serve himself as desired.

Dressing

Blend 1 cup sour cream, 1/4 cup strawberry juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt. Chill.

Monday's Dinner: Clear tomato bouillon in cups, old-fashioned potato cakes, cold sliced turkey and ham, colorama summer salad, sour cream dressing, walnut cookies, coffee, tea, milk.

At Leaders' Conference

Leaders of county Home Economics Extension Councils and home advisers met in Urbana Wednesday and Thursday for the annual Extension Leaders' conference.

Representing Morgan and Scott counties were Miss Hazel Graves, home adviser, and Mrs. Chester A. Thomason, council chairman.

Haiti Swine Project Dedication July 1

A formal dedication ceremony for the bred gilts that are being shipped to Haiti as part of the Christian Rural Overseas Program will be held at the Roland and Robert Reid farm northeast of Winchester, Friday, July 1, at 4 p.m.

This project has been the joint effort of Morgan and Scott county people through donation of animals and money. Accompanying the hogs on the trip will be Winchester vo-ag teacher, Willit Pierce, and Tom Lashmett of Winchester. The hogs will be taken by truck to Miami July 4 and then flown to Haiti.

For the Friday dedication, Pierce will briefly explain the purpose these hogs will serve in Haiti and also explain some similar projects that have been carried on in other parts of the country.

Miss Hazel Graves, Morgan-Scott home adviser, who recently returned from a visit in Haiti will describe the need for such projects in that country. She will be telling of the living standards and the demand of more meat in their diet.

The shipment will include 22 bred Duroc gilts, two Duroc boars, 10 Poland China bred gilts, and one Poland China boar. The CROP program had recommended the solicitation of Duroc because they are more nearly suited for Haiti climate. These pigs will be given to 4-H members of that country and each year, these members will give one or two pigs from his first litter to other qualified persons in the country. By this, it is hoped to improve the quality of swine and also increase the food supply in Haiti.

Soliciation in the Morgan-Scott area netted 16 gilts and money donations of almost $1800 which was used to purchase the other bred gilts.

Mary, Queen of Scots, was beheaded in 1587 as an accomplice in a plan to murder Queen Elizabeth.

Youth Adviser Signs To Teach In Indiana

Mrs. Chester A. Thomason, chairman of the Home Economics Extension council, announces the resignation of Mrs. Veronika Burgess, effective Aug. 1.

Mrs. Burgess has been the Morgan-Scott youth adviser in charge of 4-H and Rural Youth activities since January, 1957.

Mrs. Burgess and her husband, Conley, 1127 W. Lafayette ave., will both teach in the public schools of Munster, Ind. For the past four years he has taught in Perry.

Munster, about 60 miles southeast of the Chicago loop, is beginning a new program in the teaching of modern languages. Mrs. Burgess will teach German in the grade school and Russian in the high school.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

SUMMER CONDITIONS MAY CHECK DECLINE OF CATTLE PRICES

The recent weakness in cattle prices has brought several inquiries about market conditions and price prospects.

So far this year prices of choice cattle have followed about the same patterns as in the past two years. That is, prices rose during the winter and declined in the spring. As was expected, however, prices have generally been $1 to $2 lower in 1958 and 1959.

The lower prices reflect the cyclical increase in marketings since the first of the year. Farmers cut their sales of calves for slaughter in 1958 and 1959. The extra calves kept back in 1958 have appeared as slaughter cattle on the markets this year.

Farmers and ranchers had 18.5 million calves not being kept for milk on January 1, 1958; 19.7 million on January 1, 1959; and 21.1 million at the beginning of this year.

We began this year with 11.0 million steers, 8 percent more than the year before. We had 7.4 million heifers not being kept for milk, 9 percent more than one year before.

Bigger Output

Farmers began this year with 9 percent more cattle on feed than they had at the beginning of 1959. By April 1, they still had 8 percent more cattle on feed than a year ago. At that time farmers indicated intentions to market a greater than usual percentage of their cattle before July 1. Although actual marketings were rather light in April, they increased sharply in May, making total beef output during the first five months of this year about 8 percent larger than last year.

In-shipments of replacement cattle have been rather light since January 1, but this was a natural reaction to the heavy movement last fall. Cattle put on weight, however, whether they are in the corn belt or in the west.

On June 1 the number of cattle on feed in the big feedlots in California and Arizona was estimated at 848,000 head, 16 percent more than a month before.

Consumer demand for beef is strong, and it appears likely to hold up well during the summer vacation season. By next fall, however, there may be more concern about business prospects, and consumer demand.

Fewer Hogs

The supply of pork will be comparatively small this summer, since farmers saved about one-fifth fewer pigs in the December-February quarter than they did the year before. Pork supplies will continue on the short side during the fall.

Last year, the monthly average price of choice steers declined from $30.33 per hundred pounds in April to $25.57 in December. This $4.76 decline came in two steps—from April to July and from September to December.

In 1958 prices of choice steers declined from $29.90 in March to $26.11 in August. The decline was $3.79 a hundred pounds. Prices regained about $1.00 before the year-end.

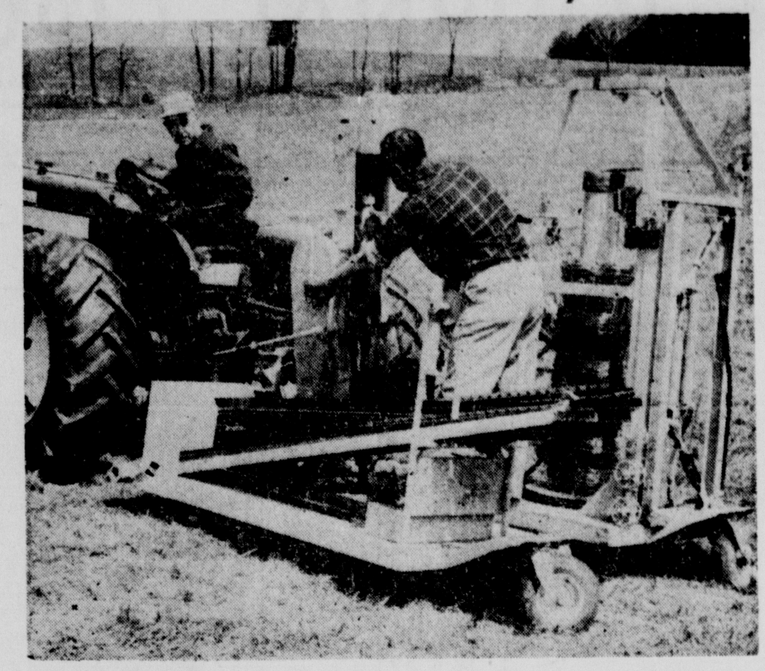

Our best monthly price so far this year has been $28.08, so a $4 decline would let the price down to about $24. This would be only $1.60 lower than the low month last year, and $2.10 less than the low month in 1958.

The price decline this year may come in two steps, as it did in 1959. The shortage of pork and the vacation boom should provide some support this summer. Autumn will bring more pork, probably more cattle, and possibly some slowing of business activity, with a leveling-off of consumer demand.

Fences In A Hurry

GRIGGSVILLE—A unique demonstration of a new fence erecting machine designed and developed by United States Steel Corporation and its American Steel and Wire Division will be conducted daily, July 1 thru July 4 as a grandstand attraction at the 87th annual Western Illinois Fair.

The job of fence erection—one of the last holdouts in the machine age of farming—will be turned over to the new mechanical marvel in erecting a fence to enclose an area in front of the grandstands of this annual fair. The machine will operate at 4:30 p.m., each day for farmers, county farm agents, soil conservation representatives, highway contractors, state highway officials and visitors to the Western Illinois Fair.

The demonstration will be conducted by Wayne Maley, United States Steel development representative.

The fence building machine is designed to eliminate the back-breaking labor of this traditional farm chore and, in most cases, to cut erection time in half. The unit, which may be attached to a standard farm tractor, drives posts and then dispenses wire fence as it moves along the fence line. Equipped with a hydraulically operated clamp for stretching fence to obtain the proper tension, it holds fence in place so that it may be quickly hand-fastened to the posts. The machine erects woven wire or barbed wire fencing, or combinations of both.

Development of the fence building machine by U. S. Steel came after research findings showed growing opportunities for more profitable methods of livestock production through increased use of farm fencing. By cutting erection time in half, it makes possible major savings in fence construction costs for the farmer.

The fence erecting machine is also adaptable for installation of "right of way" fencing along highways, as well as a variety of industrial fence applications.

Outline Stock Shows At Griggsville Fair

An outstanding livestock show at the Griggsville fair is assured, says J. R. Skinner, secretary. The four-day meeting of the Western Illinois Fair opens Thursday and runs through July 4.

More than $40,000 in premiums are offered.

There are two divisions: one open to the world and the other to young exhibitors residing in Pike county. Beef and swine will be judged Friday and dairy and sheep on Saturday.

Specialists from the U.I. College of Agriculture will judge the entries. They are W. W. Albert, beef; Tilford R. Cline of Virginia, Ill., sheep; E. E. Ormisson, dairy, and John T. Smith, swine.

Superintendents of the various departments are:

Junior livestock — G. V. Riley, Jesse A. Gleckler, Winfred Dean.

Beef cattle — Lloyd and R. L. Peile.

Sheep—Harold Newman, Delbert Sleight.

Swine — Dean Dunham, Ralph Sargent, Melvin Moore, Dawson Dean.

On Farm Radio Program July 3

Ted Manger, KMOX farm reporter, will present farm people from Morgan and Greene counties on his Sunday, July 3, broadcast which begins at 7 a.m.

At a tape recording session in St. Louis, Monday, Magner interviewed Mrs. Louis Werries and Mrs. R. R. Long, co-leaders of the Chapin Top Notchers 4-H club, Miss Linda Mallicoat, junior leader of the Willing Workers, and Miss Hazel Graves, Morgan-Scott home adviser; Roger Erris, Greene county 4-H member, and Willard D. Lighty, assistant farm adviser of Greene county.

The group, along with representatives of Bellinger, Madison and Cape Girardeau counties in Missouri, were guest of the Robertson's Farm Supply Co. at a luncheon held at the Broadview hotel.

Talent Contest Entries Open At New Berlin

Entries are being accepted for the 10th annual amateur talent contest to be held at the Sangamon County Junior Fair in New Berlin, July 27-30, it was announced by Robert Pfeffer, president of the Fair Association.

Pfeffer said the contest this year will be divided into junior and senior divisions with a $100 Savings Bond awarded to the grand prize winner in each Division. Youngsters aged 12 and under will compete in the junior division while those 13 and over will vie for prizes in the senior division.

The rules of the contest are as follows: contestants must be under 21 years of age and have amateur standing; no more than five persons may comprise one act; and to compete, contestants must first pass a preliminary audition to be held at the Sangamon County Junior Fair Building in New Berlin from 1 to 5 p.m., Saturday, July 16.

Contestants should send their name, address, age, phone number, type and length of act to Robert Pfeffer, Sangamon County Junior Fair, New Berlin, prior to Thursday, July 14.

MORE PLANT FOOD USED

According to a U. of Ill. Agronomist, Illinois farmers used 17% more plant food in 1959 than they did in 1958. Nitrogen alone increased by 40 thousand tons.

OVER PRODUCTION — OLD HAT?

There was much talk of overproduction of beef in 1930. Producers provided 50 lbs. of beef per person then. Last year they provided 80 pounds per person per year.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE IT?

U. S. takes about 40% of the world's coffee production. We used enough to provide each person over 15 years of age with 13½ pounds of roasted coffee in 1958.

Want Fine Strawberries Next Year?—Here's How

Renovating will keep the patches near their production peak for several years.

Here's what to do:

1. Mow off the tops of all berry plants. Use a rotary motor, sickle mower or lawn mower. Set the blade high enough to avoid damaging the crowns—just remove the leaves.

2. Rake up all leaves, old straw and other debris. Burn them.

3. To prevent overcrowding, narrow the rows to 8 to 12 inches. Use a plow, roto-tiller, garden disk or hand hoe. Try to destroy all plant growth beyond the 8- to 12-inch width.

4. Remove all weeds left in the narrowed row.

5. Fertilize. For one acre, broadcast 500 pounds of 10-10-10 or 12-12-12 fertilizer over the entire area. Or use 5 pounds for every 100 feet of row.

6. Water. Soak the soil until the moisture is 6 inches deep. Letting a hose run slowly over the ground is the best way. In addition, water whenever the patch becomes dry later in the summer. Also dig out weeds that sprout.

Allow runner plants to root as they form during the rest of the growing season. Rows should increase to a width of 18 to 25 inches. After they reach this width, remove all runner plants that form. Why? Plants that root after August 1 will not psoduce fruit next year.

Check the patch often for signs of insects or diseases.

The University offers three free publications that give more specific information on strawberry growing and disease and insect control. They are:

Fruit Leaflet No. 1: Strawberry Spray and Dust Guide.

Home gardeners ran pick up copies from their county farm adviser. Or they can send requests to Department of Horticulture, University of Illinois, Urbana.

ROCKETS AND SPACE—

Making Space Cabin

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

To design the two-man space cabin simulator for the Air Force's Aerospace Medical Center (AMC) at Brooks AFB, Texas, Minneapolis-Honeywell engineers started by making a complete list of human requirements for thirty days.

This list took in every thing from air to breathe to record music and a place for cigarette ashes.

Next they had to make compact and efficient equipment to meet these needs. This equipment had to be fitted into the 8 by 12 foot oval simulator and still leave room for the two men to move about.

Air Comes First

In tackling this problem Honeywell started with man's most basic need —fresh air. To furnish this they developed a delicate system to measure oxygen (which man needs to live), carbon dioxide, nitrogen, and carbon monoxide.

This measuring system connects controls which automatically pump in more oxygen and/or nitrogen as needed. This system also removes excess carbon dioxide and carbon monxide. The carbon dioxide is removed by use of chemical absorption (soaking up) beds, and the carbon monoxide is filtered out by chemical reaction.

This appartaus was even made to take into account any astronauts who might like to smoke. A high voltage electrostatic filter is provided to ionize (electrically charged) and trap dust and smoke particles.

A heating and cooling unit is provided to regulate the temperature in the space cabin simulator. A humidity control device removes excess moisture from the air and sends it to be filtered and stored along with the water supply.

Spacemen Eat Too

On their thirty day simulated space trip the astronauts will be provided with non-perishable food so they won't need a refrigerator. However, they will have a heating element to warm soup or coffee.

At one end of the simulator is a control panel which contains instruments to record and change the cabin's environment. A set of space ship controls is also provided so that the test subjects can actually perform the tasks they would have to during a real space flight.

Puppies Must Learn

By D. W. Hendrickson

Part 3: Exciting Picnic

Bud's sister Linda gets cross when puppy Mike knocks over her doll carriage but her brother says, "Puppies have to learn." One of the lessons Bud gives Mike is to carry a stick with sharp points under its cloth cover, for the puppy is a setter and must learn to carry things gently.

Lessons were soon over for that first day, but the next day and every day, Bud continued to train Mike. Even when the family went on a picnic to the park, Bud took the special toy along to give Mike his lesson.

Mean Trick!

"Ouch!" she cried and dropped the toy as quickly as Mike had done the first time he picked it up.

"You don't want me to yell at Mike, but you give him a toy that sticks him. I think that's mean, and I don't see how he plays with a toy like that."

"Oh, it's to teach him to carry things carefully, and he learned how to handle it right away. He's smart," said Bud.

"Well, I hope he's smart enough to know not to bother my doll anymore."

They were soon at the park sitting at a picnic table on the bank overlooking the little lake. "Oh, the tablecloth is blowing. Get something to put on the corners," said their mother.

"I'll get some stones." Linda ran to get them, and as she left the table, Mike reached up and helped himself to her sandwich.

"Oh, that awful pup." Linda scolded. "I wish you would teach him some manners rather than to fetch that silly toy."

"Your doll buggy!" Bud jumped up. "It's rolling into the lake!" He raced to the edge of the bank, but the buggy was already in the water.

Bud picked up a long stick, caught the buggy and pulled it in, but the doll had fallen out and was floating away.

Mike To The Rescue

When Bud saw that the pup had the doll in his mouth he called, "Bring it here, Mike," and soon the doll was safely ashore.

Linda put Betty back in the buggy and then, dripping wet though he was, she took Mike in her arms and hugged him.

"Ah, you sweet puppy," she said lovingly, "you didn't even tear Betty's dress. You're a good, smart puppy-dog."

The End.

CQ RADIO HAMS—

Many Switches Made Into One

By Joseph A. Smith

Part 2: Last Three Steps

2) Install a second OPEN CIRCUIT jack on the transmitter chassis and wire it also in parallel with the transmitter's center-tap standby switch.

3) Construct two cables from two suitable lengths of shielded single conductor wire and four earphone-type plugs. These are the connecting cables. Fasten the center insulated wire to the insulated center plug terminal, and the braided shield to the outer grounding terminal. Solder all connections.

4) Wire control box as follows: Place antenna terminal and transmitter output terminal to one side of box; place receiver antenna output terminal on opposite side. Place jacks on opposite ends, and toggle switch in the exact center.

To use, plug in one cable between the receiver jack and the master control box "Receiver Center Tap" jack, and the other cable between the transmitter jack and the master control box TRANSMITTER CENTER TAP JACK. Ground the master control box to same ground as used on both the receiver and transmitter power supply.

Attach one end of a half-wave long single wire end-fed antenna to the master control box antenna terminal. Run an insulated single conductor wire between the master switch box "Receiver Antenna" terminal and the receiver antenna terminal.

Finally, connect a second length of the same type of wire between the master control box "Transmitter Antenna" terminal and the transmitter's antenna tuner.

With this switch you can use either a simple parallel-type antenna tuner or a "Pie Loading" built-in tuner such as is found in most of our present-day transmitters, such as the DX-20, DX-40, Globe Scout 65 or 68 and Viking Ranger.

The Hertz antenna might be one wire 125 feet long for 80 meters, or one 66 feet long for 40 meters.

Be An Expert Plane Spotter

By Joseph A. Smith

Part 2: FINAL STEPS

Now lets take an example of the identification points, mentioned last Sunday.

(1) How many engines? Some have one engine (Piper Coupe, F-86 fighter, ect.). If it is a Jet, it may have one engine like the F-86, F-100, and F-102 fighters) or it may have two or more Jet engines like the B-47, B-52, Boeing 707 transport etc.

(2) How many wings and where located? Does it have only one wing as do most modern craft or does it have two wings like the old Stermann B-plane which had two? Is the single wing on top (as with most light planes), in the center (as with many modern fighter craft), or at the base of the plane as for example the Swift 124 light plane?

(3) Modern fighter craft almost entirely have very thin and swept back wings for the higher speeds they will fly, while lighter and slower speed craft will have thicker wings, they usually come straight out from the fuselage.

(4) What is the general shape of the fuselage? Round and cigar shaped? It's probobly a light plane or other private plane. Then again, the newest ultra high speed fighter planes are very much like this for minimum forward resistance at these high speeds.

Is it thick? Then perhaps it is a transport, cargo carrier, or bomber.

(5) That tail section: if it is "V" shaped probably if it is a light plane it is a Beechcraft Bonanza private plane. If it has two separate rudders and verticle stabilizers perhaps it is a twin motor army trainer plane or W.W.2 B-25 medium bomber. Then again, if it has three of these sections perhaps it is a Consellation transport plane.

If you think you can identify todays and yesterdays aircraft try identifying these planes as to these above five possible observation ideas. Then try placing as to type of service they do and country from which they come.

Correct answers will follow next Sunday.

(1) PE-8; (2) Jenny; (3) P-40; (4) B-25; (5) F-86; (6) F-51; (7) B-17; (8) C-119; (9) DC-3 or C-47; (10) Mig-17. (11) ME-109; (12) Vampire; (13) Silvaire; (14) F-104; (15) B-58; (16) TU-70; (17) Spitfire; (18) F4H; (19) Piper Cruiser; (20) YH-31; (21) XF-"Pogo."

This by no means includes all the many different types of planes operating today, but it is a mighty good start.

Let's Go Birding —

Mockingbird Breaks Rules

By Emma Mae Leonhard

If we are inclined to awaken early on spring mornings and to listen for the song of birds, we can't be disappointed in Jacksonville. The heavy-lidded eye of dawn and the chorus of Robins, Cardinals, Wrens and Doves seem synonymous to us.

Visitors in Jacksonville have told us more than once that they couldn't sleep here in the morning because the birds were so noisy.

We may call the birds' song noise or music; it all depends upon our point of view or our mood for that morning; to us it is music. The Robins' caroling, the Doves' plaintive cooing, the Cardinals' whistling, and the Wrens' chattering cover the silent houses and streets with a blanket of pure music. All during the spring we are absorbed by this chorus.

Then some June morning, or so it happened on many a June morning this year, this chorus of songs seems to come from one source. It may be right outside the window, or it may be farther off; whatever the place, the song is that of the Mockingbird, a song of many birds linked together with gurgles, or his own kinds of and's and but's?

We teach our pupils not to over-work those conjunctions in their written compositions; the Mockingbird breaks all rules in composition and yet makes the coveted grade of A in music.

In the early mornings of June 5, 6, and 7, a Mockingbird literally deluged with song those sleeping in the neighborhood of Pine, Douglas, and State Street; but only a few who were awake enjoyed that deluge of song. It mocked all the birds it knew; it repeated some of the calls several times; it improvised with many variations and trillings.

Answers To Questions

People have asked us several questions about the Mockingbird. Are there really Mockingbirds in Jacksonville and our area?

Yes, there are. They seem to be on the increase. Some actually have become permanent residents with us, depending upon the Multiflora Rose and Barberry for winter food.

How can we tell the difference between the songs of the Mockingbird, the Brown Thrasher, and the Catbird?

It is true that all three birds are mockers. However, the Brown Thrasher's song seems better organized; he repeats each phrase carefully twice or more. The Catbird seldom repeats; its song seems tumbling, incoherent, and somewhat throaty.

The Mockingbird does everything and anything. It doesn't take very long to learn to distinguish the differences.

NO DEMERITS

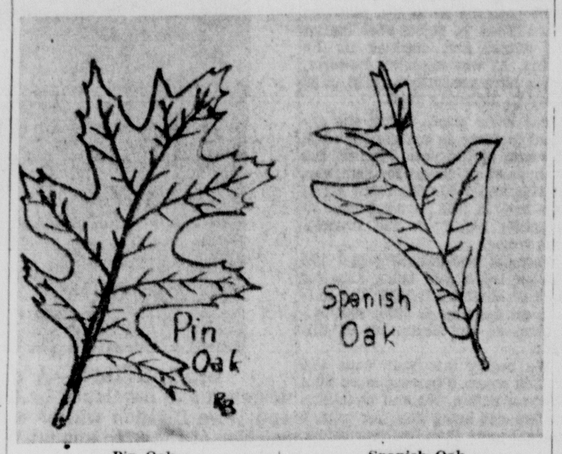

Robert E. Lee, of the class of 1829, was the only cadet in many years to complete the four-year course at West Point without a single demedit.

ANSWER:
WHAT AM I?—first of bread, fifth of thread, fourth of ring, second of spring, third of sail, first of pail, second of pearl, first of spear, equals BAGPIPES.

Wonder World —

Why Is Wood Knotty?

By Rip Barnsdall

Pin Oak

The pin oak has knotty wood because of the many small branches that are found on the trunk.

Spanish Oak

The Spanish oak is usually found in dry upland, or sandy low-land soil. The wood is heavy and strong.

Since it is rather sensitive to late frosts, the Spanish oak is usually only found in the southern portions of the middle west.

Vacation Time Fun

By Mary Pence Claywell

Part 6: Tommy Hangs a Bass

Tommy is visiting his grandparents on the farm during the summer vacation. He is helpful, but has time for fun too and today he and his dog, Spot, are on a fishing expedition.

Tommy quickly baited up his hook and cast it out into the lake, seating himself comfortably on the log with one foot dangling down into the water where he dipped his bare toes up and down.

Spot snuggled up close behind his young master and watched intently. He liked nothing better in the whole world than to be near Tommy and he was probably doing a little dreaming also, in his own dog way, and wondering how long it would take the sun to be high overhead. That would be the very moment Tommy would open up the paper sack, and Spot knew there'd be something for him too!

No sooner had Tommy's sinker settled than he felt a quick jerk, and he reeled in a big blue gill, and after that he began to pull in bull heads too! My, how they did fight!

Then, all at once, something bigger and much more lively grabbed the hook and Tommy knew he had hung a bass. My, how he did reel! The big-mouthed fellows could spit out a hook in the wink of an eye, and he had no time to lose when one struck!

"You've got to give 'em rope," said Tommy to himself, "but you can't let them play on a slack line!"

Day's End

By sundown, the paper sack didn't hold so much as a crumb, and Tommy began to gather up his belongings.

On the way home, the boy and the dog made a perfect picture as they trudged along. The boy's straw hat sat jauntily upon his tousled head and he carried the string of fish in one hand and the rod in the other, while things that would fit in, stuck out of his bulging pockets.

The boy whistled a merry tune; birds circled high overhead. A cow bell tinkled in the distance, and the "put, put" of a tractor far away joined its harmony to the gentle sound of the breezes and the cries of the homing birds.

Pony Express' 100th Birthday

By Mabel Hall Goltra

This year, 1960, is the centennial year of the Pony Express Service that carried mail between St. Joseph, Mo., and the Pacific Coast by the use of mustangs, as wild horses were called.

In this year of 1960 a modern phase of our nation's postal drama will be demonstrated. On July 19th a United States Air Force plane will carry mails along the original Pony Express route between St. Joseph, Mo., and the Pony Express' Eastern terminus, and Sacramento, Calif., the western terminus.

Special Stamp

On July 19th, a 4-cent sepia Commorative stamp is being issued at Sacramento, and a 4-cent sepia commemorative embossed envelope at St. Joseph, each illustrating a galloping pony and its rider.

A century ago the Pony Express rider carried between fifty and one hundred pounds of mail, but now the Air Force plane flying eastward from Sacramento on July 19th will carry at least ten tons of mail representing 1,000,000 letters; and on the return flight from St. Joseph there will be another ten tons.

And a century ago it took the Pony Express rider eight to ten days to cover 1,900 miles between the two cities as he traveled through the wild western wilderness.

Now the Air Force plane will cover the ground in three and one half hours over a civilized area.

PREPARES FOR LONG STROLL

MILL CITY, Ore. (AP) — Paul Smith is training daily for what he says will be his longest walk—from San Francisco to New York, and back again.

"Nobody has ever completed the trip both ways," said Smith. He's 75.

BIRTHDAY PARADE

Trudy, Larry and Linda Brockhouse

June is a big month in the Brockhouse home with two of the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Loren L. Brockhouse of Chapin having Birthdays.

Larry Loren is a first-time marcher since he had his very first Birthday June 20.

Lynn Eugene Ash

Lynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ash of Roodhouse, celebrated his second Birthday Friday, June 17.

Vonna Jean Thomas

Jimmy William Fortado

Jimmy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fortado of RR 3, has 8 candles to blow out on his cake right today, June 26! He will be in grade three.

Jimmy's Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Matt Fortado, RR 3, and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Fisher of Springfield. He also has two Great Grandmothers, Mrs. Mable Hayes of Murrayville and Mrs. Della Dickerson of Jacksonville.

Kenny Lee Oswald

Our third first-marcher today is Kenny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Oswald of Winchester. Kenny has just two days to wait to blow out that one candle on his first Birthday Cake June 28.

Charles Batchelor's Party

Charles Batchelor, son of Mrs Dorothy Batchelor of Palmyra, celebrated his 8th Birthday with a party June 4.

Games were played and prizes were won by Jennifer Jones and Steven Hicks.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

To march in the Birthday Parade, just send your name, address, age and birthdate—with a snapshot if you have one—to the Jacksonville Junior Journal Courier 2 weeks before your Birthday. You may call for the photo as soon as it has appeared in the paper.

If you have a party, write and tell us about that later.

The Helen Keller Story, An Inspiration To All

Editor Note: The following biography of Helen Keller is being un in this newspaper in cooperation with the local Helen Keller Day committee. Helen Keller Day, today, observes Miss Keller's 80th birthday and is being celebrated throughout the nation. Persons wishing to contribute to the Helen Keller World Crusade may do so by sending same to Arthur French, Farmers State Bank, for forwarding.

The Story of Helen Keller is the story of a child suddenly shut off from the world at the age of nineteen months, and of her slow and hard but victorious fight to reenter it. Through the years, the little deaf and blind mute has become the woman of the gifted pen, writing and speaking and incessantly working toward the betterment of others. Her story is, in brief, that of a half-wild creature become a highly intelligent and sensitive citizen with a definite place in the history of our time.

Normal Child

She was born, a normal child, in Tuscumbia, Alabama, on June 27, 1880, in a white frame cottage called "Ivy Green." On her father's side she is descended from Alexander Spotswood, a Colonial Governor of Virginia, and connected with the Lees and other Southern families. On her mother's side she is related to the Hales, the Everetts and the Adams family of New England. Her father, Captain Arthur Keller, was a man of influence in his community. He was the editor of a newspaper, The North Alabamian, and had strong interests in public life. About 1885, under the Cleveland administration, he was appointed Marshall of North Alabama.

Helen Keller was suddenly bereft of sight and hearing by an illness in babyhood. The disease had been diagnosed as brain fever; according to popular theory of the time this disease was believed to leave its victim an idiot. Strong and healthy physically, she grew into childhood, wild and unruly, with little real understanding of what went on around her.

Starts at 7 Years

It was when Helen was nearly seven years old that her teacher, Anne Sullivan, a girl of twenty, was brought to her from Perkins Institution, Boston, Massachusetts. Anne Sullivan had been educated at this school for the blind, but had regained useful sight through a series of operations. Her assignment was arranged through the sympathetic interest of Alexander Graham Bell, whose advice had been sought by the parents. After that time, the two—teacher and pupil—were inseparable, until the death of the former in 1936.

Anne Sullivan had undertaken a task that called for inexhaustible patience and courage. The little blind children at Perkins Institution had made a doll for her to take to Helen. She began her training with that, trying to connect objects with letters by spelling "d-o-l-l" in the manual alphabet into the child's hand. Helen quickly learned to make the letters correctly, but did not know that she was spelling a word, or that words existed. In the days that followed she learned to spell in this uncomprehending way a great many more words.

80 OR 73? Helen Keller sitting for her birthday portrait (eighty this June) said the birthday she really counts is "the birthday of my soul"—the day when she was seven that Anne Sullivan came to turn her total blindness and deafness into joyful life.

The Real Beginning

One day she and her teacher were standing beside the out-door pump while someone was drawing water. Miss Sullivan put Helen's hand under the spout. As the cool water gushed over one hand, she spelled into the other the word "w a t e r," first slowly, then rapidly. Suddenly the signals crossed Helen's consciousness with a meaning. She knew that "water" meant the wonderful cool something flowing over her hand. Quickly, she stooped and touched the earth and demanded its letter name, and by nightfall of that day she had learned thirty words.

That was the beginning of Helen Keller's education. In quick succession she mastered the alphabet, both manual and in raised print for the blind, and gained facility in reading and writing. In 1890 she surprised "Teacher" with the request that she learn to speak. Somehow she had found out that a deaf and blind girl in far-off Norway had acquired this ability. Miss Sarah Fuller of the Horace Mann School was her first speech teacher.

Even as a little girl, Helen Keller used to say, "Some day I shall go to college."—and she did. In 1896 she entered the Cambridge School for Young Ladies to be prepared for Radcliffe College which she entered in the fall of 1900. In 1904 she graduated with the degree of B. A. cum laude. Throughout her school days, Miss Sullivan was her constant companion, patiently interpreting, through the manual alphabet, the many lectures which must be attended, encouraging her, and stimulating her by showing that she had confidence in her ability. Every reference book had to be spelled laboriously into Helen's hand by Miss Sullivan—who almost lost her own eyesight in the long hours of night reading necessary.

Life of Study

The attainment of the B.A. degree finished Helen Keller's formal school days. Throughout all her life, however, she has continued to study and keep informed on all matters of importance to modern man. In recognition of her wide knowledge and many scholastic achievements she has received the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from Temple University, Philadelphia, and Doctor of Laws degrees from the Universities of Glasgow, Scotland, and Witwatersrand, Johannesburg, South Africa. Furthermore, she has been made an Honorary Fellow of the Educational Institute of Scotland.

Her books have been translated and read in a great many languages. "The Story of My Life," in particular, has had a wide distribution. In 1954, fifty years after its first publication as a book, translations had been arranged for in about fifty languages, including such strange and unusual ones as Marathi, Pushtu, Tagalog and Urdu.

A few years before his death Mark Twain said, "The two most interesting characters of the nineteenth century are Napoleon and Helen Keller." William James wrote, "The sum of it is that you are a blessing." These sentiments expressed by two friends from her early youth, have been shared fully through the years by famous and prominent men and women all over the world whose friendship she has enjoyed.

She has been the recipient of awards of great distinction, too numerous for detailed account. In June 1952 she was made Chevalier of the French Legion of Honor. She accepted the Chevalier's ribbon at Sorbonne University during the Louis Braille Centennial Commemoration in the French capital. It was an especially happy occasion for her to take part in the ceremonies when the French Government honored one whom she herself has called, "the Light-Bearer to the World of Darkness."

On the fiftieth anniversary of her graduation, Radcliffe College granted her the Alumnae Achievement Award, the first of its kind to be granted to a woman. Her Alma Mater further showed its pride in her achievements by dedicating the Helen Keller Garden in her honor, and by naming a fountain in the garden for her teacher, Anne Sullivan Macy.

Devoted Since Youth

From her youth on, Miss Keller has devoted herself primarily to work for her fellow blind and deaf-blind. She always has been willing to help the cause by appearing before legislatures, giving lectures, and above all, by her own shining example to prove to the doubters what might be accomplished in spite of severe difficulties. When the American Foundation for the Blind opened its offices in 1923, she joined that organization and has remained on the staff as Counselor, Bureau of National and International Relations. In 1924 she started her campaign to raise the "Helen Keller Endowment Fund" for the Foundation. Miss Keller is continuing to give unreservedly of her time to make this fund adequate for the needs of the Foundation.

Helen Keller has often said that the happiest day of her life occurred when the Foundation with her active assistance established the Department of Services for the Deaf-Blind. This last group for a long time had been of deep concern to her, and she had long searched for ways to help those "less fortunate than myself." The Department seeks out every deaf-blind person in the United States, studies all the existing services within his area for his rehabilitation and recommends and promotes state and local activities for the improvement of those services. Special efforts are made to improve the facilities for the education of deaf-blind children, who are more numerous than most people had thought at one time. A "Helen Keller Scholarship" has been established to aid gifted deaf-blind students to attain a college education.

International Focus

When the American Braille Press for War and Civilian Blind was reorganized as the American Foundation for Overseas Blind, Helen Keller became that organization's Counselor on International Relations.

One of the important focal points of Helen Keller's wide interests has been the betterment of conditions among the blind in the underdeveloped and war-ravaged countries of the world. An enthusiastic and indefatigable traveler, she has lectured on behalf of the blind in more than twenty-five countries in the five major continents. In her seventy-fifth year, Miss Keller embarked upon a 40,000-mile journey to India, Pakistan, Burma, the Philippines and Japan. This trip, like most of her previous travels, was carried out under the auspices of the American Foundation for Overseas Blind. Wherever Miss Keller travels, she brings new courage to millions of blind people. And many of the noteworthy efforts to improve conditions among the blind abroad can be traced directly to Miss Keller's visits.

At the outbreak of World War II she laid aside temporarily her long-cherished plan of writing her teacher's biography so that she might be free to help the war-blinded. A series of visits to hospitals for the war-blinded and for other war casualties followed. Thousands of soldiers and sailors were given cheer and encouragement by having Helen Keller come to see them. And she, on her side, as she moved among the soldiers, was awed and stimulated by the triumphant courage and brave healthy - mindedness that she found.

After the death of "Teacher" in 1936 Helen Keller moved to the country near New York City, where she lives in a white frame house surrounded by many mementos of a rich and busy life. She is an exceedingly active person with most of her time taken up by writing and lecturing, and participation in the programs of the two Foundations and the many other causes that interest her. Her deep concern for the welfare of humankind makes her a willing and much sought after committee member and speaker at gatherings of men and women of progressive and humanitarian points of view.

In 1954 two significant events centered about the life of Helen Keller. Through the efforts of the Helen Keller Property Board and the State of Alabama, her birthplace, "Ivy Green" in Tuscumbia, was made a permanent shrine. It was dedicated on May 7, 1954, with officials of the American Foundation for the Blind, American Foundation for Overseas Blind and many other agencies and organizations present. In conjunction with this event, the nearby city of Birmingham was selected for the premier showing of Miss Keller's film biography "The Unconquered," produced by Nancy Hamilton, with narration by Katharine Cornell. It was later shown in New York and in other cities throughout the country, and has been hailed by critics everywhere.

At home, one of Helen Keller's favorite recreations is walking and playing with her dog. She also delights in her garden where the flowers seem to recognize in her a true nature lover. She is alive to everything around her, interested in people, and alert to their changing moods. She has a keen sense of humor and an ability to get rich enjoyment out of life. She is an avid reader. Her favorite books are the Bible and volumes of poetry and philosophy.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

Thirty years ago this July 4th, the famous sculpture of George Washington's head on South Dakota's Mt. Rushmore was first unveiled. Nine years later, the likenesses of Jefferson, Lincoln, and Theadore Roosevelt were completed, marking a quartet of sculptures that are possibly the most remarkable in the world. The faces, carved out of solid granite and each 60 to 70 feet high, loom some 500 feet over the valley below. Done by the late Gutzon Borglum, they are often acclaimed for their perfection of expression and detail. Borglum however, once admitted that authenticity did give in a bit to practicality. Asked how long the huge heads would last, he remarked, "When I heard that this granite erodes perhaps an inch in 100,000 years, I added a foot to Washington's nose. Nobody could tell the difference, and it will give him another million years."

The local sage dropped in with this bit of wisdom: "A woman worries about the future until she has a husband . . . but a man never worries about the future until he has a wife."

ANNIVERSARY MEMBERS

Hazel Gray and Louise H. Andras

The Soroptimist Club of Jacksonville welcomed two new members at its first anniversary installation ceremony Thursday evening, June 16, at Hotel Dunlap, in this city. They are Mrs. Hazel Gray and Mrs. Louise H. Andras, pictured above left and right.

Local Soroptimist Club Has First Anniversary

The Soroptimist of Jacksonville area held its first anniversary installation of officers and new members on Thursday, June 16, at a dinner meeting held in the Illinois Room of the Dunlap Hotel.

Miss Katherine Martini, director of the northern district of the South Central Region of Soroptimist International and a member of the Soroptimist club of St. Louis, installed the following officers: president, Mrs. Lucille Lair; 1st vice president, Mrs. Wilella Phillips; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Marybeth Rogers; corresponding secretary, Miss Elizabeth Bender; recording secretary, Miss Bernadine Bush; treasurer, Mrs. Katherine Adams; assistant treasurer, Miss Louise Hagel; delegates, Miss Hazel Graves and Miss Louise Andras; directors, Mrs. Ethel Chapman and Mrs. Alta Henry; and two new members, Mrs. Louise Andras and Mrs. Hazel Gray.

Musical selections from the operetta, "Pirates of Penza," were sung by Miss Dianne Babb who was accompanied by Miss Sheri Godfrey.

Mrs. Foreman Speaks

The timely theme, "Why Have a Committee," was presented by Mrs. Helen Foreman, speaker of the evening. This theme was developed by relating the progress made by women of foreign countries through the development of committees. Mrs. Foreman, through her extensive work on national committees, became personally acquainted with Mrs. Marc Law from North Brook, Ill., who has been to Italy three times under the Carrie Chapman Catt Fund. Elizabeth Halsey from New Haven, Conn., has traveled to Southeast Asia, Indonesia and is now in Ceylon, and Mrs. Helen Gillin from North Carolina has been twice to South America.

Mrs. Foreman stated, "We in America take for granted when we want something done, we form a committee, that in a self-governing country the citizens must do a lot of planning, and that is why we have so many volunteer groups, particularly women because they have the time and interest. However, the women in many other countries mentioned had to be shown how to form committees and how to get things done through committees by the American women."

Ten members from the Soroptimist club of Alton who were the sponsors of the Soroptimist of Jacksonville attended the meeting. Other guests from the Jacksonville area were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibson, Clifford Hess, Wilbur Rogers, Miss Helen Stone, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Ruth Lorraine Farrell, Mrs. Catherine Bacon and Dr. James W. Chapman.

Calhoun County Family Returns From Florida

HARDIN, Ill. — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mortland and daughters, Beth and Nancy, will return this week to their home in Naples, Fla., after a two week visit with relatives in this area and in Omaha, Neb. Mr. and Mrs. Mortland, former teachers in Unit 40 High School in Hardin, are now on the teaching staff of the high school in Naples.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Anderson and son, Dale, of Roswell, N.M., have arrived in Illinois for a visit wth relatives and friends in Hardin and other places in this vicinity. They were accompanied by Jim and Tom Beaty, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Beaty of Hardin, who had been visiting them in New Mexico.

Henry Fiedler of Hardin was taken by ambulance to Jersey Community hospital Saturday afternoon, for examination and medical treatment. He had been ill at his home for several days.

Arthur Clark of Hardin, principal of Unit 40 High School, returned Friday from Wesley Memorial hospital in Chicago, where he had undergone ear surgery on Thursday.

Mrs. Katie Bland of Kampsville was taken by ambulance to Boyd Memorial hospital in Carrollton Sunday afternoon.

The Past Matron's club of Calhoun Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will meet Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Claude Ruyle in Hardin. Mrs. L. V. Kinser will be Mrs. Ruyle's assistant hostess.

Arenzville Home Bureau Unit Has Helpful Program

ARENZVILLE — The Arenzville Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Harold Kruse. Mrs. L. J. Wessler, chairman, called the meeting to order. Roll call was answered by the following members: Mrs. David Carls, Mrs. John Fricke, Mrs. Clifford Kays, Mrs. Milton Lovekamp, Mrs. George Morrison, Mrs. Elmer Roegge, Mrs. Kenneth Roegge, Mrs. Raymond Schnitker, Mrs. Ray Leon Schnitker, Mrs. Jack Schone, Mrs. Don Wessler, Mrs. L. J. Wessler and Mrs. Kruse. Eight children were present.

Reports were given by the secretary-treasurer, and vice-chairman. The 4-H chairman reported 25 girls are enrolled in 4-H. The library report told of some interesting reading material.

Mrs. Elmer Roegge had the lesson on "What's Your Superstition?". Mrs. Clifford Kays demonstrated the making of some "Snacks for Between Meal Eaters." These made delicious refreshments which were served to the group.

The next meeting will be July 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Arenzville high school gymnasium.

4-H Club Demonstrations

The Arenzville Busy Bees 4-H club met in the Home Ec room on Wednesday, June 16. Twenty members, the leaders, Mrs. Wilbur Meyer and Miss Carol Lovekamp were present. There were two guests, Judy Kleinschmidt and Cheryl Kunzeman. Sandra Greer has been transferred to the Virginia 4-H club.

Sara Clark gave the treasurer's report. Certificates were given to the girls enrolled in sewing. Sara and Annis Clark will be going to 4-H Camp at Lake Jacksonville.

Demonstrations were as follows: "Shrinking Your Cloth" by Sharon Meyer; "Tools Used In Sewing" by Annis Clark, a talk, "Cooking Fresh Vegetables" was given by Ruth Lawrence.

The girls enrolled in sewing brought their cloth, and the girls enrolled in cooking brought a display of what they had made and these were judged. The girls practiced their skit for their Share-the-Fun act.

Those who attended the Day Camp at the Beardstown Park June 14 were: Tamara Beard, Cheryl Burrus, Annis and Sara Clark, Carolyn Hansmeier, Jody Jones, Kathleen Kays, Carolee Kruse, Carol Lovekamp, Ruth Lawrence, Marilyn Meyer, Sharon Meyer, Shirley Meyer, Betsy McLin, Janet Stock, Nina Talkemeyer, Dorothy Vincent and Bernidean Zulauf.

Cornet solos were played by Meredith Beard and Janet Stock, with accompaniment. Refreshments were served by Janice Morrison and Marilyn Meyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Peck and family entertained relatives at a hamburger fry Monday evening, and their guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Croxton and family of Coopersburg, Pa.; ATC Richard L. Peck, Mrs. Peck and family, who are enroute from Corpus Christi Texas to McGuire Air Force Base at Trenton, N.J.; and Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Peck of Beardstown. Evening callers were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Peck and David of Springfield; Mrs. J. E. Peck, Mrs. Jennie Peck, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Lovekamp and family.

MURRAYVILLE MAN ENDS COURSE ON SUB CHASER

GREAT LAKES (FHTNC) — Robert H. Harp, boatswain's mate second class, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harp of Murrayville, Ill., and husband of the former Miss Doris M. Moss of Philadelphia, Pa., completed a two-week Naval Reserve Training cruise on the Great Lakes, June 19, aboard the escort submarine chaser USS Lamar.

BATH after BATH
AND SHOWER after SHOWER
and still there's HOT WATER for all . . . with an "ELECTRIC" Water Heater

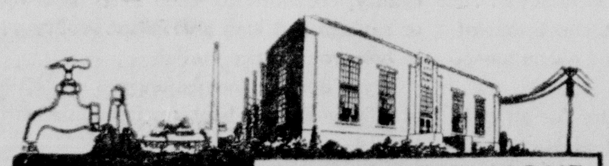

In order to assure your family plenty of hot water when you need it, your water heater must deliver superior performance. An electric water heater delivers all the hot water you need — hotter and faster. For example, a quick recovery water heater delivers 10 gallons of 150° hot water in 33 minutes or a tankful of 150° hot water in two full hours. A flame-type (combustion) heater of the same size, with a 35,000 B. T. U. input can only deliver 107° water in the same length of time. Even large families will have an abundance of hot water. An electric water heater with a new super speed heating element (4500 watt) is so efficient that it replaces hot water almost as fast as it is used.

Remember, too, the safety of your family is a prime consideration in buying a water heater. The electric water heater is 100% safe. There are no valves to stick, no moving parts to get out of order. No danger from escaping fuel, no fumes.

You can install an electric water heater anywhere — needs no vents — An electric water heater is low in cost to buy and operate. It will earn you lowest electric rates — when electric power is provided by your dependable City Water, Light, & Power Department.

You Are Invited To Help Us Celebrate

Just one year ago, Main Furniture opened its doors with an idea . . . This was to be a different kind of Furniture Store . . . Offering Nationally Famous quality Home Furnishings at substantial savings. We believe that the customer wanted furniture that would give lasting satisfaction, but easily priced within her budget . . . that they wanted the lowest possible price without "Dickering" or "Gimmicks" . . . that they wanted each piece of merchandise tagged with "All the Facts" so she could browse around intelligently.

Our first year has proven us right! Main Furniture has hundreds of customers and friends throughout Central Illinois!

Now during our big Anniversary Celebration, we show our thanks by offering even greater values! Shop the town! Shop Central Illinois . . . Then shop Main Furniture . . . Prove to yourself that you'll do better—a lot better at Main Furniture.

Church Magazines Compete For Readers' Time, Attention

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

American religious bodies are going into the magazine field in a big and craftsmanlike way.

One after another, they've developed handsome, nationally circulated periodicals, aimed both at reinforcing the faith and capturing mass audiences.

Started in New York this spring on authorization of the last Episcopal General Assembly, the new publication and various other church magazines of recent origin have the looks and ingenuity of top commercial "slicks."

The bright and stylish new Methodist monthly, "Together," started in 1956, already has passed the million mark, and is aiming for two million by the end of its second four years.

Editor Leland D. Case, of Chicago, said it's necessary to attract the multitudes in readership—if the church is to be best served. The objective, he said, is to be both "instructive and entertaining."

The broad appeal contrasts notably with the restricted fare of many church magazines in the past.

"We're concerned with all aspects of life and the whole scope of Christianity," said McCorkle. "We've got to take the blinders off, and listen to what others are saying that has meaning for us."

A major task also, he said, is for a church magazine to provide denominational cohesion, linking local, regional and national levels.

Roman Catholic publications, including 130 newspapers and 451 magazines in this country, now have a total circulation of 25 million, double that of 30 years ago.

Biggest of them is the million-circulation "Catholic Digest," a pocket-sized monthly packed with a lively variety in content, and put out in St. Paul, Minn., by Father Paul Bussard, publisher, and Father Kenneth Ryan, editor.

Also in the million-circulation class is the enterprising "Presbyterian Life," official biweekly of the United Presbyterian Church, edited by Robert J. Cadigan in Philadelphia.

I once saw a man use the top trump to ruff his partner ace and revoke at the same time, but if he just wants a general type play the one that I despise most is the play of deliberately overtaking your partner's high card in order to make a wrong lead.

The bidding of today's hand is not recommended and after West opened the six of trumps South saw that only a miracle could give him his contract, but the miracle happened.

He drew trumps with two leads and played ace and another diamond. East won with the ten and played the king and queen of clubs.

This gave West the chance to make one of those bad plays I mentioned earlier. He carefully overtook the queen of clubs with the ace in order to lay down the king of diamonds.

South ruffed; finessed dummy's jack of spades and threw West in with the third club. West had thoroughly end played himself and South made the hand.

If West had simply let East hold the queen of clubs East would have played a third club. Then West could have got out with a diamond and eventually made his king of spades.

Preliminary Plan Under Study For City, Village

Jacksonville's Future Growth Depends On Decisions Made Now

Jacksonville's growth over the past 30 years has been a far cry from what most experts describe as a "population explosion" if we are to rely on the data supplied by the United States Census Bureau.

Jacksonville and South Jacksonville legislators will soon be called upon to formulate the decisions that will, no doubt, shape the future or at least provide the guiding light for development and redevelopment in several areas of community life.

The city council and village board of trustees will be prodded, by choice, into mapping future development in such areas as residential expansion, business expansion, park site expansion and traffic-parking expansion at an early date.

The need to make such "king-sized" decisions stems from the first preliminary plan report for Jacksonville and South Jacksonville as presented by Evert Kincaid and Associates, city planners from Chicago. The Kincaid firm has been contracted by both Jacksonville and South Jacksonville to furnish a comprehensive city plan of development for both municipalities at a cost of $19,000. Half of the cost has been underwritten by the federal government.

The Journal Courier presents portions of the Kincaid report as a public service so the public may know the many aspects of plans under consideration.

It must be pointed out that the ideas presented in this article are by no means final. The ultimate decision to either accept all or part of the Kincaid report will be made by the city council and village board.

Until then, the plan remains flexible and under consideration. Members of the Jacksonville Plan Commission and South Jacksonville Plan Commission have accepted the responsibility of investigating all aspects of the presentation. They will make recommendations to their respective governing bodies concerning the many phases for development.

The public is invited to the first discussion of this report at City Hall, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Wilbur Rogers, chairman of the plan commission, said the group would discuss in detail, all phases of the report before making final recommendations to the council.

Jacksonville and South Jacksonville are located 61 miles north of the metropolitan area of St. Louis and 34 miles west of Springfield. The community composed of these two corporate entities, is situated in the center of Morgan county, a picturesque and prosperous farming area, and is sited on the rolling uplands of the Illinois River Valley. The history and tradition of the community dates back prior to 1825 when the establishment of Jacksonville as the seat of justice for Morgan county took place.

For a number of years Jacksonville was the dominating community in west central Illinois. Although it has since declined in relative importance, its structure and institutions still reflect the role which it played in the opening of the Midwest.

Many 'Firsts'

It was also the place in which many "firsts" in the State happened. The most outstanding of these in their day were the founding of Illinois College as the first institution of higher learning and the construction of the first railroad in Illinois from Meredosia to Jacksonville.

The early establishment of three state institutions, which still exist, has had a direct influence on the character of development of the community. MacMurray College, as it is named today, has also contributed in terms of social and humanitarian values to the growth of Jacksonville.

For Horse and Buggy

In retrospect, most of Jacksonville was platted and partially developed in terms of design criteria and other elements concerned with living in the middle and late 1800's and early 1900's. The shape of blocks and pattern of streets give evidence of consideration for the movement of people and goods by horse drawn vehicles and streetcar lines and for providing large garden plots for each house. The neighborhoods of yesterday may very easily be recognized by their physical improvements in terms of size of houses, street pavement, stone cut curbs, slab stone sidewalks, and the size of the graceful elm trees which have caused Jacksonville to be known in the past as the "elm tree" city. The type and style of architecture, which varies noticeably, also gives an indication as to the date of the establishment of various portions of the community.

Jacksonville and South Jacksonville are not particularly different in the evidence that remains of the past when compared with other Illinois communities. However, the social and economic patterns of living, as elsewhere, have greatly changed since the turn of the century in terms of tempo of living, distribution of income, and means of communication and transportation.

As is the case of every town, village and city in the United States, the advent of the automobile was not planned for, and even fifty years after its introduction some persons still do not accept it or make provisions for it. The pedestrian has almost been lost in the screech of tires, the blowing of horns, and clouds of blue-gray exhaust. But in spite of the automobile, the community has a pleasant atmosphere made up of wide streets and, for the most part, spacious homes, three state institutions and two private colleges.

The community's growth has been eclipsed by the growth of St. Louis, Springfield, Bloomington, and Peoria. It is now located on what is projected as the edge of an urbanized area which some authorities believe will grow to extend from St. Louis to Springfield, Bloomington, and Chicago within the next fifty years. A study of the new highway network of interstate routes best illustrates the Jacksonville area's eclipse by the larger surrounding industrial centers. Within the area bounded on the west by the Mississippi River, on the north by a line east through Peoria to Route 66, then on the east by Route 66 to Springfield, through Springfield on the south, and west back to the Mississippi River there are no plans for interstate routes.

Land Use

Residential use is the largest category of land use in Jacksonville and South Jacksonville, representing 27.1 percent and 27.2 percent respectively, of each corporate area. In Jacksonville 989.6 acres are occupied by some 4,6[illegible] dwelling structures, of which approximately 4,000 are single-family residences, 152 house trailers, and the remaining 500 are two-family and multiple family residences. A large proportion of those residential structures housing over one family are converted single family structures.

Of the 5,353 residential structures in existence in both Jacksonville and South Jacksonville in February of 1959, 731, or 13.6 percent, were less than 10 years of age. In 1950 in Jacksonville it was estimated that 10.8 percent, or 560 of the dwelling units were dilapidated and that 77.9 percent, or 4,045, were 30 years of age or older.

Two Possible Solutions

With the housing inventory revealing considerable aging of existing structures plus the need to plan and provide housing for 1,000 additional families by 1970, there were two major courses of action that may be followed to provide land for new housing development. They are:

1. The remaining buildable lots in both corporate areas can be occupied and new subdivision of land can take place along with the extension of water mains, sanitary sewers and storm drainage facilities and the development of new streets and thoroughfares: or

2. Those areas that contain the dilapidated structures and those structures that have deteriorated since 1950 could be removed through a program of urban renewal and these areas reestablished as the sites for new residential development.

Expansion To West

It is anticipated that if the first course of action is followed the majority of new development will take place along the western and southern areas of the communities. In anticipation of this growth, to a greater or lesser degree, the General Development and Area Development Plans show proposed locations of primary and secondary thoroughfares and school-park and park sites, all of which will be necessary to serve properly this anticipated growth. The anticipation of growth in these areas is predicted on the pattern of existing growth and the fact that these areas can most readily be served by public utilities.

It is proposed on the General Development Plan and Area Development Plan that industrial growth be continued in its present area north of the Central Business District and that a new industrial area in the northeastern part of the city be developed and supplied with heavy duty access roads, as part of the renewal program. Also the areas lying east of the city of Jacksonville along the primary thoroughfares and the Wabash Railroad should be promoted for industrial location and growth.

In South Jacksonville it is proposed that the village adopt a policy of encouraging light industry development, as classified by the terms of the suggested zoning text presented as part of the planning program. Such light industry should be along the western side of the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio tracks.

There is one other area which may be considered as having industrial potential. This is an undefined space at the present time which lies to the west of the city along the Wabash Railroad and just west of the new Highway 104 Bypass presently under construction. But prior to any location of industry in this area, a sound plan for the disposal of sanitary and industrial sewage must be developed and the problems of storm drainage, solved.

Competition Strong

In order to attract industry to a community today, a city or village must compete with some 9,000 other communities within the United States which are actively trying to induce industry to locate within corporate area. For Jacksonville to compete it must have a supply of good housing schools, parks, churches, water supply, sewer facilities, power (electricity and gas), and a general community attractiveness in terms of physical facilities. Jacksonville lacks two of these items—a supply of good housing and neighborhood parks.

The Journal Courier invites your comments on any or all phases of the proposed city plan.

In an effort to print as many comments as possible, please limit your letters to about 150 words. All letters must bear the signature of the writer, although we will withhold the source of the comment upon written request.

Please address all communications concerning the proposed plan report to:

Two Plans of Financing

There are two main methods of promoting and financing urban renewal programs; one is by the establishment of a privately endowed authority for buying, clearing and rebuilding the blighted areas. The other is through a federally assisted urban renewal program whereby the city puts up part of the necessary funds—the federal government will contribute $2 for every $1 the city provides. Under the new Housing Act of 1959, the city may not have to actually provide money in matching funds but may contribute the cost of improvements which will serve the renewal areas as matching credits.

Conservation Area

The study of Jacksonville and South Jacksonville reveals that there has been one element of community growth which seems to have been allowed to emerge as a problem rather than being solved or provided for in the development of the community. The physical base of Jacksonville is the general rolling uplands of the Illinois River. The city, in its first development, was placed on the high land which is drained by Mauvaisterre Creek, the name of which in itself describes its setting — Mauvaisterre or Badlands. The topography associated with the creek is either coarse and rolling or low flood plain. The growth of the community downhill to the badlands and Town Creek, a tributary of Mauvaisterre Creek, is bringing to the attention of today's population the need for serious consideration of the problem of storm water disposal. With a gradient of 30 feet in 11 miles, or .0516 per cent (which may be expressed as one foot drop in every 1,900 feet of horizontal distance), storm water once it reaches the creek proper moves slowly. Too, with the increase in impervious surface created by the development of buildings, streets, driveways, patios and sidewalks, the amount of runoff is constantly increasing.

Better Undeveloped

It is proposed that the areas immediately adjacent to the creek (both flood plains and steep, rough bank areas) be left undeveloped to facilitate drainage and to prevent the increased flood damage which would ensue if additional structures were to be placed in the flood plains. It is further proposed that these areas be delimited, designated as conservation areas, and studied in detail, with the view of establishing an arboretum, picnic grove or other similar type recreational facility.

There is a second element for consideration in the development of these conservation areas. Because of topography alone, they will not lend themselves to any type of use which would accrue as an attribute to the community. To preserve these areas for recreation and flood plain use will prevent their deterioration into junk yards and waste dumps as often happens to such space adjacent to a community.

Business Potential

In walking through the present business area one can see that the existing establishments group themselves by type of business into three distinct categories:

1. Retail businesses, the majority of which are situated on the square and East State street plus a few stores and uses along Main street and a scattering in neighborhood areas.

2. Service businesses, the majority of which are clustered around the retail core of the Central Business District and northward to the railroad tracks.

3. Highway businesses, which may be noted on the land use map as situated in strip developments along the thoroughfares of the community.

To protect the existing investment in structures, inventory and good will, a plan of intensification of the retail core of the Central Business District is recommended. It is necessary that the cumulative attractiveness of this downtown area not be allowed to lag or deteriorate to such an extent (because of congestion, blighted and dilapidated buildings, sprawl and intrusion by non-retail uses) that outside capital or the present businessmen themselves are forced to develop another business area on the periphery of the community and detract even further from the existing Central Business District, thereby hastening further collapse.

Central Business District

In the development of a program for the intensification of the Central Business District, the various elements of structures and space, vehicular and pedestrian movement, and the type of business use were considered. The ideal solution to a business area is one that provides for these elements in such a manner that a harmonious and cohesive plan is evolved. This is attained through providing continuity of retail store frontage, a wide selection of shoppers' goods, sufficient off-street parking, and the separation of movement of pedestrians and vehicles.

The first analysis made was a study of vehicular movements in and through the present elements of the Central Business District. After discussion with the Plan Commission and Chief of Police, a new tarffic pattern for local traffic was proposed. This proposal has been adopted in part and the movement of local traffic through the district has been improved.

Another traffic problem of the Central Business District is the movement of vehicles through it that have no destination in the community. This is caused by the location of State Route 104 and Federal Route 67 on Main Street, which carries traffic into the downtown area and around the public square. There is potential relief from this situation being developed in that State Route 104 is to bypass the northwestern portion of the city by being routed south west of the city limits, and then routed east over Morton Avenue.

In order to provide a logical progression of development, the Central Business District Development Plan has been proposed in three stages, each of which contains an outline of steps necessary to accomplish the final product. The listing of various steps within each stage does not necessarily represent an order of priority. In many instances certain actions must take place simultaneously.

STAGE ONE

On Stage One of the development plan for the Central Business District an analysis of the existing type of business uses was made. This analysis divided the business establishments into two groups, (1) retail and supplementary business uses, and (2) wholesale and service business uses.

The first major step necessary to intensify the business area is to provide ample parking in close proximity to all retail and supplemental uses in such a manner that the location of new parking facilities will prevent the business group from spreading out and and breaking up into a number of smaller units, but retain the group as a cohesive uint. Also the additional parking area must be so located that it will cause retail uses to locate around the parking and intensify the existing pattern of retail outlets. This may be accomplished by the redevelopment of existing structures or clearance and building of new ones.

In order to separate the through traffic from the traffic destined for the Central Business District it is proposed that Main Street be continued straight through the present public square and that parking be developed on each side of the square following either Schedule A or Schedule B.

SCHEDULE A

Schedule A provides for parking 238 cars on each side of the public square, an addition of 147 cars above the present capacity of each side of the square. This parking layout would allow for the maintenance of a considerable green area within the square.

SCHEDULE B

Schedule B would provide for 297 cars on each side of the square, 206 above the present capacity. This plan would allow considerably less green space. The conversion of a portion or the majority of the square to a parking area would net from 294 to 405 new parking spaces depending on the design schedule used.

1. The adoption of a new one-way system for minor streets now providing access and egress to the square. (This has already been accomplished.)

2. The completion of the State Route 104 bypass and the elimination of much traffic presently routed through the square.

3. The opening of Main street through the square.

4. The design and development of parking facilities using either Schedule A or Schedule B and the elimination of the "around the square" traffic movement. This would mean that access to the east side of the square could be gained from South Main, North Mauvaisterre, East State and East Morgan. On the west side of the square access would be gained from North Main, South Sandy, West State and West Court.

5. The continued enforcement of a one-side-of-the-street parking practice on one-way streets and the program of skip parking that has been inaugurated.

6. The closing of State street through the square as a major thoroughfare.

7. The improvement of Douglas and College avenues by the elimination of parking in the vicinity of their intersection with Main street.

8. The development of a plan of architectural control and regulation for those structures fronting on the square and surrounding stores, with consideration of the development of Stage Two and Stage Three of the Central Business District Development Plan.

In the presentation of Stage One, the problem of traffic movement that is on State street was questioned. "How much was there?" Where was it going?" Again the Chamber of Commerce stepped forward and, with the assistance of the students from classes of the Departments of Sociology of Illinois and MacMurray Colleges, a traffic study was made of vehicular movements on State street.

The survey was conducted March 8, 1960, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; March 18 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.; and March 19 from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. It was felt that this provided a representative sample of vehicles that use State street to move to and through the square.

Drivers Questioned

A total of 7,700 drivers exiting from the square via State street were interviewed and answered the following questions asked them:

1. Are you stopping on the square? 2. On which side of the square do you wish to park? 3. On which street will you leave the square?

Of those entering the square, only 34.7 per cent were stopping on the square. Of those leaving the square only 27.5 per cent had stopped on the square to shop or do business. It was felt that this special investigation by the Chamber of Commerce and the students of Illinois and MacMurray Colleges pointed up the fact that if through traffic on State street, with direct access to Main street as a thoroughfare, was eliminated, that Douglas and College avenues should be improved in terms of traffic capability by the elimination of parking and improvement of sight distances at their intersection with Main street.

One other interesting result of the survey was the preference expressed for parking space and the actual distribution of parking.

Stage Two

Stage Two of the development plan is based on the assumption, and because of the attractiveness of the area as developed by Stage One and community growth, additional stores will desire to locate on the square or in the immediate area.

With the monies obtained from the sale of prime store area in the square, which in Stage One was parking area, a considerably larger area of parking space may be obtained in the area immediately surrounding the retail core. Stage Two as proposed would provide between 1,800 and 2,000 parking spaces. The steps necessary to achieve this stage are:

1. The sale of Stage One parking areas in the square for retail outlets.

2. The provision and development of peripheral parking areas.

3. The development of pedestrian malls with landscape and architectural features based on the long range plans initiated as part of Stage One.

4. In the development of the mall, provisions for ease of movement of fire trucks on and through the mall must be part of the redesign criteria.

5. The development of traffic pick-up and turn around space at the terminus of East and West State Street.

6. The maintenance of new parking areas along Main Street in the center of the square.

7. The establishment of new parking areas along Main Street in the center of the square.

8. A restudy of traffic movement around the Central Business District and greater improvement of thoroughfares based upon the survey.

9. Initiation of a program to move Route 67 out of the city to bypass all traffic that has no destination within the city, as proposed on the area development plan.

STAGE THREE

This represents the final stage of development and intensification of the Jacksonville Central Business District. The steps necessary to achieve this are:

1. The elimination of all through-traffic on Main Street.

2. The development of peripheral streets as four-lane trafficways with adequate points of access to parking areas and with the necessary traffic control devices.

3. The development of the city-county building and other business areas with consideration for the necessary thoroughfares to serve this final stage.

4. Elimination of the minor streets presently serving the Central Business District and their incorporation into the parking areas.

5. The establishment of additional retail stores on the square.

6. the re-development of the public square as an innercourt with proper landscape and architectural features.

7. The development of additional parking areas with the funds derived from the sale of land for additional stores.

Stage three is an ultimate solution based on the competitive design and concept of new shopping areas as they are being designed and built today. It is necessary to develop a goal towards which to strive, and this seems to be a reasonable goal in terms of present day technology.

If funds were available, the shopping demand present, and the State Highway Department willing to accept and develop the primary highway bypass system immediately. Stages One and Two could be eliminated and Stage three immediately undertaken. This, however, is only a dreamer's wish. The achievement of the Central Business District which must meet competition from new centers within the region must be immediately initiated in order to obviate the elements which encourage capital, be it local or from other areas, to develop these new competitive business areas. If the local merchants do not do their part immediately and cooperate with one another and encourage the city to follow an intensification program with the use of private and public funds, the advantage that the present businessmen enjoy today will slip away.

PARKS

Within the confines of the corporate areas of the community, excluding the ball park at Lake Mauvaisterre, there for recreational purposes, four parks in the public square, Duncan Park, the Veteran's Park, and the old village hall site in South Jacksonville.

This is a total of approximately 10 acres.

According to the plan report of 1924, the only addition of recreation land within the past 35 years has been Veterans Park. This does not speak well of the recreational facilities within the corporate area when compared against the national standards proposed by the National Recreation Association—that for every 100 persons there should be one acre of recreational space.

However, any criticism must be moderated when the developments about Lakes Mauvaisterre, Morgan and Jacksonville, are considered. Also, there is within the corporate area a lot of space in the center of many blocks in which one can picture many children having ample space to recreate.

Neighborhood parks are lacking in the community, and with the disappearance of open space within the interior of blocks, some neighborhood facilities must be developed.

The city park board has for many years provided the fine community facilities at Nichols Park, about Lakes Morgan and Mauvaisterre, with its golf courses, swimming pool, playground, tennis courts, ball park, and picnic facilities. Lake Mauvaisterre, Morgan and Jacksonville together provide wonderful recreational facilities for certain segments of the population.

On the Area and General Development plans for the Village of South Jacksonville and the city of Jacksonville are proposed a number of school-park and park sites to answer the need for neighborhood open space. On these plans are also shown an area labeled "Conservation Area." It is proposed that this area may well be used as part of the recreational facilities of the community.

The majority of the present facilities provided in Morgan County for public recreational purposes seem to be supported only by the persons paying a tax levied by the City Council of Jacksonville. It would only seem fair that all persons receiving a benefit from these facilities—and the benefit is not always in the use of the facilities—should share a proportionate cost of the maintenance and future development of these facilities. It is there proposed that a park district be established to give the people using the facilities equal financial responsibility as well as equal representation through the election of park board officials thereby having a voice in future development of the recreational facilities.

Miss Cowhick June Bride

Sandra Lee Cowhick, daughter of Mrs. Lucille Cowhick of Winchester, and Paul Eugene Hembrough, son of Harold Hembrough of Jacksonville, were united in marriage Friday, June 17 at 8 o'clock in the Winchester Methodist Church. The Rev. Roy G. Goodell performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore for her wedding a white street length dress and a white hat and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations delicately shaded with pink. Miss Hembrough's dress was aqua, her bouquet of aqua and white carnations completed the outfit.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Cowhick home for members of the immediate families. The beautifully decorated cake was gracefully topped with the bride and groom traditional to the Woodall family, Sandra's great grandparents.

Sandra graduated from Winchester High school with the class of 1960. Paul from Jacksonville High school in 1960. Upon their return from a short wedding trip they will be at home in Jacksonville where Paul is engaged in farming with his father.

Murrayville Merry Maids Meet June 18

The Murrayville Merry Maids 4-H club met June 18 at the American Legion hall, with president Mary Andras presiding.

The program consisted of talks by Mary Hull, Karla Million, Mary Grimsley and Rita Connolly. Subjects discussed were cookies, cakes, bread and fire prevention.

Three demonstrations were also given. Nancy Davenport demonstrated making a vegetable salad; Mary Langdon demonstrated how to prepare creamed beef and Mary Andras demonstrated putting on a stay band.

The next meeting will be held June 24 at the American Legion hall. The meeting will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Millie Powell Becomes Bride

An afternoon ceremony Sunday, June twelfth, at the Versailles First Baptist Church united in marriage Miss Millie Powell of Jacksonville and Howard Mason of Arenzville.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Milton Powell of Jacksonville and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mason of Arenzville.

Miss Charlotte Powers of Jacksonville was maid of honor and Miss Kay Reynolds, Jacksonville, was bridesmaid.

Attending the groom were Richard Leischner of Arenzville, best man, and Walter Mason, his brother, groomsman. Ushers were Eddie Hudson, Jacksonville, and Alvin Dufelmier, Moline.

Mrs. LaVern Chute of Versailles presided at the piano playing the traditional processional and recessional. Mrs. Chute accompanied the soloist, Miss Sandra Molen of Modesto, who sang "Because," "Always," "Saviour Like A Shepherd Lead Us."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore white satin, tulle and lace gown designed and made by Mrs. Lee Braner. The fitted bodice featured a portrait neckline and long sleeves. Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of pearls. She carried a white Bible topped by a white orchid. Her pearl necklace was a gift of the bridegroom.

Reception Follows

A reception was held at the Versailles community building following the ceremony. Guests were served from a six tiered wedding cake, accompanied by a fruit punch, mints and nutmeats.

Assisting with serving were Mrs. Richard Fricke, Havana, Mrs. Norman Cloyes, Morton, sisters of the bridegroom; Mrs. Larry Summers, Jacksonville; Mrs. Donald Chute, Mrs. LaVern Chute and Mrs. John Childers of Versailles.

Ruth Long registered guests and Mary Marquard and Betty Main were in charge of the gifts.

When the couple left on their honeymoon the bride was wearing a royal blue dress with beige accessories. They visited Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Arkansas and southern Illinois. Since returning, Mr. and Mrs. Mason are making their home at Moline.

Mrs. Mason is a graduate of Jacksonville High School with the class of 1960. Mr. Mason is a graduate of Arenzville High school and is employed at the John Deere Parts Depot in East Moline.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

SALEM, Ore. (AP)— When the official tally was made on votes for Republican Party chairman in Oregon, it was found that 757 candidates got votes.

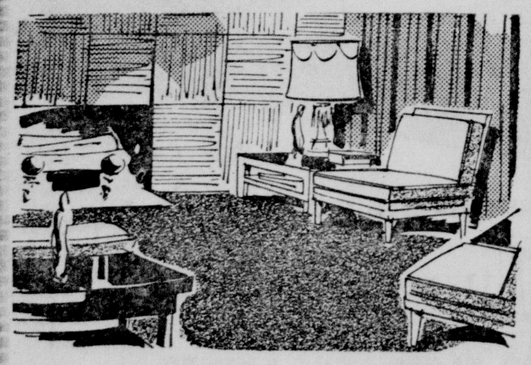

It was strictly a write-in ballot.

Three men made a race for the office and divided some 29,000 ballots. But 2,406 voters divided their support among 754 others.

Adding CHARM to YOUR Home

by Edna C. Gustine

COLOR-STYLE YOUR FLOOR

The first impression of any room should be that of a color unit. It must give the impression of its color as a whole . . . and then the details noticed in the logical order of their importance.

Floor coverings, like walls, are one of the largest areas in a room, and the color chosen for them should always be coordinated with all the other decorating elements in the room plan. Often a floor covering plays the most dominant role and the other background and furniture colors are keyed to it. Even if it is to play a passive role, it must blend in with and become a contributing part of the color unit.

Unity is assured when you repeat the floor color in your walls, draperies and upholstery. It was once considered correct always to have the floor darker than the walls and the ceiling lighter. While this is a safe practice, it is no guarantee of pleasing results. Today, floors are important decorating factors in their own right and the only restriction placed on them, color-wise, is that of conformity of fitness and purpose.

There are many practical considerations that will influence your choice of floor coverings: quality, price, size, shape and suitability to function. We have considered all of these when selecting the floor coverings we offer you. So come in and shop assured.

Alexander Girl June Bride In Recent Ceremony

ALEXANDER—In a morning ceremony performed Saturday, June 18, at the Church of the Visitation at Alexander, Miss Helen Wallbaum became the bride of Thomas J. Bergschneider of Franklin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wallbaum of Alexander, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bergschneider of Franklin.

The Nuptial Mass was performed by the Reverend F. M. Troesch who used the double ring ceremony. The altar of the church was beautifully decorated with white carnations.

Mrs. Vernie Bergschneider presided at the organ playing a prelude which included "Ave Maria," Shubert; "Excultate" and "Solemn Melody," Kreckel. She played the traditional marches and the hymns "Panis Angelicus," Lambillalte," "Oh Lord I am not Worthy," and as the bride presented her bouquet to the Blessed Virgin, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Given In Marriage

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of sheer net with lace over bridal satin. Lace was used to fashion the snug fitting bodice of the dress. The long sleeves tapered to points over her wrists. The high neck was finished with a Queen Anne collar. The same lace formed two wide panels inserted from waist to the hemline at the front of the skirt. The full skirt extended wide over graduated hoops.

The bride's veil was circular cut from illusion attached to a crown headdress adorned with seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of white carnations.

The maid of honor wore a yellow street length dress of lace over satin. The dress had a fitted bodice with very full skirt and off shoulder neckline. She wore a white feather hat. Mrs. Ryan was dressed identically in green and carried a nosegay of green carnations.

Mrs. Wallbaum chose for her daughter's wedding a light blue eyelet dress with carnations tinted blue. Mrs. Bergschneider wore a blue sheath with blue carnations.

Reception Follows Ceremony

A reception was held in the church hall following the ceremony. Yellow and green were used in decorating the linen covered serving table appointed in silver and crystal. Floral arrangements and crystal candelabra held tall tapers at either side of the tiered wedding cake. A small bride and groom graced the top of the cake. Guests were served coffee or fruit punch with cake, nutmeats and yellow and green mints.

Mrs. Edward Bergschneider of Franklin served cake, Mrs. Melvin Ellering of Jacksonville, punch and Karolyn Leak of Franklin, coffee. Loretta Bergschneider, Franklin, was in charge of gifts and Marilyn Ryan, Springfield, registered guests.

The bride is a graduate of the 1960 Class of Franklin High school. The groom is a graduate of the 1956 Class of Franklin High school and attended the University of Illinois, for a course in agriculture, and is now engaged in farming.

Snow-Pohlman Vows Spoken At Brussels Church

HARDIN—Miss Virginia Pohlman, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Pohlman of Brussels became the bride of Kenneth Snow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Snow of Hardin in a double ring ceremony performed at 1 p.m. Saturday in the rectory of St. Mary's church in Brussells. Rev. Joseph Enright, pastor, officiated at the wedding, in the presence of the couple's immediate families.

The bride wore a waltz length gown of starched white nylon lace over layers of tulle and taffeta. Her short veil of tulle was held by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, and her jewelry consisted of a tear drop pearl pendant with matching earrings.

Attendants were the bride's sister, Mrs. Alfred J. Pluester, matron of honor, and the groom's brother, Major Orville C. Snow. Immediately following the ceremony, the couple received a small number of guests at the bride's parental home.

A reception was held for guests in the patio room of Pere Marquette park lodge near Grafton. Refreshments were served from a buffet table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by lighted tapers, white stock and mums. Mrs. Marvin Stumpf and Mrs. A. J. Pohlman were in charge of the gift table.

Upon their return from a honeymoon at Lake Charles, La., the couple will live in their newly completed home in the Ringhausen addition in Hardin. Mr. Snow is employed by County Mutual Casualty Company.

Altar Society Of Waverly Church Planning Picnic

WAVERLY—The monthly meeting of the altar society of Saint Sebastian church was held Tuesday, June 14, in the church basement with Mrs. James Clark and Mrs. Paul Ryan as hostesses. After the Rosary, led by Mrs. George Dorwart, the business meeting was held at which time the ladies discussed a time to entertain the Franklin parish ladies. It was also discussed about the church annual picnic and the annual chicken supper.

A short recreational period was held with prizes going to Mrs. Ollie Maher, Mrs. George Dorwart, Mrs. Helen Maher and Miss Patricia Ryan. Fifteen members were present at the meeting.

Audrey Ford To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Ford of Waverly announces the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Audrey Kay, to Donald F. Mayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mayes of Waverly.

Head Of Poison Control Center Calls Himself Ordinary Chemist

"Poison control," he said automatically. He says it dozens of times a day in his office, so why not at home, in the middle of the night?

The caller was a doctor. He had a patient, a child who sampled some rat poison from a kitchen cabinet while his parents slept. The doctor didn't know what kind and he wasn't sure about the proper treatment. But with just a few clues Raybin was able to tell him what to do.

This child is just one of the 23 million American youngsters 5 and under to whom life is an adventure in tasting, chewing, swallowing, smelling and spilling. Sometimes it ends in death.

Home supposedly is a safe harbor. But that's only what parents think. It's in the home toddlers sample flavored aspirin or burning lye, or swallow any of the thousands of drugs or household chemicals which produce hurried calls to the New York City Department of Health's Poison Control Center.

The man generally relied upon for answers is Raybin, a slightly rumpled chemist of 59, the technical director.

There are no bubbling flasks or gleaming tangles of vapor-filled glass piping in Raybin's domain. There are several cardboard boxes full of cans and bottles and packages of stuff you might buy in any supermart. His laboratory is a bookcase behind his desk.

"I'm just an ordinary chemist," says Raybin. 'There's nothing mysterious or romantic about this place. What we try to do is keep track of everything that can possibly cause poisoning. You don't do anything spectacular in this business."

But to other observers, Raybin himself is spectacular. His boss, Dr. Harold Jacobziner, assistant commissioner of health, says "Harry Raybin is a walking encyclopedia on toxic substances." In Washington, Dr. Howard Cann, director of the U. S. Public Health Service's national clearinghouse for poison control centers, says New York's is the best of 364 centers in the nation" because Raybin himself is a prime source of information and because of the excellent prevention program directed by Dr. Jacobziner."

The first poison control center was set up in 1953 in Chicago. An American Medical Assn. survey showed there were approximately 250,000 toxic or potentially toxic trade-name products on the consumer market. How could the average doctor or hospital possibly keep up with the potential poisoning hazards? The centers answer the problem by gathering information. When a doctor wants to know what's in a substance his patient swallowed, he reaches for the telephone. The center also can tell him what treatment to use.

Mrs. Harry Hyatt Dies At Hospital Friday Afternoon

Mrs. Jessie Mae Hyatt, wife of Harry Hyatt, passed away at Passavant Hospital at 1:50 p.m. Friday. She had been a patient at the hospital for six weeks.

Mrs. Hyatt was born in Valley City, Ill., May 10, 1889, the daughter of Reese and Mary Turner. She married Harry Hyatt in Naples Nov. 23, 1907. He survives.

Other survivors include four sons, Melvin Hyatt of Phoenix, Ariz., and William A., Milton and Francis Hyatt, all of Jacksonville; one daughter, Mrs. Judge M. Cogswell of Jacksonville; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Three sisters, Della Gargus of Valley City, Mary Vogt of Houston, Tex., and Leona Kelsey of Galesburg, also survive. One son, Donald, and a brother, Harry, preceded her in death.

Mrs. Hyatt was employed for 30 years as a seamstress by the J. Capps and Son Co., retiring in 1954. She was a member of the Valley City Methodist Church and the A.C.W.A.

Funeral services will be held at the Gillham Funeral Home at 1:30 p.m. Monday. Dr. Frank Marston will officiate. Burial will be in Memorial Lawn Cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the Gillham Funeral Home from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

WINNING STREAK

Sugar Ray Robinson, after turning professional boxer in 1940, won 40 straight bouts before he was out-pointed by Jake LaMotta on Feb. 5, 1943.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Mason Are Held Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Ruby Mason, wife of George Mason, were held at the Williamson Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Friday. Rev. Harvey Dibrell conducted the services. Mrs. Francis Angel played several selections at the organ.

The V.F.W. Auxiliary attended in a group and conducted graveside rites at Memorial Lawn cemetery. Those participating in the rites were Adeline Warmouth, president; Eleanor Hayes, conductress; Cecilia Walker, chaplain; Lottie Bradshaw, senior vice president; Marjorie Power, banner, and color bearers, Clara Tribble, Hazel Roman, Inez Poole and Marie Strubbe.

Pallbearers were Bernard Mason, Harry Mason, Gene Walker, Pete Gillespie, Bill Powers and Orval Smock.

Flowers were cared for by Mrs. Dewey Tr[illegible]ble, Mrs. Gene Walker, Mrs. Bill Power and Mrs. Virgil Hayes.

SON-IN-LAW OF MRS. MECHLING KILLED IN WEST

Mrs. Milo Mechling, 1504 West State street, has received word of the death of her son-in-law, William Bilsborrow, who was electrocuted Thursday. Mr. Bilsborrow was superintendent of installation of radar equipment on ships, working for Westinghouse.

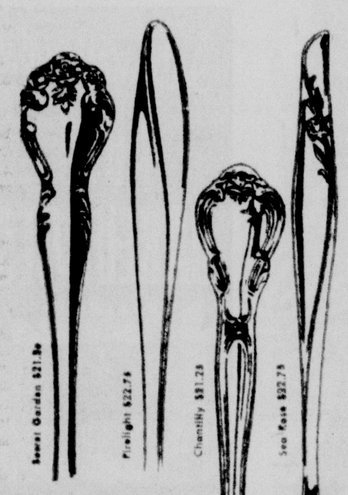

Mrs. Bilsborrow is the former Mary Meyer of Jacksonville. The Bilsborrows made their home at 17829 Palora, Encino, Calif.

Rozelle Blasts New Loop On Player Policies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League said Friday the new American League by playing undergraduates before their classes graduate is setting a precedent that could ruin college football.

Rozelle's observation was made after learning the Los Angeles Chargers of the American Football League had signed three undergraduate college players and welcomed more.

Coach Sid Gilman of the Chargers said in Dallas he has signed Jack Espinship of Florida State, Frank Nix of Georgia Tech and Ernie Wright of Ohio State. All have a year or more of college eligibility remaining.

"I'm firmly convinced," said Gillman, "that the American Football League should permit a boy to play when it is obvious that he has no chance of playing any more college football."

Rozelle said such action is opening the floodgates to college boys quitting school and vying for the high pro football financial dollar. Gillman asserted that the boys signed by the Chargers were encouraged to do so by their college coaches, that they were economic hardship cases or were flunking out of school anyway.

To this, Rozelle said, "it is extremely likely under this practice that many college student-athletes would deliberately leave school and abandon their education for the economic advantages of pro football."

COLLEGIATE CHAMP

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Jo Anne Gunderson, 21, of Kirkland, Wash., won the 16th annual Women's Collegiate Golf Tournament Friday by defeating another Curtis Cup star, Judy Eller, on the 20th hole.

Drafke Captures Fourth Illinois Women's Amateur

ALTON, Ill. (AP)—Lois Drafke of LaGrange won her fourth Illinois Women's Amateur Golf title Friday, defeating Doris Phillips of Belleville, 5 and 4.

Miss Phillips, the gallery favorite, and Miss Drafke, who played near perfect golf on the last 14 holes, were all even after the first 18 holes of the scheduled 36-hole match. Miss Phillips won the 19th to take the lead.

But Miss Drafke won three straight holes, firing a birdie on the 22nd, to go 2 up after 22 holes. She won the 25th with a 13-foot putt, then shot another birdie on the 28th to go 4 up.

Miss Phillips sank a 20-foot putt to win No. 30 with a birdie, but the defending champ came right back with a birdie to win the 31st and ended it on No. 32 when Miss Phillips drove into the rough, landing behind a tree stump.

Miss Drafke's other state titles were in 1953, 1955 and 1959. In 1957 she was second in the women's division of the All-America Tourney at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago. Her home course is the Acacia Country Club at LaGrange, where her father is greens superintendent.

She is the third player in history to win as many as four crowns. Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, now a pro, won five titles, and Ruth More of Pekin took four crowns.

Miss Phillips was driving well, but had trouble with her approach shots and with her putting. The champion improved as the match wore on and her methodical efficiency was too much for Miss Phillips.

Legion Held To 3-3 Deadlock At White Hall

WHITE HALL — Jacksonville American Legion and White Hall battled to a 3-3 tie here Friday night before the contest was called due to darkness.

Jacksonville collected only one hit and that came on a home run by Gary Spangenberg in the first inning with a man on. Dale Smith's nine scored again in the fifth inning on a pair of errors.

NEW COACH

ANTON DOLENC

NEW BERLIN — The assistant coach at New Berlin High School, Anton Dolenc, has been named to fill the shoes of Bill Hovey, who resigned recently to accept the principalship at the Glenwood High School.

Dolenc has been elementary school coach at New Berlin one year and last year, in addition to being assistant to Hovey, and head track coach, taught social studies at the school.

He is a graduate of Western Illinois University at Macomb. Mr. Dolenc calls Auburn his home town. He is married to the former Patricia Hockenberry of New Berlin. Mr. and Mrs. Dolenc and baby will make their home in Jacksonville.

WINS BERMUDA RACE

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — The broad-beamed 39-foot yawl Finisterre out of Annapolis, Md., overcame both languid breezes and outright gales and won the Newport, R.I.-Bermuda yacht race Friday on the basis of corrected time for the third straight year.

The Finisterre, owned by Carleton Mitchell, took both the overall honors and those in the smallest class, E, to become the undisputed queen of ocean racing. She had an elapsed time for 635 nautical miles of 127 hours, 39 minutes, and 54 seconds. Her handicap, large because of her comparatively short length, gave her a final corrected time of 102 hours, 58 minutes, 52 seconds.

ENGLISH INVITATION

BOSTON (AP) — Johnny Buckley, manager of Paul Pender, holder of the middleweight title—New York and Massachusetts version—said Friday he and Pender have been invited to England to attend the July 5 Edwards-Downes middleweight match.

Buckley said promoter Harry Levine telephoned the invitation and wants Pender to meet the winner.

FINALLY GETS PAID

NEW YORK (AP) — Ex-heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson finally has been paid off in full for his first fight with Floyd Patterson, the one in which he won the title by a knockout in June 1959.

The New York State Athletic Commission Friday turned over $153,475.17 it held in escrow for Johansson, to attorneys for the Swedish fighter.

NO MORE UNDERGRADS

DALLAS (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League said Friday college undergraduates would not be signed by his league in the future.

Two of them, Ernie White of Ohio State and Jack Sherer of Miami, already are signed to contracts, White by the Los Angeles Chargers and Sherer by the New York Titans, and they will be allowed to play, Foss said. But, he added, there will be no more.

The league, said Foss, will follow the rule that says boys may not be signed until their college classes graduated.

TOP SEATS ARE $25

TORONTO (AP)—Top seats will sell at $25 for the world light-heavyweight title fight tentatively set for Aug. 8 in Varsity Stadium here, the promoters said Friday.

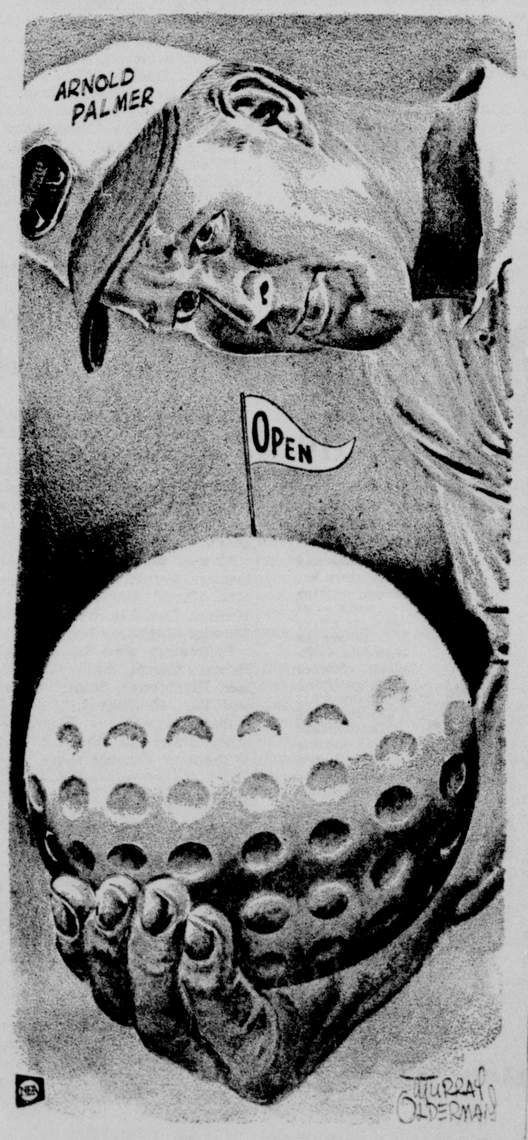

Archie Moore is scheduled to defend his crown against Eric Schoeppner of Germany, the undefeated European champion. Moore is guaranteed $200,000; Schoeppner $50,000.

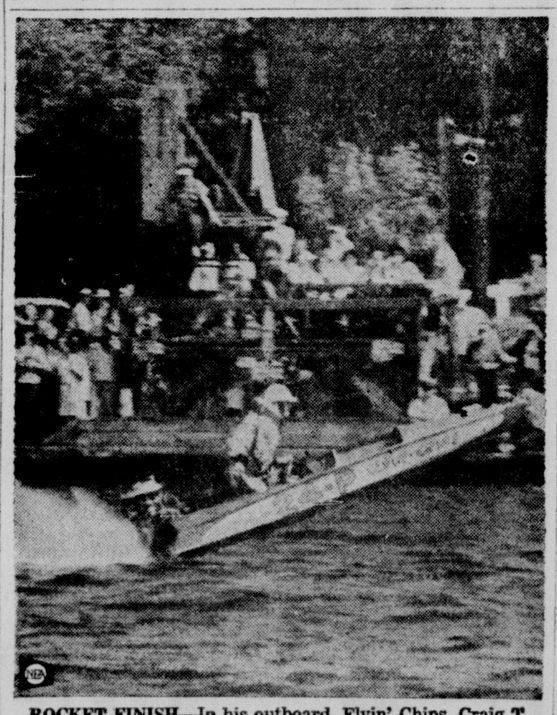

Lowest-priced seat in the midtown football park will be $5.

49ers SIGN LEASE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League signed a 10-year lease Thursday for Kezar Stadium. It bars the stadium after 1961 to the rival Oakland Raiders of the American Football League. Both clubs will use the stadium next fall. The pact will force the Raiders either to build a stadium or seek a playing field elsewhere.

WHOLE WORLD IN HIS HAND

ROCKET FINISH—In his outboard, Flyin' Chips, Craig T. Dewald skimmed over a 100-mile St. Lawrence River course to finish first off Alexandria Bay, N.Y., in the BU class of the International Thousand Islands Marathon. The Reading, Pa., pilot went the route in 2 hours, 10 minutes and 31 seconds before an estimated 60,000 spectators.

Order Hearing On Airliner Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board Friday ordered a hearing at Hollywood, Calif., July 20 on the Tell City, Ind., crash of a Northwest Airlines plane killing 63 persons last March 17.

The California hearing will be the second phase of the CAB inquiry.

At a public hearing at Evansville, Ind., in May, the board heard 29 witnesses on the circumstances of the crash of the Electra turboprop airplane.

The new hearing, at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel, will deal with technical aspects. Experts from Lockheed Aircraft Corp. at Burbank, Calif., will testify, as will the CAB experts and others who examined the airplane wreckage.

MACMURRAY COLLEGE FEATURED IN NATIONAL MAGAZINE

MacMurray College and its coordinate education system were the subjects recently of an article in the national magazine Coach and Athlete. The article, written by MacMurray's public relations department, described the system cooperative use of the same facilities now in use at MacMurray.

The article discussed in detail MacMurray's current and future athletic programs.

FRISCO MAKES TITLE BID

NEW YORK (AP)—San Francisco became the fourth city to bid for the return heavyweight title match between Champion Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson, it was announced Friday by William B. Fugazy, director of Feature Sports, Inc.

Fugazy said the bid came from Mayor George Christopher, who assured "maximum cooperation," if the fight was staged there.

HARD PURSUED

BY NORMAN A. FOX

XXXVI

Buckner saw the telegraph pole drop, and McQueen's office door open. The sheriff stood there, peering out, drawn by that cry, a smoking rifle in his hand. Behind him stood Gulley Jordan, and looking over Gulley's shoulder was Dorcas.

"Lark!" a man shouted. "Is that you, Lark?"

Spence Rigby had stood apart from the others, big and recognizable in his yellow slicker. His round face showed the same astonishment as the others, but his held something else—fright that turned to fury. He started to run, but swung back, his hand jerking open his slicker and bringing out a gun. Buckner thought frantically of Pru, here beside him and Lark Rigby. Spence tilted the gun toward his brother, but the explosion that filled the night came from another gun, in Rufe York's hand. Spence was carried backward as though by a great wind. His feet tangled, and he went down.

Buckner got off his horse and began fighting his way through Hatchet's crew. No man stopped him; they were no longer his enemy. He got to where Spence Rigby lay writhing, his gun fallen beside him. He kicked Spence's gun away. He knelt by Spence and found Lark Rigby come up, too. Lark stood looking down at Spence. Spence shook his head as though trying to clear his vision. "Tull did this," he said chokingly. "Double-crossed me—glad I killed him—" Now he seemed to see Lark. "Sorry," he said. "Sorry." His eyes went vacant. "Tried hard—to get Duke Jordan—wanted to square for you—"

He died then. Lark turned away, and Buckner stood up and saw big Rufe York towering over his boss. Rufe had a whiskey smell about him, but he had become cold sober and looked as though he were going to be sick. He said, "Lark, I didn't want to shoot. He was your brother. But, it was you or him—"

"I know," Lark Rigby said gruffly. "I'll remember how it was, Rufe." He brushed on past York, walking like a man in his sleep.

Buckner, too, felt like a sleepwalker. He found himself in McQueen's office, and Pru was with him, and Lark, too.

Lark said, "Gulley, I guess my mistake was in not knowing who really was my enemy. There'll be no more trouble."

"Reckon not," Gulley said. "I'm tearin' it down tomorrow."

Buckner wandered into the jail corridor. Dorcas was here, talking through the bars to Duke. Buckner came on until he, too, was before the door and could see Duke.

"I'm mighty obliged, Ry," Duke said.

"Sure, Duke," he said.

He remembered the letter then, and Dorcas' intent. He drew the letter from his pocket. A cuspidor stood here in the corridor. He tore the letter to bits and dropped these into the cuspidor.

"My wedding present to the two of you," he said. "You go confessing to Cross anyway, Duke, and you throw the gift back in my face. I wouldn't like that."

Dorcas said, "It's more than we deserve, Ry. Me, anyway."

Buckner shook Duke's hand and then leaned and brushed his lips against Dorcas' cheek. "And a kiss for the bride," he said.

* * *

Later Buckner sat on the south slope, his back to the railroad track, sat with his knees drawn up and his arms locked around them; and from this crest he looked at the buildings of Signal below, formless in the depth of the gulch and along its slopes. He had sat here a long time; it would soon be dawn. He had done his thinking, and he was at peace with himself, for he knew where his destiny lay.

He stirred now, seeing someone toiling up the slope toward him; and he knew her—he knew Pru. He would never mistake her for Dorcas again, for he knew the difference.

She stood before him, waiting to get her breath, and then she laughed. "I've searched the town over for you. I even woke up Jake Hollis to ask if you were in the livery loft. Finally I remembered that the way you came back might be the way you'd leave. Don't you know there's no freight through here till night after next?"

"I'm not waiting for a train," he said. "I just came up here for a look."

"Where to, then, Ry?"

He waved his hand across the huddled buildings below and the valley beyond. "It's my town and my range," he said. "There'll be a place for me in it. Someday I'll get some land and a few cattle to stock it. Enough to make a start."

* * *

"Of course," she said. "We'll begin working for that land as soon as we get married."

He shook his head. "Pru," he said very seriously, "how could I offer you that? You'd always think of yourself as second choice."

She sat down beside him. "My first choice—my only choice." She began laughing again, and he liked that; he remembered how she had laughed that night he'd crawled through the window at her house. He knew now that he had always liked her laughter. He had found laughter lacking in Dorcas, that and the joy of free living that belonged to those who went forth unharried to meet whatever the world might hold for them.

He put his arm around her and drew her close to him. "When you've rested," he said, "we'll walk back down together."

GETS THE CREAM

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) —Nine sought-after high school football players from the New York-New Jersey area have signed grants-in-aid to matriculate at North Carolina next fall, says Coach Jim Hickey of the Tar Heels.

They are Bob Papa of Clifton, N.J., Vic Esposito of Staten Island, Richie Pierson and George Grube of Bergenfield, N.J., Don Constantine of Huntington, N.Y., Richard Fellman and Jim Naughton of of Bethpage, N.Y., and Curt Ish of Valley Stream, N.Y., George Lent Clifton, N.J.

FIGHT RESULTS

Jones, fifth-ranked contender in the National Boxing Assn. listings, weighed 177 to 174¾ for Clay.

UNPOPULAR DECISION

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Charley Douglas, 143½, New York, scored an unpopular 12-round decision over Australia's Phil Wallace, 141¾, Friday night.

The referee's decision was loudly booed by the fans, who thought Wallace was well ahead on points.

On Cincinnati's first California trip this season, southpaw relief ace Bill Henry saved three games for starting pitchers.

Charles Schnitker, manager of Arenzville-Hagener Farmers Grain company, Arenzville, has received the Master Award for Service to Agriculture from the McMillen Feed Mills, manufacturers of Master Mix Feeds.

SALT AND PEPPER AUTOMATION

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)— Floyd Roshon has made sure he'll have the salt and pepper shakers when he wants them at the table.

Roshon sawed a circular hole in the center of the dining room table, put the wooden circle back in place and attached an electric motor to make it revolve. He can throw a switch, when the shakers are out of reach, to bring them closer on the revolving centerpiece.

RAINBO is proud to present a new approach to outside painting from DUTCH BOY. It is a revolutionary flat exterior finish that offers many advantages in ease of application and long color retention. "DUTCH BOY" LATEX HOUSE PAINT is the latest development in exterior painting.

MORE PAINTING DAYS. Now you can paint over damp surfaces, even shortly after a rain or an early morning dew.

FASTER AND EASIER APPLICATION. Paint with little effort, covers easily — seems to "slide" on the surface. Cuts painting time in half.

DRY IN 30 MINUTES. Dries before insects, foliage, dust or rain can spoil that freshly painted look. And you can second coat the same day too!

CLEAN UP WITH WATER. Rollers, brushes, or other painting equipment wash up quickly and easily in plain soap and water.

BLISTER RESISTANT. A "breathing" action of the paint film allows moisture to pass through and when properly applied to new and unpainted wood it offers a remarkable degree of blister resistance.

ALKALI RESISTANT. It can be applied directly to new concrete or other masonry surfaces.

LONG TERM DURABILITY. Once this new LATEX HOUSE PAINT has been properly applied you can look forward to years of trouble free service. And future maintenance costs are reduced when "Dutch Boy" LATEX HOUSE PAINT is used.
